SUN'S HEAT CHARTED

Effect on Earth Analyzed

Weather Forecasts Based on Solar Radiation Seen as Possibility

Tests Definitely Show Sol's Moods Alter Temperatures

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—Weather forecasting a week in advance through measurement of the heat given off by the sun is believed by Smithsonian Institution officials to be a definite scientific adventure of the future.

Dr. Charles G. Abbot, secretary of the institution, today told the American Meteorological Society that years of observation had shown that the sun's warmth, radiated, varies from day to day and the earth's temperature varies in response to the sun's short period changes.

LONG STUDY MADE

Should the prospect of weather forecasting on the basis of solar changes be realized, Dr. Abbot held that the Smithsonian's announcement would stand as one of the great events in the history of meteorology. It represented more than forty years of continuous investigation of the sun, he said.

Although he and his associates have not known definitely that the amount of solar radiation varied enough to forecast a resultant influence on the earth's temperature, he said, this is the first time unmistakable proof of large influence had been obtained by them.

The proof has, Dr. Abbot said, in fact that since January 1, 1924, the solar radiation increased and decreased continuously for a period of four or five days to a maximum, the temperature in Washington and other stations showed a definite deflection in a curve, beginning four days before and continuing until at least two days after.

SUN'S HOT SPOTS

The theory that the influence comes through atmospheric pressure as yet not understood is borne out by direct study of the sun's disk. Its some sections appear to be hotter than others. When a hot area is turned toward the earth a temperature, while in others a similar rise caused a falling temperature.

Until the reasons for this difference in effect at different seasons are found, he said, it would be risky to undertake weather forecasting more than this far.

BOOSTS COFFEE DUTIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—The Cuban treaty today approved a measure to increase import duties on coffee from $18.90 to $22 on each 100 kilograms (about 220 pounds) shipped into the country.

Walker Tells Padlock Rule

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—Padlock proceedings will be instituted by the Federal government hereafter in all cases where convictions are obtained a second time for liquor law violations, Prohibition Administrator Walker asserted today.

It is part of a plan to proceed against property owners whose premises are devoted to the manufacture or distribution of liquor in violation of law.

REMEMBER THIS

The happiest people in this world are those who don't want things they can't get.

Will Rogers Remarks:

TAHOE TAVERN, Sept. 2. [To the Editor of The Times:] It was a historical day for France Tuesday. They flew the ocean and run W. R. Hearst out of their country. That was a pretty cute statement he handed 'em back, but it will be lost on 'em. The Frenchmen individually have plenty of humor, but as a government they take everything mighty serious. There is nothing can be as funny or as little as a nation when it tries to get back at somebody. If every country run him out for publishing something they didn't want published we would have had him exiled at birth and he would now be residing in Siberia.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

SHADOWING RILES NYE

Senator Assails Mrs. M'Cormick

Detectives' Methods Called Shoddy, Scabby and Unprincipled

Investigator Amazed that Candidate Admits Hiring Them

CHICAGO, Sept. 2. (Exclusive)—United States Senator Gerald P. Nye today described the methods used by detectives employed by Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick to investigate him and employees of the Senate campaign expenditures committee as "shoddy, scabby, unprincipled and contemptible."

Those were the adjectives he used in a statement issued in response to one made by Mrs. McCormick last Monday, in which she said it was she who employed the operatives who have been shadowing the chairman of the committee and members of its staff.

At the close of the second day of hearings in Chicago, which were confined to digging into the operations of W. D. Dannenberg and his assistants, and did not touch upon the question of Mrs. McCormick's campaign expenses, the North Dakota Senator announced an adjournment.

Andree in Death Guards Story

Explorer's Diary with Bones Proves Last Thought to Save Disaster Tale

Record Kept to End Thrust Within Clothing as Icy Doom Stilled Heart

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—The contents of Andree's diary will not be made public until Swedish government officials have scanned it. This announcement was made tonight and set forth that no unofficial person will be allowed to view the book and no revelations of actual entries have yet been made, officially or otherwise. The diary will be handed the Swedish government intact and until that time its contents will remain a secret to the world at large.

TROMSOE (Norway) Sept. 3. (AP) Further interesting discoveries were made today by Swedish and Norwegian experts who were examining the relics of the Arctic expedition of Salomon August Andree, brought to this port by Dr. Gunnar Horn and his exploration party.

This new find, overlooked until government scientists began their investigation of the remains of the famous polar aerial argosy of 1897 and one which may mean much not only to science but to literature and drama as well, consisted of two notebooks. They were found wrapped in an undershirt at Andree's back. Evidently the explorer, near death, took one last precautionary measure that posterity might know the details of the first expedition ever to attempt to attain the North Pole by the aerial route.

One of these books contains only a few pages of writing. The other is full and quite legible. This latter, with other Andree records previously found, is expected to give the world the whole story of the Swedish explorer's balloon expedition.

The examiners read, in their find, the evidence that the dying adventurer and scientist, apparently aware that his end was imminent, had wrapped his precious records in the shirt, placed them next to his skin, on his back and then lay down upon them in the hope that his body would cover and shield them until some far north explorer could come upon the scene.

It was a forlorn hope, but it worked.

Among the other interesting discoveries were several Swedish flags about a yard square. They probably had been used on the balloon, sled and boat. The scientists were surprised to find so much and to find it so well preserved.

DIARY SHOWS FRANKEL NEVER REACHED ISLE

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 3. (AP)—The newspaper Dagenanyheter this evening said the newly discovered diary of Salomon August Andree reveals Knut Frankel, third member of the expedition, died while the party was on its way to White Island.

According to the paper the Andree diary says the three explorers started across the ice after the wreck of their balloon and were still going September 5.

Nils Strindberg, Andree's scientific worker, it adds, died after arrival on White Island and was buried by Andree.

RACKETEER BLAST RUINS NEW BRIDGE

Arkansas Officials Say Union Labor Troubles Cause of Dynamiting

GARLAND CITY (Ark.) Sept. 3. (AP)—Four well-timed blasts, which at 3 a.m. today sent the 303-foot steel center span of the Garland City State highway bridge tumbling into Red River, a twisted mass of steel, at an estimated loss of $250,000, were believed the work of racketeering structural steel workers.

State and county investigators said their theory is sabotage by disgruntled union labor.

The Kansas City Bridge Company, contractors, employed open-shop men on steel construction, but their officials refused to commit themselves on the labor angle, other than to say they had experienced no labor troubles previously.

The nearly completed bridge was to be constructed at a cost of $500,000.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (Exclusive) Rudy Vallee, orchestra leader, applied to the Supreme Court today for an order requiring Agnes O'Laughlin, show girl, to furnish him a bill of particulars in her $200,000 suit against him for breach of promise to marry.

Vallee denies all her charges.

TAPIA'S SUCCESSOR SEATED

Gen. Bernal, New Governor Below Border to Work in Harmony with United States

MEXICALI, Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—Gen. Arturo Bernal, newly appointed Governor of the Northern District of Lower California, arrived here today and immediately assumed his new post as successor to Gen. Jose M. Tapia, who forwarded his resignation to President Ortiz Rubio ten days ago.

In an interview with American newspaper men soon after he took office, Gen. Bernal stated that he was sent here with definite instructions from the President of the republic to further cement the friendly relations between Mexican and American people along the international border.

FACES PROBLEMS

In answer to a question regarding his policies as Governor of the district, Gen. Bernal explained that it is his intention to complete Rodriguez Dam and other public improvements started by his predecessor.

"A rather critical unemployment situation exists here in the northern district," he said, "and I shall undertake to solve that problem immediately. I want to do everything possible to stimulate legitimate business both within the district and with the people on the American side of the line."

Gen. Bernal stated that several changes are to be made in the personnel of the district administration, but that he is not yet ready to make a definite announcement. From unofficial sources, however, it was learned that the following appointees have been named to assume important posts in the local government: Attorney J. Castro Luna, Secretary of State; Pedro P. Leyceugi, assistant Secretary of State; Damian L. Rodrigues, inspector of police; Col. Theodore Villegas, delegate at Tia Juana; Maj. Jose Magana, private secretary.

TAPIA AWAITS ORDERS

Gen. Bernal arrived at Yuma at midnight last night where he was met by a party of government officials who brought him to Mexicali by motor.

Gen. Jose M. Tapia, governor of the district for the past eight months, stated today that he will remain here for a short time to assist Gen. Bernal in taking over the affairs of the government.

"My future plans will be governed by orders which I expect to receive from the War Department at Mexico City," Tapia said. "I will accept whatever post is assigned to me."

Gen. Tapia said that he wished to express through the newspapers his appreciation for the cordial treatment received from Americans during his term as Governor of the district.

MAIL TAKEN OFF SHIP ON SEA FLOOR

Divers, Working in Cold at 400 Feet, Hope to Reach Millions in Gold Soon

BREST (France) Sept. 3. (AP)—Sixteen bags of mail containing valuable registered matter and the dining-room silverware of the sunken Peninsular and Oriental liner Egypt, which went down in a collision in 1922, were salvaged today by divers. After years of effort, the ship was located last week.

The divers have not been able to reach the cargo of gold ingots, valued at between $2,000,000 and $8,000,000.

If fair weather holds they hope within a day or so to enter the third deck of the Egypt and dynamite the purser's office and obtain the treasure.

Intense cold prevails in the water at the depth at which they are working, about 400 feet.

Bromley's Aide Finds Room for Plane's Take-off

AOMORI (Japan) Sept. 3. (AP)—Harold L. Bromley's next attempt to take off on a projected flight to Tacoma, Wash., likely will be made from the northern part of Hondo Island.

Harold Gatty, Bromley's colleague, after inspecting possible take-off sites in the neighborhood of Hachinohe announced today the coastal plain at Kinoshitadaira, twenty miles north of Hachinohe, offered a 3000-meter runway from which it might be possible to start with a full load of fuel for a nonstop flight across the Pacific.

Gatty left at once for Tokio to consult Bromley. The tentative site is near Porto Minato, where the American Army around-the-world flyers halted briefly in 1924.

Murcia, Spain, Has Earthquake

MURCIA (Spain) Sept. 3. (AP)—A strong earthquake was felt here at 10:05 a.m. today and was followed by another of less intensity at 2:30 p.m. The first lasted eight seconds.

The quake in the morning sent the populace scurrying into the streets, but no deaths or injuries were reported. Buildings swayed distinctly.

MEETING-HOUSE BOMBED

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 3. (AP)—An explosion, believed caused by dynamite, damaged the front of a Pentecostal meeting-house today. Police reported neighbors had objected to loud singing and shouting at nightly meetings in the building.

GIRLS SEE TORTURING OF HERMIT

Child 10 Years of Age and Beauty Linked to Bandit Outrage in Bay City

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—While an attractive young woman of about 18 years of age, and a girl estimated by neighbors to be about 10, evidently watched, a man described as middle-aged today beat George A. Marcelli, so-called "hermit of Visitacion Valley," into unconsciousness in a vain effort to extract the secret of Marcelli's supposed hiding place for valuables. The victim, 59, is believed so badly hurt he cannot recover.

Neighbors saw the man, young woman and girl go into Marcelli's shack, remain for about an hour and drive away. Miss Dorothy Jones discovered Marcelli when she called to buy goat milk, a daily custom.

Marcelli recovered consciousness for a while at the hospital. Asked by attendants if he has valuables buried in or near his shack, the man merely twisted his face and said nothing.

He did say, however, in a quavering voice:

"They wanted my money."

The interior of the shack indicated Marcelli had been tied in a chair and pounded with pieces of furniture. The house had been thoroughly ransacked.

Midwest Areas Again Suffering Severe Drought

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—Severe drought conditions continue in many sections of the country, the Weather Bureau reported today, with large areas that received temporary relief in recent weeks again becoming dry.

The latter include Oklahoma, much of Texas, about three-fourths of Iowa, practically all of Missouri, Southern Indiana and Southern Illinois, Kentucky, parts of Ohio and the Middle Atlantic States.

SANTO DOMINGO LEVELED, HURRICANE REPORTS SAY

Ominous Silence Veils Disaster as 150-Mile Gale Cuts off Communication

HAVANA, Sept. 3. (AP)—The Belen Observatory tonight said reports received there indicated the hurricane now in the Caribbean Sea will sweep over the Bahamas and probably will do considerable damage in Cuba.

The observatory said the storm center is moving at a speed of only sixteen miles an hour, but that the winds blowing toward the center have a velocity of more than 100 miles an hour.

Rev. Father Futierrez Lanza, director of the observatory, predicted hundreds of thousands of dollars' property loss and probably a great loss of human life from the storm.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—Cuba, Florida and the Gulf Coast looked with uneasiness toward the southeast tonight as an ominous silence followed unconfirmed reports of devastation in Santo Domingo by a tropical hurricane.

Communication with the city ceased shortly after 3:30 p.m. eastern standard time, when a report was received in Porto Rico that a wind of 150 miles or more was lifting the roofs from houses and that all communications and power lines were rapidly going down. About this time communication by way of All America Cables ceased, lending color to the report.

Uneasiness increased as reports through the day indicated a wind of tremendous velocity. The last radio message received by Pan-American Airways in Miami from its station in Santo Domingo said the wind was blowing 126 miles an hour, and that the barometer had dropped .33 in forty-two minutes.

Richard W. Gray, government meteorologist in Miami, said he recalled but two automatically recorded wind velocities in excess of 120 miles per hour. One was in the Miami hurricane of 1926 when the wind blew 138 miles an hour, and another of 150 miles an hour in Porto Rico in 1928.

DIRECTION SHIFTED

Observers in the Weather Bureau in Washington and its stations toward the hurricane area were intense in their study of storm reports and to charts of its vicinity. They were inclined to believe that it had shifted its direction during the day from west-northwestward to northwestward.

The first advisory bulletin from Washington said the storm was 100 miles south or southeast of Santo Domingo and was making about twelve miles an hour. Later, however, another bulletin said its center apparently was approaching Santa Domingo.

The reports of damage in Santo Domingo were received both in Cuba and Porto Rico.

CUBAN PAPER REPORTS SANTO DOMINGO DEVASTATED

HAVANA, Sept. 3. (AP)—El Pais, a Spanish language newspaper, at 5 p.m. today reported receiving authentic information Santo Domingo city was devastated by a hurricane which struck there late today.

The report to El Pais was partly substantiated in a radiogram received from Trinidad by the Pan American Airways stating observers there had reported a 130-mile hurricane in the direct vicinity of Santo Domingo.

Another report not of an official nature, but generally considered reliable, said terrific destruction had been visited upon the city of Santo Domingo.

According to the report the wind had reached a velocity of 136 miles an hour and was heading northwestward toward Fisherman's Point, a small island in the Caribbean Sea.

HURRICANE TEARS ROOFS FROM HOUSES

SAN JUAN (Porto Rico) Sept. 3. (AP)—With a tropical hurricane centering near Santo Domingo city, and reported moving northward into the Atlantic Ocean, the last communication received from Santo Domingo at 3:30 p.m., today stated a wind of 150 or more miles an hour was lifting the roofs off houses, with all communication and power lines rapidly going down.

Communication by way of All America Cables was interrupted at about the same time without receipt of any details. As the storm moved over the city radio communication also failed.

The steamer Ozama of the Porto Rico Line, due in Santo Domingo city this forenoon, was reported returning to San Juan without discharging its passengers.

Efforts this afternoon to reach the town by radio were without success.

Modesty Marks French Flyers

Coste and Bellonte Prepare for $25,000 Prize Hop to Dallas Today

New York Heaps Honors on Pair at Luncheon and Great Parade

Another chapter of Capt. Coste's description of his flight, appearing exclusively in The Times in Southern California, is published on the following page.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—Two little men of modest manner were hailed by all New York today as the latest giants of aviation.

At a luncheon in their honor, on a ride around the harbor, in a parade through the streets and at City Hall Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte were given a tumultuous greeting that might have turned any head.

They smiled. They waved. They said they were having a grand time. But quite evidently they remained from their own viewpoint just a couple of fellows who had tackled a tough job and had the good fortune to succeed.

TRAGEDY RECALLED

Perhaps the most impressive of the day's ceremonies was the official welcome at City Hall, for there they were reminded their flight, the first ever to be made nonstop from Paris to New York, compensated—in so far as was possible—for the loss of Charles Nungesser and Francois Coli, the first to make the attempt.

"You may be especially proud," Mayor Walker told the flyers at City Hall, "that your great achievement is not only a wonderful accomplishment in itself, but also is the final justification of the ill-fated attempt of your countrymen, Nungesser and Coli."

The luncheon was in the Advertising Club, but even before that the flyers had by no means had a quiet morning. For reporters and cameramen were camped in their hotel, anxious for pictures and details of the nonstop flight to Dallas for a $25,000 prize tomorrow and the aviators were almost continuously under fire. They gave interviews, posed for pictures, and made a little speech for the sound reels which reached its climax with the customary salutation, exchange of hearty kisses on both cheeks.

FLYERS ERASE ANIMOSITIES

German and French Sea Conquerors Shake Hands with Each Other and Lindbergh

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—A quiet little "family party" was turned by flying men of three nations tonight into what Mayor Walker announced was the greatest step toward peace of which he had ever heard.

Turning their backs squarely upon the old animosities of days when war ruled the world and made them enemies, French and German flyers who recently accomplished the westward crossing of the Atlantic, shook hands and called each other friend. And then they all shook hands with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The occasion was a dinner tendered Wolfgang Von Gronau and his crew of three by the German-American conference. It was an informal affair in a Grand Central zone hotel, very German, very quiet, with no preparations made for broadcasting and very few plans indeed for any sort of publicity.

At the last moment an invitation was sent to the French flyers, Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, and word came that they had accepted, but no one seemed to believe fully that they would arrive, for it was known they were giving a dinner themselves for Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh.

The dinner ran its course and the guests had not arrived. The speeches were about to begin. But, then, an attendant whispered to Capt. Von Gronau and he and his crew rose and hurried into the reception chamber off the ballroom, where the dinner was held.

In the reception room were not only the French flyers, but the Lindberghs as well, and with them Mayor Walker.

The visitors received a terrific ovation from the several hundred diners as they entered. Von Gronau made a little speech of welcome in German. Coste replied in French, saying aviation knows no border lines and flyers are all one great family. Mayor Walker spoke briefly in English. Col. Lindbergh was introduced, but declined to make a speech, feeling that this was the day of the French and Germans.

COSTE GIVES RADIO CREDIT FOR SEA HOP'S SUCCESS

Paris-to-New York Pilot Says Communication Equal to Motor in Importance

BY CAPT. DIEUDONNE COSTE

(Copyright, 1930, in North and South America, by the New York Times and the Los Angeles Times. All rights reserved.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—It is twenty-four hours since Maurice Bellonte and myself landed at Curtiss Field after making the first continuous flight from a great city of the Old World to the greatest city in the New. In those hours we have had time for thought.

The thing that impresses me most as I look back upon those hazardous hours, is the radio. I followed very closely the comment of Maj. Kingsford-Smith, a great aviator, upon his successfully negotiating the westward passage of the Atlantic. He laid particular stress upon the radio. I do the same. I should say that the radio is just as indispensable as the motor itself.

I say this in spite of the fact that the radio failed us at the latter end of the voyage. Our radio of 100-watts input, was capable of establishing communication over distances up to 1000 kilometers on the 600-meter wave length. That is the wave used by ships and all trans-Atlantic liners.

SENSE OF SAFETY

Throughout the long hours after we passed over the French coast line north of Rouen until we had made a landfall on the Western Hemisphere, we were in constant touch with ships and at times with French and then with American coastal stations. If one can picture the sensation of being seated in an open cockpit, hour after hour —age after age it seemed to us—with nothing about but rain and mist, one may obtain a hazy picture of what those little vacuum tubes, coils and plates meant to us.

It was as if we were not in mid-air far from help. We could talk to other persons. And, far beyond that, we knew—we were extremely aware of the fact—that in the event of a mishap others would learn of our plight, others would speed to our aid. Now that it is all over this seems trivial, but I shall never forget the feeling.

TALKED WITH SHIP

At only one time did we ask a ship to give us our position, we asked that of the operator on the Rochambeau. That ship is equipped with a radio-goniometer, an instrument too bulky for a single-motored plane to carry on such a flight. It gave us our bearings. It was not important at that particular time that we have information as to our position. It was merely the gesture of a tired swimmer who likes to know that there is some one to render assistance in event of need. I do not even remember what our position was at the time.

Yes, the radio was just as important as the motor; if it had failed us earlier in the flight it might have been quite unfortunate. But, since it did not become inoperative until after we had reached the American coast, we had less to worry about.

INSTRUMENTS FUNCTIONED

There was the coast. We had nothing to do but follow it—which was not so simple. I doubt anyone but an aviator would appreciate this fact—and one who had covered long distances over unfamiliar territory. We nearly met disaster in a ravine into which we flew unsuspectingly in Nova Scotia. If the radio had been working at that time we could have ascertained the correct course to New York, but, unfortunately, the field exciter on the generator, operated by a propeller in the slip stream, had gone out of whack.

But, on the whole, all instruments worked splendidly, including the radio—and there are thirty-five to forty instruments on the Question Mark. Upon them our lives depended.

All this should point to the fact that the success of our flight was not dependent upon courage, heroism, or anything of the kind.

PREPARATION COUNTED

If others who have attempted to fly from Europe to New York have failed the chances are that it was because of lack of adequate preparation. I cannot stress this too much. Others have taken off with an excess of courage and a lack of reflection.

I admire them all. They have, of course, my highest regard, for, despite failure, all of them have contributed something to the era of trans-Atlantic aviation that is to come. But there is one thing that occurs to me that I cannot stress too much; that is the question of meteorology. If Bellonte and I determined in advance that the route to be followed was an unknown quantity, in that we were right.

LOST MILEAGE

We knew that we would have to make many difficult and trying maneuvers in our battle with the weather and that we had, indeed, to do. If we had attempted to fly the direct route, we would have been defeated. I have measured the distances, or at least estimated them as best I can, and have found that we lost a total of 600 miles in our various side trips to avoid storms or find tail winds.

All this tended to convince us that there is no route that can be determined in advance that is the best under all circumstances for a trans-Atlantic crossing. Weather conditions determine everything. That is why we went 100 miles to the south just before reaching Nova Scotia. That was a loss of time, but by taking this trip out of the way we saved ourselves possibly many hours in that we avoided opposing winds. This maneuver indicates that future flights, though they be run on schedule fixed in advance, will never be over a predetermined course. They will be controlled by weather conditions.

FOOLING WEATHER

But, after all, we were not battling the weather. We were fooling it. It put untold obstacles in our path, we evaded them and found winds to help us. Never were we so grateful for favorable weather as when we approached the American coast.

Rene Racover, who has handled the innumerable details incident to our arrival, tells me that the newspapers this morning printed dispatches from the little island of St. Pierre saying that we made our first American landfall there.

It would have been pleasant to make our first landfall over French territory, but it simply is not true. Neither Bellonte nor myself can understand it. We were in communication with a wireless telegraph station on St. Pierre, but we did not pass within sight of the island. We did not see it at all. So how could anyone there have seen us? We passed far to the south of it. I am quite certain of this.

ALWAYS CONFIDENT

Now, that it is all over and I have had time to think a little, I may as well say that at no time before or during the flight were we ever anything but extremely confident that we would be successful, although we, of course, were always keenly aware of the fact that almost everything depended upon the motor. But how can I refrain from mentioning how happy we were when we first were sure that we had sighted land? That was over Nova Scotia.

Until that time, you know, and especially during the long hours when we strained our eyes for a glimpse of the American continent we thought frequently of your Admiral Byrd, a great flyer, who took all pains with preparations arrived in France and probably flew over Paris, but landed in the sea, along the coast because of the fog. For hour after hour we had faced mist and fog. We simply had to believe that fog, which had defeated Admiral Byrd, would not play the same trick on us.

DEPENDED ON RADIO

During this period, all our hope was founded on one appliance. I have mentioned it before. It was the radio. To say the least, it was interesting to know that always we were in touch with other human beings, on ships, or on land.

I have said that we were not much concerned after making a landfall, that after reaching Nova Scotia, we were confident of arriving at New York; but that perhaps is not quite accurate. For we still had our worries and that, again, was the radio. Those little dots and busses that came to Bellonte out of the ether meant everything. He could still hear them. He was at the controls a total of five hours out of the time since we left Le Bourget, but very nearly all the time he had clamped to his ears the little black discs through which we knew that we were still a part of the world, that we could still communicate with our fellow-beings.

ILLS NOT LOCATED

Looking back on it, how thankful we should be and are that that accumulation of glass, aluminum and hard rubber did not go wrong until we had actually arrived at the American coast. When it did go out, we could not understand just what was the trouble.

We do not yet know what it was, except that Bellonte, who has operated radios for the French Air Union, believes that it was some defect in the exciter, which provides current for the field coils of the generator. Several radio experts have volunteered to go over the equipment, and when we take off tomorrow for Dallas, we trust that it will be in good working order.

It is very important, I might add, while I am on this topic, that, even when the transmitter was not functioning, it was a great comfort to know that the world did not consist solely of the gray fog blanket through which we flew, but that Bellonte was constantly listening to the buzz and whistles of radio sets on the ships and ashore, far and wide.

SURE OF SUCCESS

Any way radio or no radio I was not discouraged. After three years of preparation there could not be room for doubt. How could I doubt after that long period of preparation, after surviving some twenty plane wrecks during the World War, after flying to China and back, that I could prepare a plane in such a way that I could fly the Atlantic with absolute certainty? How, after the constant possibility of being forced to land on houses between Paris and the channel coast could I doubt that, once over the Atlantic we would make it.

Everyone asks me, "What were you thinking? Did you think of your dear ones? Did you think of your wife as you dodged hither and there to avoid storms and disaster?"

THOUGHT OF STORMS

What can I say? I did not think of them. No. I thought of one thing. I was making a troublesome flight. I thought of the best way to dodge those storms. That was plenty to think about. How could a man think of anything else?

Well, it is all over; it can be done again. I am not anxious to do it. But, after all, given a staunch plane and a competent pilot—I mean one who takes everything into consideration—it could be done again. There is no reason why it couldn't be. Patience—that is the chief requisite at present. Endless study of meteorology. Endless study of your airplane. Patience and refusal to say "quit;" those are the requisites and they are not rare.

TRAFFIC OFFICER KILLED

SALINAS, Sept. 3. (AP)—State Traffic Officer Arnold Reinhold was killed today when the automobile he was driving turned over on the San Juan grade. He leaves his widow and a daughter.

FRENCH FLYER SEEMS SCOTCH

Coste Hopped Atlantic Without Single Franc, But Found Lenders

PARIS, Sept. 3. (Exclusive) Capt. Coste arrived in the United States without a franc in his pockets.

This was revealed here today after the French ace had talked to his wife and friends over the telephone.

"In my hurry to leave," he declared over the phone, "I forgot to take a single franc with me. But I am not broke. I have found numerous persons over here who are willing to lend me a few dollars."

had extended to him and his companion, and he spoke again at City Hall. Bellonte begged off at the luncheon, but Mayor Walker, knowing he spoke English as well as his own language, insisted he say a few words.

Coste, having had experience with receptions before, was at ease before the microphones that carried his words all over the country, but Bellonte was plainly stricken with overpowering stage fright. He started a sentence, hesitated, tried to finish it, forgot what he had intended to say, and retired blushing as the crowd thunderously applauded in approval of his modesty.

The flyers were taken to City Hall by a tortuous route so they might be given the same reception tendered other ocean flyers. Taken aboard a yacht at an East River pier, they were ferried around the foot of the island to a landing at the Battery. Though it was mid-afternoon, Broadway was packed with crowds on both sides from curb to building line and as the procession moved up the heroes' trail between the skyscrapers of the financial district, ticker tape and torn paper snowed down so the flyers were soon garlanded with floating streamers.

After the Mayor had delivered his welcome and congratulated them on turning the North Atlantic from a one-way street into a two-way thoroughfare, the procession proceeded uptown and along Fifth avenue to the flyers' hotel. Resting but a few moments, they left again for Valley Stream to inspect their scarlet sesquiplane and make sure it was ready for an early start on its long flight tomorrow.

For the evening their only engagement was attendance at a dinner given by the German-American Alliance for Capt. Wolfgang Von Gronau, the German flyer who with two companions preceded Coste and Bellonte in the westward crossing, taking another route, however, and making several stops along the way.

After the Texas flight, Coste announced, his famous flying Question Mark will be flown back to France by Paul Codos, who holds jointly with him several world records for distance flying.

NATIVE LAND SHOWERS FAIR WITH HONORS

PARIS, Sept. 3. (AP)—Paris returned to normal tonight after cheering itself hoarse for twenty-four hours over the great trans-Atlantic flight to New York of Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte.

Official honors and promotions are showering in their direction. Coste will be promoted to commander of the Legion of Honor, one of the Legion's highest ranks, and it is expected Bellonte will be made an officer.

Bellonte's rank as a Chevalier of the Legion dates only from a year or so ago, but in honor of his exceptional achievement rules may be waived.

Both aviators will also move up on the military reserve list. Coste, now a captain, will become a major, and Bellonte, a noncommissioned officer, will advance to a second lieutenancy.

As to the financial rewards of their flight, they run into the millions of francs. The newspaper Le Matin said judging from the statements by Coste to his friends before he left, the sum of $2,000,000 might accrue to him under his contracts and prizes.

MAYOR INVITES PAIR TO VISIT LOS ANGELES

A telegram inviting Capt. Dieudonne Coste, the French flyer, and his companion, Maurice Bellonte, who flew from Paris to New York, to fly to Los Angeles, was sent to New York by Mayor Porter yesterday. The telegram follows:

"To Capt. Dieudonne Coste, Curtiss Airport, New York.

"Understand you contemplate making a flight to Dallas, Tex. On behalf of the people of Los Angeles I invite you and your companion to continue that flight to our city. The gates of Los Angeles are open to you and the facilities of our municipal airport are at your service. Congratulations on your successful flight from Paris to New York. It was a wonderful achievement.

"JOHN C. PORTER,
"Mayor of Los Angeles."

WIDOW AND DAUGHTER OF COLI CABLE PRAISE

MARSAILLES, Sept. 3. (AP)—The widow and daughter of Capt. Francis Coli, who vanished with Capt. Charles Nungesser in an attempt to fly across the Atlantic in 1927, today cabled congratulations to Coste and Bellonte.

"We congratulate you on the glorious exploit which our dear departed one so greatly desired to achieve," the message said.

DONOR OF PRIZE HAPPY OVER FLIGHT'S SUCCESS

DUBLIN (Irish Free State) Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—The proudest man in Dublin tonight is Col. William Easterwood, Jr., of Dallas, Tex., who offered $25,000 as a prize for the Question Mark's Paris to New York to Dallas flight. Col. Easterwood is in Ireland visiting the birthplace of his grandfather near Belfast.

"Coste and Bellonte will receive the $25,000 prize money," he said. "If they come to Paris I shall be there and hand them the money. If they remain in New York or Dallas, I shall follow and give them the prize money. Flying is my hobby."

He expressed the opinion that airships of the type of the R-100 are not suitable for trans-Atlantic travel.

"The whole future lies with seaplanes," he said, "and I hope to live to see huge seaplanes carrying 4000 or 5000 passengers take the place of Atlantic liners. It is probable, too, that crude oil will take the place of gasoline."

FIRE CHIEF JOB LOST BY McCOY

Former Boxer Demoted to Captain As San Quentin Enlarges Department

SAN QUENTIN, Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—"Kid" McCoy" isn't fire chief at San Quentin any more. Through no fault of his own the former boxer, serving time for murder, was demoted to the rank of captain, but still will be in charge of the fire house.

With the completion of the new fire house and the enlargement of the department, Warden Holohan decided the job is too big for an inmate. He appointed Carl Olsen, a veteran guard, superintendent of the department.

STORM RAVAGES SANTO DOMINGO

trailed the storm since morning with all Caribbean reports. The bureau said the storm changed its course somewhat during today, turning more to the northward. There was much fear that the hurricane might double back upon Porto Rico, but this was allayed somewhat when the bureau said such a happening is extremely unlikely.

Failure to raise the steamship Cosmo by wireless was taken here as an indication she had lost her antenna in the high winds.

The last heard from the ship was early afternoon when she asked for instructions, in view of the development of the hurricane. The anchorage at Santo Domingo is some distance offshore with an ordinarily considerable ground swell.

Although no specific orders were given Capt. Thomas Evans, it is believed tonight he is heading the ship this way.

CABLES AND RADIO GO DEAD IN STORM

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—Cable and wireless transmission company workers tonight said the hurricane in the region of the Caribbean Sea had informed New York late this afternoon of its own arrival at Santo Domingo as one by one the communication lines flicked and went out.

All America Cables announced its line went out of commission despite the fact it operates a submarine cable. The tremendous gale blew down the aerial equipment of the office and blocked all traffic while the Santo Domingo station personnel presumably waited under cover for the storm to abate sufficiently to get out and make repairs.

The Radio Corporation of America also reported having lost all communication at Santo Domingo, and Pan American Airways also lost the use of its private wireless system.

House of Lords will Have Monk in Membership

LONDON, Sept. 3. (AP)—For the first time since the days of Queen Elizabeth a member of a monastic order will receive a summons to attend the Imperial Parliament when it is called together in the autumn.

Rt. Rev. W. H. Frere, bishop of Truro, following recent changes on the Episcopal bench, has become entitled to a seat in the House of Lords.

He is a member of the Community of the Resurrection, a celibate order living under rules and having a common purse.

There are twenty-four bishops in the Lords, who sit according to seniority of consecration.

Senator's Death Charged to Acid

CHICAGO, Sept. 3. (AP)—An inquest into the unexpected death of State Senator John P. Joyce today revealed he was killed by a powerful acid.

Dr. Clarence Muhlberger of the crime detection bureau at Northwestern University testified he found the poison in the stomach.

Senator Joyce died nearly a month ago on the day after his appearance before the grand jury to testify on asserted election terrorism in the Forty-second Ward. His family charged he was murdered.

MAJ. MACREADY SOON TO LEAVE HOSPITAL

CHICAGO, Sept. 3. (AP)—Maj. John A. MacReady, transcontinental flyer, injured in a crack-up of his plane last week at the National Air Races at Chicago, was reported recovering today. Physicians said he will be able to fly his plane to San Francisco late this week. Maj. MacReady said he would be accompanied by Jimmy Doolittle, noted flyer.

NOTED PAINTER FOUND DEAD

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—Patrick J. Tuohey, 37 years of age, Irish painter who was regarded as one of the leaders in the literary and artistic renaissance that grew out of Ireland's search for political freedom, was found dead today. Police said he had committed suicide.

Senator Issues Statement Scoring Detectives

McCormick Investigation to Go on, He Says

Three of Committee Fail to Make Appearance

ment until the 15th inst., and a little later issued a formal statement.

The statement follows:

"There has been available evidence indicating that it could be ultimately shown that a certain candidate for the Senate was at least indirectly responsible for the engagement of detectives to operate against the investigating committee and its employees.

"But in view of what is known of the shoddy, scabby, unprincipled, unconscionable, contemptible method and practice employed by those engaged to do this work, I was amazed to read the statement of this candidate in which guilt of such employment was admitted.

"'What is Nye going to do about it?' is a question contained in this confession by the candidate.

"In the face of the vast possibilities in such a program as had apparently been planned by these detectives and in fear of the great and lasting injury which might be the reward for doing anything other, I presume it was expected that the committee would be prevented upon by its chairman to retreat from his work in Illinois.

WHAT HE WILL DO

"But while admitting that there might be truth in one individual's prophecy that when this private investigation of myself was finished and its results were made known, 'Nye would be selling papers on the depot platform at Fargo, N. D., or grinding a hand organ for a dancing monkey,' my answer to the question of the Senate candidate as to what I shall do about it is only this:

"That, no matter how unpleasant and distasteful is the responsibility in Illinois, I shall, as far as I am able to do so, continue to guide the investigation along those same lines thus far followed by the committee. The committee will not be diverted from its clearly defined duty by any smoke screen laid down through a will to threaten, intimidate and influence."

Senator Porter H. Dale of Vermont, who was the only member of the committee who sat with Senator Nye during the two days of inquiry in Chicago and the one similar day at Fargo last week, did not join the chairman in his statement.

Three of the five members have not appeared at any of the Chicago hearings. They are Senators C. C. Dill of Washington, Robert F. Wagner, New York, and Roscoe C. Patterson of New Jersey.

INVESTIGATOR ON STAND

The second day of this week's hearings brought back to the stand W. C. Dannenberg, former government operative and Chicago police investigator, who the day before testified that he had been retained by Mrs. McCormick to shadow Chairman Nye and the two principal investigators for the committee, William Hunter Baldwin, former chief of the secret service of the Ku Klux Klan, and E. M. Daniel.

Almost immediately he was asked whether he had brought with him the records of the operations requested by the committee the day before. He said that he had not. Then, with the permission of the chair, Attorney Charles O. Rundall, who said he was Dannenberg's personal counsel, made a statement.

"The character of my client's business is such," he said, "that disclosures of his records would be of far-reaching importance. My first impression was that this inquiry had gone beyond the powers given the committee, but I haven't had time to study the authorities and I would like sufficient time to consider the matter."

TIME GRANTED RUNDALL

Chairman Nye thereupon granted Attorney Rundall until the 15th inst. in which to determine the position he will advise his client to take.

At this point Dannenberg was asked only if he had an investigator working at one time on this case in Atlanta, Ga. He said that he had and that the employee's name was Bodesker.

The next witness was Kenneth Wilson, an operative who, Dannenberg testified yesterday, pretended to sell out to David Stephenson Groh, also a private detective, who Dannenberg and his associates insist was employed by the Nye committee. He was allowed to tell the details of the transaction.

As soon as Wilson left the stand Chairman Nye called Lloyd E. Bemis, a Chicagoan, auditor for the committee, who immediately was followed by two of his office employees, Roy Niles Maxon and Grace R. Johanning, whose testimony indicated that Wilson tried to sell information to the committee.

'Pendulum Swinging Upward,' Officials Declare

Improvement Predicted to Continue This Fall

Lamont and Davis Discern Favorable Outlook

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—Although cautious about predicting any sudden spurt in industrial activity government officials who are in close touch with conditions believe that a slow but steady improvement is under way and may be expected to continue this fall.

Secretary of Commerce Lamont, who is just back at his desk after several weeks in the West, said today that he thinks statistical data on conditions in August might be a little disappointing because of the reaction from the drought, but that the adverse effects should not be as great as anticipated in some quarters.

QUICKER RECOVERY

Secretary Lamont is confident that the Hoover conferences which followed the stock-market disaster of last fall prevented a decline in business to as low a point as in the depression of 1921 and 1922. The level of business not having got so low as at that time, Mr. Lamont said, the recovery should not require so long a time. It took a year to get back to normal from the time the low point was passed in that depression, Mr. Lamont pointed out.

Assistant Secretary of Commerce Klein is of the opinion that there should be somewhat more than a seasonal increase in industrial activity as early as October. He said that from that time on there should be a gradual improvement until within a few months a level is reached comparable to business conditions in what have been regarded as the normal years of 1923, 1924 and 1925. There should be no expectation, he warned, of anything in the immediate future like the boom conditions of 1928 and 1929. Nothing similar to the unusual prosperity existing a year and a half ago, he said, may be expected within at least two years.

DAVIS OPTIMISTIC

Secretary of Labor Davis, who has been in constant touch with industrial conditions, especially in his home State of Pennsylvania, where he is the Republican Senatorial nominee, said that business recovery will be slow, but certain.

Secretary Davis asserted that the leading industries of the country have co-operated in a remarkable degree in the no-wage-reduction pledge given at the President's conferences. He said it is true that wages have been cut in a few instances, but that most of the industries have endeavored to maintain the old wage scales while adjusting production to demand.

OLD SCALES KEPT

Reports to the Departments of Labor and Commerce have indicated that in the steel, automobile and other industries the plants are operating only three or four days a week and that a considerable number of employees have been laid off, but that in most cases labor has been employed at the old wage scales.

It is as yet too early to ascertain whether industrial figures for August will show that the turning point was definitely reached in that month, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has indicatd that unemployment was probably slightly less in August than in July, according to incomplete reports from the labor unions of the country.

First reports to the Department of Labor on unemployment for the month of August are said to show that conditions were a little better than in July. The August figures will not be available until about the middle of the present month. Officials do not expect the August figures to show a great deal of change, but they hope the September figures will disclose an upward trend and that in October the movement will be more marked.

CAR LOADINGS SHOW INCREASE

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—C. E. Denny, president of the Erie Railroad, said today one of the definite signs of real improvement in business is that the road's daily car loadings are showing occasional improvement over corresponding days last year.

He added he looks for October and November to be "pretty good months generally."

Colleagues in German Cabinet Snub "Bad Boy"

BERLIN, Sept. 3. (AP)—Gottfried Treviranus, "bad boy" of the German Cabinet, whose recent utterances about revision of the German-Polish frontier have provoked a storm of resentment in Poland, was definitely disavowed by his colleagues today in the matter of his excursions into the realm of foreign policy.

At the end of a Cabinet session during which Foreign Minister Curtius gave an exhaustive account of the present foreign political situation, Chancellor Bruening pointedly snubbed his colleague, though without mentioning him by name.

ANGELENO SENTENCED IN ALIMONY TANGLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3. (AP)—Julius Robbins, Los Angeles druggist, today was sentenced to five days in the County Jail because he refused to pay $500 alimony after he was ordered to do so by Superior Judge Cabaniss. Robbins, brought here from Los Angeles to show cause why he should not pay the money to his wife, Mrs. Pauline Robbins, told Judge Cabaniss the alimony order was void because the original divorce suit was dismissed. The judge held otherwise, however. Mrs. Robbins, meanwhile, has filed a suit against her husband. In the original action, filed in Los Angeles, she was granted $75 temporary alimony each month.

OLD CUSTOM COMING BACK

Electric Light Can be Blown Out

How It's Done

This young woman is demonstrating how electric lights may be "blown out" by blowing into hollow tube (inset) containing sensitive springs.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—A device to blow out electric lights with the breath was announced here today at the Westinghouse Institute.

It is a new kind of electric switch, in which the button is "pressed" by about as much breath as is required to blow out a match.

This puff is blown into a little receiver resembling a slightly lengthened telephone mouthpiece.

Starting as a joking idea of a New York scientist, the "breath relay" developed into another of the surprise "discoveries" of science—the surprise this time being commercial use undreamed of at the start.

An acquaintance of Dr. E. E. Free, chemist and consulting engineer, recently jokingly objected to pressing a button switch, saying:

"Free, why don't you scientists fix something so that we don't have to put our hands on places a lot of other persons have touched?"

"That's easy!" was Free's rejoinder. "We could just do it with a puff of breath."

He then invented the relay, having in mind a few possible uses as curiosities in a clubhouse. The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company perfected the device, which is essentially two very fine phosphor bronze springs, set so that a small amount of air strikes a large part of their surface—in other words the puff is amplified by the springs and so makes "contact."

The Westinghouse announcement says the device is expected to prove useful for safety devices of a wide variety for extending the operator's control not only of autos but for airplanes, scientific apparatus, punch-presses and other machines.

It can also be used in connection with devices to open the service doors of restaurants, to operate the carriages of typewriters and billing machines, to turn pages of music and other "three-hand" jobs.

BLACK NAMES MANY IN WILL

Proof of Publisher's Death Established at Hearing

Widow Bequeathed Third of Residuary Estate

Sums from $1000 to $250,000 Distributed to Friends

BALTIMORE, Sept. 3. (AP)—The will of Van Lear Black, Baltimore publisher and world flyer who disappeared last month from his yacht, was admitted to probate today after a hearing at which proof of his death was established.

The will, disposing of an estate of several million dollars, leaves to the publisher's brother, Harry C. Black, his interest in the A. S. Abell Company, publishers of the Baltimore Sun and the Evening Sun, and leaves sums of from $50,000 to $250,000 each to various relatives and others.

His widow, Mrs. Jessie Gary Black, and their five children, with one exception, are provided for in a provision that gives her one-third of the residuary estate and four children the remaining two-thirds.

A $50,000 trust fund is provided for Van Lear Black, Jr., the publisher's eldest son. Mrs. Jessie Black Blakiston, his daughter, is bequeathed $250,000 and her husband, Buchanan Blakiston, $100,000.

Mrs. J. Walter Lord of Baltimore, a widow and a lifelong friend of Mr. Black, who was with him on the yacht Sabalo when the publisher disappeared last month, is left $100,000.

Bequests of $25,000 each are made to his two pilots, G. J. Geysendorffer and J. B. Schotte of Holland, who flew with Mr. Black on his flights from London to Tokio, and to Capetown and the Dutch East Indies.

The publisher's confidential secretary, Thomas W. Rogan of Baltimore, is bequeathed $100,000 and a similar sum is left to Miss Alison Bone of London, Eng., his secretary there.

The will was made January 8, 1930, in London before he started a flight that took him to Tokio, and then, after a trip by ship across the Pacific, from San Francisco to Baltimore.

It was directed that in case he died in the United States his body be buried at sea.

Minor bequests, of from $1000 to $5000 each, were to James Bone, London editor of the Manchester Guardian, the father of his London secretary; Paul Patterson, president of the A. S. Abell Company, and Mrs. Albert Ritchie, mother of the Maryland Governor.

The children not specifically mentioned are Mrs. Alfred J. Bolton, Gary Black and Madeleine Black.

The value of the estate was given at $3,270,000, but unofficial information is that this figure is ultra conservative.

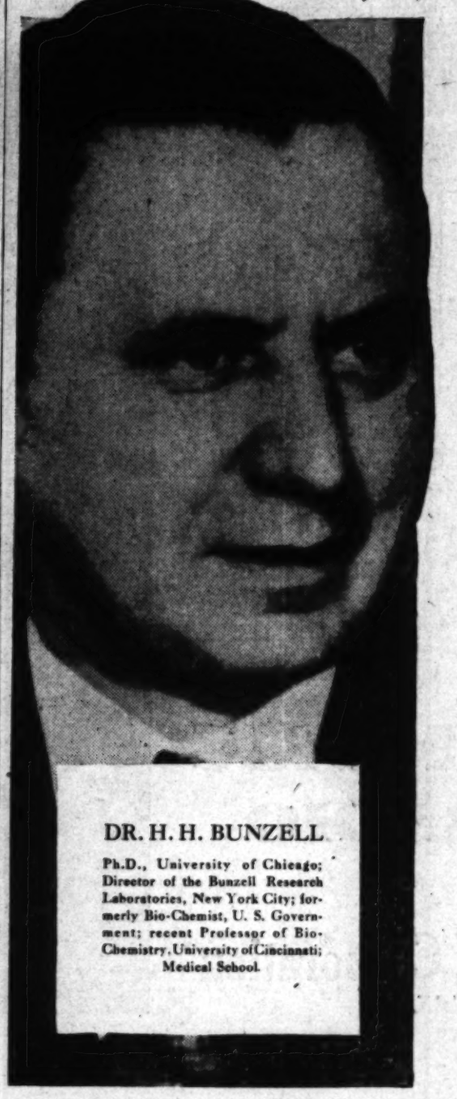
says Dr. H. H. Bunzell

Ph.D., University of Chicago



DR. H. H. BUNZELL

Ph.D., University of Chicago; Director of the Bunzell Research Laboratories, New York City; formerly Bio-Chemist, U. S. Government; recent Professor of Bio-Chemistry, University of Cincinnati; Medical School.

"What can a dentifrice really do?" Dr. Bunzell makes public his findings after years of study on the subject in a great eastern university—and he reveals some important truths.

Dr. Bunzell says:

"A dentifrice whose sole object is to clean the teeth, such as Colgate's, and which is made primarily from the most effective cleansing agents, is to be preferred to one which relies on ingredients put in to affect other objects such as the attempts to correct the acidity of the saliva.

"No relationship can be found between the conditions of the teeth and the degree of acidity found in the saliva."

A DENTIFRICE, Dr. H. H. Bunzell believes, is made with one object—and only one—to clean the teeth. And so he approves Colgate's. Colgate's—with its penetrating foam; Colgate's—with its power of reaching the hidden surfaces where food lodges and is most apt to cause decay.

Ordinary toothpastes—sluggish, pasty dentifrices—are not active enough.

Tests show Colgate's superiority. And dentists encourage its use. For 50 years they have been advising this one toothpaste. More people use it today than any other.

Agreeing with Dr. Bunzell are such eminent authorities as Dr. Hardee Chambliss, Ph. D., Johns Hopkins University; Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, Commissioner of Health, New York City, and scores of others equally well known who have been retained to make analytical tests and to render their expert opinions.

And, despite its high quality, this superior toothpaste sells at only 25 cents the tube. Your teeth need, your teeth deserve, this daily care.

25c The price is important—but the quality—not the price—has held Colgate leadership for 30 years.

OPERATOR GIVES RIGHT NUMBER

Ball Player to Wed Hello Girl

(P. & A. photo)

Miss Eva Heimer

CINCINNATI, Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—One can never convince Harold (Pie) Traynor, captain and third-baseman of the Pittsburgh National League ball club, that he got the wrong number when he asked Miss Eva Heimer, telephone switchboard operator at a local hotel, a question. For now it is announced that "Pie" and Miss Heimer are to be wedded next spring.

Miss Heimer is an operator at the hotel at which the Pittsburgh club stops when playing in Cincinnati. When Traynor went to the hotel and first saw Miss Heimer, he said "Hello." She said "Hello." The lines have been busy ever since.

VETERAN LIFTS AMNESIA VEIL

Chicago Father Reunited to His Missing Son

Youth Had Enlisted Under an Assumed Name

Doctor Finds Him Looking at Family's Old Home

CHICAGO, Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—For nearly thirteen years Robert J. Fisher had been seeking news of his only son, who sailed in 1917 for the war in France.

After the armistice the father had appealed to the War Department, written personally to Gen. John J. Pershing and inserted messages in veterans' magazines, without success. No enlistment, death or discharge of Oliver Fisher was on record, and the father was gradually becoming reconciled to the thought that his boy lay in some unmarked grave.

DOCTOR PHONES

Today he was at work when an old neighbor, Dr. Gustave Gottwald, telephoned.

"How's your heart, Bob?" the physician asked, with professional caution. Fisher answered him the organ was as sound as a man of 35 years of age could expect, and asked why the question.

"Just a minute; get ready for a shock," warned the doctor. Then came a younger man's voice:

"Hello, dad."

"Is that you, Ollie?" the father's voice faltered. It was.

Then came explanations. The son, then 21 years of age, had enlisted with an ambulance unit at Charlotte, Mich., using an assumed name lest the government transfer him to the Navy, in which he had previously served.

YOUTH WAS GASSED

The armistice was near when young Fisher was gassed. He was sent to a base hospital and discharged, partially blind. The war was over, and Fisher was mustered out at Camp Custer, Mich., under his assumed name.

He drifted east, a victim of amnesia, and for five years had only a hazy recollection of prewar days.

Oliver met a Gary (Ind.) girl, married her, and returned to New York.

Granted a vacation a week ago by the Greyhound Bus Company, of whose New Jersey lines he is superintendent, Fisher brought his wife back to visit her family in Gary.

The faint hope that his own family might still be in Chicago led him to revisit the North Side neighborhood of his youth. He was gazing at the house of his birth when Dr. Gottwald chanced to pass and recognized him.

The reunion that followed was saddened by the absence of Fisher's mother. She has been dead for a number of years.

SCIENCE BLOATS HUNGER'S GHOST

British Association Told of Crookes's Prophecy

Wheat Shortage He Predicted for 1931 Foiled

Use of Fertilizer and New Plant Varieties Cited

BRISTOL (Eng.) Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—Hunger, ever threatening the overpopulated world like a specter and ever pushed back by the hand of science, was the center of the dramatic picture drawn by Prof. F. O. Bower, president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, at the opening of its meeting here tonight.

He quoted the prophecy of Sir William Crookes, made upon the occasion of the British association's last Bristol meeting in 1898.

SHORTAGE PREDICTED

This eminent scientist then predicted: "Wheat cannot long retain its dominant position among the foodstuffs of the civilized world. Should all the wheat-growing countries add to their area to the utmost capacity on the most careful calculation the yield would give us only just enough to supply the increase of population among the bread eaters till the year 1931. The details of the impending catastrophe no one can predict, but its general direction is obvious enough."

But Sir William, speaking in 1898, added the comforting prediction that the future would take care of itself because with the artificial production of nitrates the yield of wheat per acre would increase.

SCIENCE FOILS FAMINE

"We who are living within a few months of the fateful year of 1931 are unaware of any wheat shortage," Prof. Bower commented. "Sir William Crookes's forecast of 1898 as to the advance in the production of combined nitrogen has been fully realized. Artificial fertilizers are not only in view but at hand and in mass. Moreover, the northern limits of successful wheat culture has been greatly extended by the production of new strains with ever-shortening period between sowing and reaping, while the establishment of new varieties is extending the productive area into regions where the rainfall is of short duration and restricted in amount.

"What better example than this could we desire, not only of the importance of applied botany, but as showing also how its advance follows on research independently pursued."

Gained 16 Lbs., Hasn't Felt So Fine in Years

"I went from 135½ pounds to 151½ on six bottles of Sargon, and that 16-pound gain tells a story of new health, strength and vigor," recently stated John Bandino, 1312 Isabelle St., Los Angeles, who is connected with the U. S. Spring and Bumper Co.

"For six years I suffered with stomach trouble, often so bad that I would have to lay off from my work. Constipation was a constant worry and I used laxatives, not once in a while but every single night. A lot of hard earned money went in trying to find relief, but until I got hold of this Sargon I just kept on getting more and more rundown.

"Every sign of indigestion disappeared in a very short time after I started it. And what a difference 16 pounds can mean to a man! I've more strength and energy than I've had in years, and I'm on the job every day, feeling great.

"Sargon Pills got rid of my constipation entirely. I don't see how a laxative could be milder or more effective. I'm a man that has to be shown, and Sargon surely showed me—I'm living a new life and I'll tell the world it's a fine medicine."

Sargon may be obtained at all Owl Drug Stores and Liggett Drug Stores in Los Angeles and other cities.—[Advertisement.

BEDSIDE ROBBER TAKES JEWELRY

J. Hartley Taylors, Crown City Couple, Victims

They Lose $5000 in Rings and Cash to Prowler

"If You Move, I'll Blow You Up," He Warned

PASADENA, Sept. 3.—Perfect fingerprints left on the glass of a rear door may result in the capture of a daring "bedside" burglar, who early today awakened Mr. and Mrs. J. Hartley Taylor of 720 South San Rafael avenue, and escaped with $5000 in jewels and cash after threatening them with death.

Mr. Taylor, who is president of the Taylor Milling Company of Los Angeles, reported to the police that at about 4 a.m. he felt a hand on his shoulder and heard a man whose shadowy form bent over the bed repeat softly, "If you move, I'll blow you up."

Mrs. Taylor, awakened suddenly, started to scream, but her husband placed a hand over her mouth, fearing the burglar might shoot.

"Turn over on your stomachs, bury your faces in the pillows, put your hands behind your backs and keep still," was the housebreaker's next order, according to Detective-Lieutenants Ben Kaighin and Stanley Decker.

WEDDING RING RETURNED

After enforcing his orders, the man, described as about 35 years of age and slender, stripped a $3500 diamond ring from Taylor's hand and forced Mrs. Taylor to hand him a valuable diamond engagement ring and her wedding ring. He later returned the wedding ring. Using a flashlight, the thief then secured $200 in cash from Taylor's wallet. The balance of his loot consisted of a diamond-studded wrist watch, a jeweled locket containing family pictures, a 30-30 Winchester rifle, and miscellaneous jewels.

After finishing his more important work the burglar threatened his victims with death if they moved while he "grabbed a bite to eat in the kitchen."

Shortly thereafter, and apparently while the criminal was ransacking the ice box, Taylor telephoned the police.

POLICE MINUTE TOO LATE

Patrolman D. P. Downey and Ralph White received the report of the burglary from the radio receiving set in their police car and arrived at the home less than a minute after the family heard the thief make a hurried exit.

Servants of the household sleep above the garage and were not awakened until the police arrived. Detectives reported that entrance had been gained by breaking a pane of glass from a side door. Clearly defined finger prints were obtained by Capt. Carl Grisbach.

Little Dalton Wash Plans in Council Meeting

AZUSA, Sept. 3.—Proposed plans and specifications for the improvement of Little Dalton Wash as submitted by Engineer Eaton of the Los Angeles county flood-control department were approved last night by the City Council.

The improvement project calls for the laying of concrete walls and floor in the Little Dalton Wash extending from Fifth avenue to Second street. The wash runs along the southern end of the city and its course extends through a number of fine orange groves which are severely damaged each year by the wash overflowing.

According to the county flood-control department, the improvement as proposed by Engineer Eaton will correct the course of the wash and will lessen the damage done to the groves by overflow waters.

Providing the improvement proves as successful as it is anticipated, the county flood-control department contemplates expanding the project.

VETERAN OFFICER SENT INTO VALLEY

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 3. Sergt. John Kegley, former head of the Los Angeles mounted police squad, has been transferred to the San Fernando Valley division from the New-on-street Police Station. He is a veteran of the department, and it is stated he will be eligible for retirement soon. Sergt. Kegley at one time was accounted one of the best horsemen in the Southland and is well known in Los Angeles, where he has patrolled streets and parks on horseback.

DARING HOSS THIEVES CAUGHT BUT NOT HUNG

ALHAMBRA, Sept. 3.—A band of daring horse thieves has been rounded up by Alhambra police.

Fortunately the local officers of the law were able to protect the culprits from acts of violence and an enraged citizenry was thwarted.

A horse whose days of usefulness were practically over and which was destined to provide food for the denizens of Gay's Lion Farm at El Monte had been strangely missing for several days. Dirty work was suspected. Alhambra's police went on duty.

The horse was finally located browsing contentedly in an orange grove. The place was known to be the rendezvous of a desperate band. Putting two and two together, the police surrounded one of the desperadoes, 12 years of age. From him a statement was secured implicating two other ruffians of about the same age.

The horse was turned over to the lion farm. The horse thieves were turned over to their mothers.

CIVIC AUDITORIUM TO RISE

Ground to be Broken Within Two Months on $1,200,000 Pasadena Structure, City Officials Say

PASADENA, Sept. 3.—Ground will be broken within two months for this city's $1,200,000 civic auditorium, it was learned today, when City Directors Carl Wopschal and James Jenkins revealed bids will be called for by the 15th inst.

The building, which will include both a flat-floor area for large political conventions and a sloping floor auditorium for concerts, will be erected at the south end of Garfield avenue, south of Green street, on a site now used for automobile parking. The structure, in harmony with the Civic Center plan, will face north toward the Public Library, located four blocks north at Garfield avenue and Walnut street. The new City Hall is situated between the library and auditorium site at Holly street and Garfield avenue, facing the Plaza.

Following an informal postal-card vote, the Board of City Directors decided to borrow the necessary funds for the auditorium project from the surplus funds of the municipal light department. The structure will embrace a total floor surface of 30,000 square feet. Plans were prepared several years ago by Architects Bennett, Haskell and Bergstrom.

The Board of City Directors decided last spring to push the auditorium project ahead as rapidly as possible because of the low cost of materials, and due to the expectation that Pasadena should provide suitable facilities for national conventions that are expected to meet in Southern California during the Olympic Games in Los Angeles two years hence.

Fear that building costs would rise before the work began was decried this afternoon by City Director Wopschal. "There has been some rise in the cost of cement and gravel," he asserted, "but the rise hasn't been enough to affect the project to any great extent. In fact, I doubt whether there will be a difference of more than $10,000 in the cost of concrete purchased two months ago and at the present time."

NAVY PILOT DIES WHEN SHIP DROPS

W. Ypharraguerre Killed as Torpedo Plane Falls; "Chute" Saves Companion

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 3. (AP)—W. Ypharraguerre, aviation pilot, first class, attached to squadron VT-2, aircraft squadron battle fleet, was killed instantly here today when a navy torpedo plane became unmanageable and plunged to the ground.

J. T. O. Marquis, chief aviation pilot, who was in the plane, went over the side in a parachute and escaped without injury. A naval board of inquiry has been convened to investigate the crash.

Ypharraguerre lived in San Diego. He leaves a widow.

Redondo Beach Schools Open for Fall Term

REDONDO BEACH, Sept. 3.—Attendance figures for the first day's registration at the Union High School were announced this morning. The report shows a registration of 850 students, and is well in advance of the first day's registration last year.

An assembly in which members of the board of trustees of the school took part, with President George E. Delevan as the main speaker, marked the opening exercises.

Changes made in the school property during the summer months include a new football field and a remodeled girls' gymnasium. A stadium seating 2000, and a boys' gymnasium building, planned at a cost of $65,000, will be under construction within the next few weeks, it was announced by President Delevan yesterday.

ENROLLMENT OF HERMOSA SCHOOLS ON INCREASE

HERMOSA BEACH, Sept. 3.—With an enrollment of 690, an appreciable increase over the attendance figures for last year, city schools opened for the fall term yesterday.

Charles D. Jones continues as superintendent and nine new names, among them that of James I. Wise, principal of the departmental school, appear on the faculty roster of thirty-three teachers. Several changes have been made in school buildings and grounds since the close of school last spring.

Third Paralysis Case in County

OXNARD, Sept. 3.—While Oxnard is free from infantile paralysis, according to City Health Officer Dr. B. F. Kortz, the third case of this disease in Ventura county became known when Clifford Dodds of Santa Paula was removed to the Cottage Hospital in Santa Barbara suffering from the malady.

Neil Thompson, 5 years of age, of Fillmore has been ill with the disease for two weeks. It was reported he contracted paralysis in Santa Barbara.

A Santa Paula boy 9 years of age was the first to succumb to infantile paralysis, contracting it in San Pedro, it is believed. So far as is known, Santa Paula and Fillmore are the only towns in the county where the illness has been reported.

FALL FATAL TO MOVIE CARPENTER

Harry Wills Dies from Effects of Accident on Ross Field Location

ARCADIA, Sept. 3.—While building stage sets for Columbia Pictures Corporation on location at Ross Field, Harry Wills, 35-year-old carpenter, sustained injuries which resulted in his death today when he fell from a roof scaffold erected twenty-five feet above the ground, according to the reports of Arcadia police.

The injured man was taken to the Monrovia Hospital, where he died at 7:20 a.m., before aid could be administered to him. The body is being held at the Arcadia Funeral Parlors, where an inquest will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p.m.

Messenger Boy Struck by Car Badly Injured

REDLANDS, Sept. 3.—Woodrow Burke, messenger boy for the Western Union Telegraph Company, was struck by an automobile at the Fourth-street entrance of the alley between Citrus avenue and State street at 9:45 a.m. today. The boy was seriously injured and was taken to the Community Hospital.

At the time of the accident the boy and the driver of the car did not believe anything serious had happened. Later, however, it developed that the lad was seriously hurt.

The name of the motorist was not obtained, but since it is necessary that it be known that the boy may get compensation from the insurance company, the lad has asked his company to send out an appeal for the motorist in question to report the accident.

NEWS CARRIER ON BICYCLE STRUCK DOWN BY TRUCK

ALHAMBRA, Sept. 3.—Clare Vandercook, 13-year-old newspaper carrier boy, was seriously injured late yesterday when his bicycle collided with a truck at Commonwealth and Atlantic avenues. The boy was taken to the Alhambra Emergency Hospital, where he was found to have suffered a possible basal skull fracture and severe lacerations about the head and face. He was still unconscious at a late hour. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Vandercook of 305 South Almansor street.

The truck was driven by Jewel A. Meriwether, 19 years of age, of 3928 Huntington Drive, San Gabriel. He is employed by a Pasadena automobile agency. Meriwether is being held by local police pending the outcome of the youth's injuries.

According to one witness of the accident the Vandercook boy was looking over his shoulder at a dog and rode his bicycle directly into the side of the truck.

MEALY BUGS' NEMESIS FOUND

Orange County Agricultural Commissioner Tells News

Two New Parasites Loosed on Pest Effective

Tetrecnemum Pretiosis and Cocophagus Gurneyi Busy

SANTA ANA, Sept. 3.—Introduction of new parasites to war on the mealy bug indicates extinction of that citrus pest without further attention. That was the outstanding news of County Agricultural Commissioner A. A. Brock's annual report to the Supervisors. While Brock and other citrus authorities remain noncommittal regarding the outcome of the experiment with the new parasite, their work to date gives ground for the belief, it is said, that the mealy bug is doomed.

The pest, which spread rapidly through Orange county groves in recent years, was being combated with questionable success until the two new parasites, Cocophagus gurneyi and Tetrecnemum pretiosus, were loosed on the mealy bugs. Those parasites, it is said, appear able to sustain themselves in the orchards without replacement from the county insectary, and give every evidence of cleaning out the mealy bugs.

The new parasites have been much more effective that the cryptolaemun, formerly relied on, besides saving $40,000 annually in the cost of operating the county insectary. The new parasites would save growers of the county many thousands annually, it is estimated.

Brock's report shows that $1,450,-344 was spent in the year on pest control, including $532,457 for fumigation, $741,637 for spraying, $9448 for dusting, $33,340 for agricultural department work, $20,236 for tree doctors and $53,428 for the insectary.

The report shows a reduction in tree fumigation and an increase in spraying operations. Producing citrus acreage was reported at 51,065 acres, with 11,069 nonbearing acres having been planted. Of the total bearing, 40,000 acres are planted to Valencia oranges.

Aged Woman in Cat Hits Tree; Badly Injured

CHINO, Sept. 3.—Mrs. Mary J. Buie, 71 years of age, is critically ill at her home, Palmetto avenue and Riverside Drive, suffering possible internal injuries caused when the automobile she was driving left the highway in an early morning fog and crashed into a tree.

The aged woman declared she was driving the car slowly, but when it left the road it gained momentum and struck the tree with such force as to severely injure her internally and externally.

Accident Fatal to Young Girl

MONTEBELLO, Sept. 3.—Thrown from a surf board when it collided with the sand while riding the waves at Long Beach Sunday, Roberta Crooks, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Crooks of this city, received injuries from which she died.

The girl was taken from the water after being injured and rushed to the White Memorial Hospital at Whittier, where she underwent an operation which showed that the board as it struck the sand hit the girl in the abdomen, rupturing her intestine. She died Monday afternoon.

Funeral services were held today from the Morita's chapel. Interment was made at Evergreen Cemetery.

COMEDIAN UNREELS REAL ONE

Former Film Funny Man Leads in Hold-up Scene in His Store in Which He Throws Barrage of Money and Groceries and Gets Shot in Pants

SANTA ANA, Sept. 3.—Ungrateful bandits shot Bob Cavanaugh, veteran Westminster cafe man, and former motion-picture comedian, last night after Cavanaugh had literally thrown his money in their faces, during the course of an exciting hold-up.

The money, amounting to $6, was inclosed in a tin box and after this box had crashed into the face of one bandit, his companion shot Cavanaugh through the left hip pocket, according to a report on file today at the Sheriff's office.

The bandits' lack of appreciation for the cash, officers said, might have been due further to the fact that the cash box was followed by a barrage of choice morsels from Cavanaugh's shelves, such as canned beans and the like. Cavanaugh's aim was excellent, being equaled only by that of the bandit, who returned his fire.

When two Mexicans, unmasked, entered his cafe at 10:30 p.m. without display of ordnance and demanded his money, Cavanaugh thought they were joking, and when they insisted that he "stick 'em up," he lost patience and whizzed the tin cash box and other objects into the nearest bandit's face.

The other bandit shot from his coat pocket and the shot hit Cavanaugh's trousers pocket.

The bandits then fled with the cash box, making their escape in a flivver, the license number of which was not obtained. Cavanaugh was not seriously wounded.

PROTECTION WORK STARTS

Construction to Begin Today on $312,000 Project on Santa Clara River East of Santa Paula

SANTA PAULA, Sept. 3.—Actual work on the $312,000 Santa Clara River protection project will be started tomorrow at a point near Camulos, twenty miles east of this city. The money for the work comes from the city of Los Angeles in return for the canceling of claims from landowners who sustained losses in the St. Francis Dam disaster two years ago.

The Haverty company of Los Angeles has the general contract for the work. Joe Paye will be superintendent of the entire work, and Charles Petit, County Engineer, will supervise the construction.

Hundreds of local men are expected to obtain work during the six months of the project. Local labor is being used and the majority of supplies and materials will be purchased in this city.

FLAGS FLYING AT UPLAND

Banner of Golden Bear State Prominent on Streets Decorated for Pioneer Pilgrimage

UPLAND, Sept. 3.—A colorful assortment of flags is flying in the business district here, displaying in prominence the flag of the Golden Bear State, the flags used during the reign of the Spanish, and the present American flag. They are flying from the electroliers lining the sidewalks and are to be strung on lines across the business streets, to lend color to the Pioneer Pilgrimage set for the 9th inst., when the pioneers of California will be fittingly honored.

With several hundred of California's earliest pioneers expected to be present, an impressive pilgrimage is to be made through the city to the statue, "The Madonna of the Trail," erected by the National D.A.R., and the two local chapters at Foothill Boulevard and Euclid avenue, in honor of the pioneers who blazed the Santa Fe trail into California.

The Pilgrimage will take on the color of one of California's most realistic pioneer pageants. Lumbering oxen, creaking old carts, the high-wheeled buggy of the wealthy cattle baron, the stagecoach, the mud wagon, the pony express, the steam train, the automobile and the airplane will be used to portray the various eras of transportation in California.

Upland will be transformed into a frontier town at the time of California's gold rush. For weeks the men have gone without shaving, and present awe-ful visages now. Their whiskers and long hair are accompanied with the coarse clothing of the pioneer days. The women have entered into the spirit of the occasion and appear on the streets in garb such as seen only in the old history books and in the movies.

John Steven McGroarty is to be the speaker of the day at the statue of "The Madonna," when the Pilgrimage is completed. The oldest pioneer in point of residence in California is to receive special recognition, and several of them will be introduced.

All the service and civic clubs of Upland are uniting with the Chamber of Commerce in presenting the colorful Pioneer Pilgrimage.

STABBING OF GIRL LEADS TO COURT

Filipino Charged with Attempted Murder Held to Answer

CUCAMONGA, Sept. 3.—Waiving preliminary hearing on charges of intent to commit murder, Santiago Raynas, Filipino youth, is held in the County Jail to await trial in Superior Court for his asserted attack with a knife on Eunice Lawyer, 15-year-old Alta Loma girl, with whom the Filipino is said to have become infatuated.

Raynas was taken before Judge James Sharp in Cucamonga court Tuesday for preliminary hearing, but chose to waive the hearing and was ordered held for Superior Court. In lieu of $10,000 bail the Filipino will be held in the County Jail until the trial, date for which has not been set.

Raynas slit the screen to the Lawyer front door at 2:30 o'clock the morning of August 20, and, bending over the girl's bed, held a knife at her heart, threatening to kill her if she did not go with him, according to Sheriff's officials.

Terror-stricken, the girl leaped from her bed and screamed, and Raynas is accused of slashing at her viciously, cutting deep gashes in her legs and arms, from which she nearly died because of loss of blood. Raynas was captured four hours later while trying to board a freight train at Etiwanda.

Hundred Years of Marriage Seen by Two Couples

REDLANDS, Sept. 3.—A total of 100 years of married life can be checked up to the account of four well-known residents of Redlands this week. Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Parmelee of West Fern avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Stevens of Buena Vista street.

Mr. and Mrs. Parmelee, who have been local residents for twenty years, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary yesterday. They were married in Tekamah, Neb., and lived there until they came to Redlands. They have three children, Mrs. Phoebe Parmelee of Denver, Mrs. C. E. Blanc of this city and Orrin Parmelee of Montana. They had a quiet celebration at their home but only relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens will not be in Redlands for their golden wedding, for they went this week to Laguna Beach, where they plan to spend several months. They were members of Quaker families in Pennsylvania but spent most of their lives in St. Louis, where Mr. Stevens was a prominent railroad man. Then for some years he was secretary of the City Club there. They have one son living in Missouri.

SAN GABRIEL WOMAN CHAMBER SECRETARY

SAN GABRIEL, Sept. 3.—Mrs. Muriel D. Burnham has been appointed secretary of the San Gabriel Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today by President L. W. Hitt. She will succeed Miss Grace Roest, who resigned July 1. Since that date the chamber offices have been closed. They will be reopened Monday. Mrs. Burnham is also secretary of the City Planning Commission and is active in club affairs.

Pasadena Wins First-Aid Prize

PASADENA, Sept. 3.—The local fire department's first-aid team captured first prize in the first-aid contest staged in Oakland at the annual convention of the Pacific Coast Fire Chiefs' Association, according to a telegram received here from Fire Chief Ernest F. Coop of Pasadena, association president.

The members of the two-man team which captured the title are Hoseman J. S. Miller, Jr., and B. S. Deavender. Battalion Chief C. L. Bolz, drill master, received the trophy for the winners. Miller and Deavender have been assigned to accompany the city police ambulance on emergency calls.

MONTEBELLO FIGHTS SAVING OF DAYLIGHT

MONTEBELLO, Sept. 3.—The Montebello Chamber of Commerce in regular session unanimously went on record opposing the daylight saving initiative measure, which is scheduled to appear on the November 4 ballot. Although the local chamber is never active in political affairs, because of the number of inquiries from its local voters and business concerns regarding this measure, it felt justified in making a thorough investigation into the measure and as a result took this stand.

INGLEWOOD, Sept. 3.—This city will be represented in the pageant being sponsored by the California Women of the Golden West in celebration of the one hundred and forty-ninth birthday of Los Angeles on Thursday night at the Hotel Ambassador by a remarkably interesting group of young people selected for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Roy Decker, prominent in social circles here, will take the parts symbolizing modern life in the city of Los Angeles and will be in full dress. Miss Virginia Volland and Hector V. Dyer will figure in that phase of the pageant portraying the early Spanish days.

Miss Volland is widely known throughout the Southland for her artistic work as one of the Pasadena Community Players group, while Dyer enjoys a distinctive reputation all over the country as the star sprinter of Stanford University and holder of the national intercollegiate 220-yard dash championship.

Miss Volland and young Dyer will be magnificently costumed in the stately garb of the early Castilians who came to build the Pacific empire.

Dyer's portrayal of the type will be of especial interest to the California Women of the Golden West and their friends, as he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Dyer of this city, his mother being widely known in musical circles as Mabelle Dyer, song writer and musical composer of note, and author of the music for "California, Golden Land of Destiny," official song of the organization sponsoring this pageant.

The words of this official song, which is acclaimed as one of the most beautiful contributions to the music of the Southland, were written by Mrs. Catherine Robertson Hamlin of Los Angeles. This composition, with others, will be sung at the pageant.

CLIFF DEATH INQUEST HELD

Official Inquiry Finds Only One Died in Tragedy South of Border Fatal to Earl Williams

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 3.—The tragedy on the cliffs south of the border Saturday night, when Earl B. Williams of Los Angeles plunged to his death, with his wife being critically injured and two others less seriously hurt, occurred near the Halfway House and not at Rosarito Beach as was first reported, it became known today. The Halfway House is thirty-five miles south of Tia Juana on the Ensenada road. Williams was killed when he fell over the cliff after answering a call for help from his wife, Mrs. Retta Williams, who accidentally toppled from the rim.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Wahlberg of Manhattan Beach also plunged over the cliff in their efforts to assist the others. The victims were carried to the top on stretchers by rescuers. Mrs. Williams is at Mercy Hospital, where her condition is described as critical.

An inquest into Williams's death was held at Tia Juana yesterday. It was found those of the campaign party were not acquainted with the terrain in the vicinity and that the accident was unavoidable.

Conflicting reports at first were given out regarding the number killed. The driver of an ambulance which brought the victims here stated there were two dead. This was corroborated by the Tia Juana Cororer. However, Tia Juana police stated that one death only was found to have occurred.

OCEAN SPEEDER INJURES GIRL

Attorney's Sister Loses Her Foot in Propeller When Hit by Fast Craft

And now it behooves the swimmer, too, to beware of the speeder.

Attorney Phil Jacobson learned this yesterday when he received word from Coronado Beach that his sister, Ruth, 20 years of age, had been injured by a motor speed boat.

Miss Jacobson was bathing when a speed boat shot toward her. Unable to get out of the way, the girl was rolled under the craft. Her foot was caught in the propeller and severed below the ankle.

the State the Governor was leading by more than 4000 votes, the count being: Balzar, 7934; Roberts, 3828, and R. N. Cowles, 1835.

Despite the lack of national and State issues, 73 per cent of the registered voters of both parties voted.

Charles L. Richards, former United States Representative, defeated Horace Appe for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

A feature of the primary was the contest between two women for the Democratic nomination for State Treasurer. This was won by Mrs. Carrie Devine from Mrs. Ethel McCutre, former member of the State Assembly.

Representative Arenz, Republican, had no primary opposition. He will be opposed in November by Maurice J. Sullivan, Democrat.

JUDGE MISSING IN EWALD CASE

Member of New York State Supreme Court Sought

Jurist Vanished August 6, Evidence Indicates

He Presided at Dinner for Accused Magistrate

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (Exclusive) The whereabouts of Supreme Court Justice Force Crater, former law partner of United States Senator Robert F. Wagner, became a mystery of importance today when it developed that his name had become involved in the investigation which the State Attorney-General is conducting into the appointment of George F. Ewald as City Magistrate.

The justice has not been in his chambers since August 6 and so far as investigators have been able to learn he has not been seen at his Fifth-avenue home or elsewhere about town since August 6. Members of his law staff admitted today that they are taking an active part in the search for him. One possible explanation of his absence advanced was that he might have gone to Europe to complete an interrupted vacation but no one seemed able to find any basis for this suggestion. Friends expressed a fear that he had met with foul play for some reason, which they could not guess.

HONORED EWALD

The Attorney-General's office is interested in the whereabouts of the justice, primarily because of information that he acted as toastmaster on May 12, 1927, at a dinner given in honor of Magistrate Ewald, who had just been appointed to the bench.

It was the Ewald case that gave rise to widespread criticism of the local magistrate's courts and of the system of judicial appointments as it was charged that Ewald bought his job from Martin J. Healy, Tammany leader of the Nineteenth Assembly district.

Justice Crater is president of the Cayuga Club, the political organization of which Healy is leader.

DREW FUNDS AT BANK

The justice, according to information available, vanished on the evening of August 6, after purchasing a single theater seat at the office of a Broadway broker. He appeared to be in the best of spirits and spoke of joining his wife the following day at a Maine resort.

During the same day it was learned Justice Crater drew a total of about $5500 in cash from two bank accounts. He is believed to have had at least $1500 in cash on his person in addition to that sum, making a total of about $5000.

For a time it was believed that Justice Crater might have joined Senator Wagner in Europe. Cable messages dissipated that hope, and the Senator at once made plans to return to this country.

CAMPBELL WINS VOTE IN ENGLAND

Conservative Candidate's Victory Close One Over United Empire Aspirant

BROMLEY (Eng.) Sept. 3. (AP)—The regular Conservative candidate, E. T. Campbell, today won a by-election for a seat in the House of Commons made necessary by the recent death of the sitting member, who was likewise a Conservative.

Campbell received 12,782 votes, against 11,176 for W. G. Fordham, Liberal, and 9483 for V. C. Redwood of Lord Rothermere's United Empire party. The Labor candidate, A. E. Ashworth, was far in the rear with 5942 votes.

The chief interest in the electoral fight centered about the candidacy of Mr. Redwood, who, with the backing of Lord Rothermere and the sympathetic though not official support of Lord Beaverbrook, made a strong fight against the official Conservative candidate of ex-Premier Baldwin.

Redwood cut heavily into the Conservative voting strength, which was reduced by 50 per cent.

The seat was rendered vacant by the death of Col. Cuthbert James, son of Lord Northbourne.

MUSICIANS ADVISED TO QUIT FIGHT

Damrosch, on Return from Europe, Says Progress of Sound Devices Inevitable

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—Walter Damrosch, orchestra conductor, urged American musicians to give up their fight against sound-reproducing devices on his return from Europe tonight.

"It is as futile as the efforts the hand weavers once made to stop the development of the machine age," he said.

"I am deeply concerned over the plight of those who are being deprived of a livelihood by the introduction of sound-reproducing machines into theaters and motion-picture houses. But nothing can stop the progress of these inventions, and I am convinced they will help in the musical development of the American people."

Plot to Murder Mussolini Told

TRIESTE (Italy) Sept. 3. (AP)—The authorities announced today that one of eighteen Jugo-Slavian prisoners on trial here for terrorism had given the court a written confession of a plot to kill Premier Mussolini.

The confession stated the assassination attempt was to take place within a few days. The name of the confessing defendant was held secret and no further details were given.

TRIANGLE CASE SUITS INCREASE

Mrs. Bairnsfather Plans to Begin Slander Action

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (Exclusive) A slander suit is to be added to the Bairnsfather-Collier triangle already involving action for divorce against the cartoonist. Bruce Bairnsfather and a $100,000 alienation suit brought by his wife against the 54-year-old English actress, Constance Collier.

Enraged at published statements attributed to the stage beauty that her children, one by her first husband, and the second by the artist, are illegitimate, Mrs. Bairnsfather declared she will sue Miss Collier for defamation of her own and her children's characters.

Her breech with her husband, she insists, was deliberately brought about by Miss Collier while the actress and the cartoonist were collaborating on a play while she was on a visit to England four months ago.

TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Fastus screamed as he was hurled to the floor in Tarzan's grasp. He sought to draw his dagger or his sword, but Tarzan took both from him and tossed the prince into the arms of the legionaries, who had rushed past the commander of the Colosseum guard and forced their way into the dungeon.

"I shall punish you for this," hissed the prince, "all of you," and he swept the inmates of the dungeon with an angry, menacing glance. "Under the law," said the Colosseum commander, "nobody, not even a prince, may interfere with my prisoners. They are to be kept inviolate." Then Fastus departed in rage.

There was another visitor to the cell that night, a close friend of Maximus Praeclarus, by name, Appius Applosus. He came to report that the lovely Dilecta, to save her father and mother and Praeclarus and his mother, Festivitas, had finally consented to become the wife of Fastus.

"Is this officer your friend, Praeclarus?" Tarzan asked, indicating Applosus. "Yes," said Praeclarus. "If you trust him fully, tell him the place where you have concealed the keys to the dungeon," said Tarzan. Praeclarus directed his friend to look for a secret alide in the wall of his library at home.

Chiang Kai-shek Reveals Campaign Details

Great Place He'll Crush Rebels Indicated

Fall of Northern Chief Laughed to Scorn

NANKING, Sept. 3. (AP)—A Nationalist attack along the Hsichow-Tientsin Railway front, marking the government attempt to crush the forces of the rebellious Nationalist chief, Feng Yu-hsiang, out of Honan and Shensi provinces, was announced today by President Chiang Kai-shek.

Generalissimo Chiang launched the drive after the failure during which he received word of his offer of peace terms of the rebel leader, who would leave the northern provinces and join the Nationalist government if his northern soldiers ignored him.

PEACE OFFER AT END

Reports to President Chiang at his field headquarters in the Honanese Province that Kaifeng, which virtually has been encircled by the Nationalist regular troops, capital of Shantung province, had ended with the capture of Kaifeng, Honan province, said his forces had driven the rebels slightly.

Heaviest fighting in the said activity had been reported south of the Yellow River in connection with the Nationalists' drive to head for Tien-tsin, important North China port, shortly. A Nationalist commander said that the troops at present against Kaifeng will begin September 15 with offensive activities to follow, although the Nationalists have by no means will to fight.

"Victory is assured," said Chiang. "Many of the enemy troops, of which the Nationalist portion already have taken the field, will attempt to drive southward (northern general) to Honan."

Although details were lacking concerning the final situation in Honan province, heavy rains paralyzed military operations the latter part of August. It is understood that the Nationalists have succeeded sufficiently to permit considerable troop movements. The trenched battlefields, however, are said still to resemble quagmires.

CHIANG RIDICULED

Hankow Peiping dispatches saying Chiang had completed the formation of an independent government among its officers and subordinates now holding important posts with the Nationalist government received with open ridicule in Nanking, seat of the National government.

Yunan Nationalists said such reports reflected the desperate position of the northern coalition."

The northern announcement that the name "Peiping" would be restored to the ancient capital also was received with amusement.

NATIONAL WAR DEBT CUT THIRD

Great Economic Strides in Eleven Years Shown

Treasurer Says Total Now $16,187,636,000

Taxes This Month Expected to Cover Deficit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—America's gigantic war debt of $26,596,701,000 has been reduced by more than one-third in eleven years since the debt reached its peak August 31, 1919.

The Treasury statement today showed the public debt on August 31 this year to total $16,187,636,000.

During the first ten years after the World War the debt was slashed by more than $1,000,000,000 annually. This was accomplished through the regular sinking-fund appropriation and the application of the annual surpluses amounting to almost $800,000,000 each year.

The Treasury statement for the close of August, the second month of the new fiscal year, showed an increasing deficit for this period over a year ago. Of course, the 15th-inst. tax payments are counted on to take care of this deficit.

The excess of total expenditures chargeable against receipts at the end of August was $343,297,804, as against $218,578,218 a year ago.

ARGENTINE PRESIDENT STANDS PAT

Yrigoyen Said to Have Rejected Party's Demand that He Resign

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 3. (AP)—Rumors President Yrigoyen had been asked by leaders of his own party to resign and had refused were published today by the newspaper La Critica, and served to intensify the excitement in political circles.

Meanwhile members of the Cabinet continued meeting behind closed doors and Radical party leaders held a secret conference.

Regarding the request that Yrigoyen resign, La Critica said it had the information from "the most reliable source." The paper named Dr. Osvaldo Meabe, Yrigoyen's private physician, as the man who carried to the President the request of his erstwhile adherents.

DAWES WILL POSE FOR SENATE BUST

PARIS, Sept. 3. (AP)—In Paris after pursuing archeological studies in South France and Spain, Ambassador Dawes announced today he will spend tomorrow and the next day posing for his bust in a sculptor's studio. The sculptor is Jo Davidson, American engaged to model the official bust of Mr. Dawes, which will be placed in the United States Senate beside those of other Vice-Presidents.

HOOVER SLATES OCTOBER TALKS

President Accepts Two More Speaking Invitations

Addresses Not Political but Party May Benefit

Bankers and A.F.L. Meeting Latest on Schedule

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—President Hoover will deliver four public addresses during the first week of October. He agreed some weeks back to address the American Legion convention at Boston on October 6 and to speak at the observance of the sesquicentennial of the Battle of Kings Mountain in North Carolina the day following.

Today he enlarged his program by accepting invitations to address the American Bankers' Association in Cleveland October 2, and the American Federation of Labor in Boston October 6.

WORDS TO COUNT

Although none of these speeches will be political in character, observers who have been speculating on what part, if any, the President will take in the coming Congressional campaigns profess to see in his enlarged speaking program a definite purpose to give what support he can with propriety to Republican candidates for the Senate and House. In this connection it is pointed out that Mr. Hoover will speak before three large and influential groups, the bankers, the Legion and the federation, each of which will be representative of all sections of the country and major phases of American life.

If the President desired to talk politics he could obtain no audiences better suited to the purpose. It is extremely unlikely, however, that he will deliver political speeches, as such. It will not be necessary for him to do so. He may, if he considers it proper and wise, contribute to the chances of Republican candidates by discussing some of the accomplishments of his administration and its future plans along channels of peculiar interest to the group he is addressing.

HINT TO WISE

No one presumes that he will inject himself directly into the campaign, but he can take advantage of the opportunities offered to clarify issues and inform the country of what has been done and what may be expected if Congress co-operates with him in the months to come.

The fact is that whatever the President says, except in the Kings Mountain speech, which, of course, will be of patriotic and historical character purely, will be bound to have a political interpretation. A Presidential address that did not stir the political waters would be a dry speech indeed. Everything a President says has some political significance.

AT CRITICAL TIME

When Mr. Hoover leaves Washington the contest for control of Congress will be in full swing. His addresses will be delivered during the first week of the last month of the campaign. What is more natural, Washington asks, than that he should give whatever support is compatible with his office to the candidates of his party?

It is believed here that whatever the President has to say touching upon business conditions, unemployment and national affairs in general to the bankers, the union delegates and the Legionnaires will have a decided effect upon the campaign and should react to the benefit of Republican Congressional candidates.

HOOVER ITINERARY

Mr. Hoover will leave Washington on the night of October 1 for Cleveland. He will return to the capital the following night and will leave again on the night of October 5 for Boston. His address to the American Legion will be delivered on the morning of October 6 and that to the American Federation of Labor in the afternoon of the same day.

The trip from Boston to North Carolina will be made overnight. The address at Kings Mountain will, it is understood, be a patriotic tribute to the men who there turned the tide of the American Revolution and paved the way for the British surrender at Yorktown.

Kidnap Suspect Jailed at Lodi

FRESNO, Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—Jane Kovick, 21-year-old Fresno girl, who left this city last night in company with a man who is suspected of being an ex-convict, but who represented himself as a State Highway Department engineer, was found today in a Lodi hotel after a State-wide search had been launched for her. The man is believed to be Frank Egan, alias H. J. Gibson, alias H. J. Gibbons, who was discharged a week ago from the Folsom prison road camp in Kings River Canyon. Egan is said by the local police to have served four terms in prison.

Officer Paul Willard left here tonight for Lodi to bring Him back here to answer to a charge of kidnaping preferred by Walter Kovick, brother of the girl. Miss Kovick returned here tonight.

Dry Agent Free in Murder Case

COLUMBUS (Ga.) Sept. 3. (AP)—W. K. Johnson, Jr., Federal prohibition agent, was acquitted by a Federal court jury early tonight of a charge of murder in connection with the death of Ray Roberts, 20 years of age. The prohibition agent said the shooting was accidental.

BENNY BASS COPS BOUT

Religious-Rites Plans Reveal Secret

Dorothy Britton

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—Dorothy Britton, who rose to a stellar role in the current "Vanities" from a start as Miss Jersey City in a beauty contest, announced tonight plans to go through a second marriage ceremony with her husband of three years' standing.

The announcement disclosed for the first time that the actress was secretly married to Edward C. Harding, a Jersey City business man.

"Ever since Ned and I married in Port Chester, N. Y., in 1927, I have wanted a real wedding," she explained.

So the families of the married bride and groom have been invited to a religious ceremony to be performed next Sunday.

MOTHER OF ED JORDAN TURNS BACK

Mrs. Louise Risley Fails to Reach Son Injured in Mountain Landslide

DINUBA, Sept. 3.—Mrs. Louise Risley, mother of Ed Jordan, one of the college boys injured in the landslide on the new Mt. Whitney trail last Tuesday, returned to her home here today, after a trip yesterday to Ash Mountain Ranger Station, Sequoia National Park, in an unsuccessful effort to find some way to get to her son.

It was deemed impossible for her to make the arduous trip in, due to her own physical condition, suffering as she has been for months, from a broken hip.

Although press reports this morning indicated that Jordan, suffering from pneumonia, might be brought out today, he has not yet reached his home here.

Young Jordan's father, a printer, was one of the victims of the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times a number of years ago, the mother told newspaper representatives here today.

DONALD DOWNS'S BODY BROUGHT DOWN TRAIL

FRESNO, Sept. 3. (AP)—Back down over the long mountain trail up which he so hopefully went last spring Donald Downs was carried today in his casket. The cortege, made up of mountain packers for pallbearers and burros for a hearse, wound its way slowly into Independence at 6 o'clock tonight and the body was prepared for shipment to Glendale, the former home of the lad, one of four trail workers injured in a rock slide last week.

Mrs. Downs proceeded to Glendale, where funeral services will be conducted Friday, according to word received from Sam Clark, Independence, the Sequoia National Park ranger who has been directing rescue and relief operations in an effort to save the lives of Downs and his companion patient, Ed Jordan of Dinuba.

Back up over the twenty-eight-mile mountain trail thirty or forty men will go shortly to return Jordan to civilization Friday or Saturday. The men will take with them a stretcher upon which to carry Jordan and they will work in shifts in carrying him. Jordan is reported to be recovering as rapidly as could be expected and no fear is felt for his continued improvement.

With the return of Jordan from the mountains the work on the Foresters' Pass cut-off trail will close for this year, it is believed. This trail is being constructed by the government for the purpose of providing an inlet into the Tyndall Creek country, which lies east and south of the Great Western Divide and west of Mt. Whitney. It will replace the present trail into this area, which is undesirable because it crosses two high mountain passes and a deep valley between. This portion will be replaced by a single passage through one pass.

GERMAN CONDOLES GEN. ALLEN'S WIDOW

BERLIN, Sept. 3. (AP)—Foreign Minister Curtius today sent a telegram of condolence to Mrs. Henry T. Allen, widow of Gen. Allen, expressing sympathy for the general's death in the United States recently. The telegram follows: "I beg leave to express on behalf of the German government my deepest sympathy. The memory of Gen. Allen, who, during Germany's greatest stress, organized the great American relief work benefiting thousands of German children will ever be cherished in Germany."

GRANGE AND LIONS HAVE DAY AT FAIR

Dog Derby and Vehicle Parade Head Program of Entertainment

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 3. (AP)—Members of Lions clubs, the State Grange and residents of southeast counties had their day at the State fair here today. Grangers from all parts of California met at a noon luncheon on the grounds and the Lions held their annual dinner in the evening.

Twenty-six boys, each with a dog on leash, competed in the annual Lions clubs "doggone dog derby," which was won by Jack Van Sickle, Elk Grove. His prize was $25. Second place and $20 was won by Gordon Friday, Woodland, and third prize, $15, by Richard Rogers of Sacramento.

Another feature of the day was a parade before the grand stand of vehicles showing development of automobiles and farm machinery from early times to the present.

Maintaining its unbroken record for winning prizes for flowers, San Mateo was awarded first place for sweet peas. San Luis Obispo was second. San Mateo also won first place for straw flowers, with Napa second.

Solano county was announced as the winner of the sweepstakes for exhibits of bees and honey.

Kentucky Mine Official Shot

MADISONVILLE (Ky.) Sept. 3. (AP) — Charles Blanchard, superintendent of the Norton Coal Mining Company, was shot and slightly wounded, and the home of three Negro miners employed by the company was fired into today at Nortonville.

Blanchard was on his way to investigate the shootings at the miners' home when he was waylaid by unidentified men.

The shootings marked the first serious disorders in Hopkins county since the reopening last spring of strike-closed mines.

OIL COMPANIES SLASH PRICE IN KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 3. (AP)—The large oil companies today slashed 3 cents from the retail price of gasoline in greater Kansas City. The reduction, presumably, a counter-thrust against the independent retailers who have cut prices 2 to 4 cents per gallon recently was first ordered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana.) The others followed suit. "Regular" gasoline sold here for 15.9 cents, including 2 cents State tax and 1 cent city tax.

RED ATHEISM CALLED TO POPE'S ATTENTION

BRUSSELS, Sept. 3. (AP)—A resolution protesting to Pope Pius against the Russian soviet government's treatment of religion was adopted today by delegates from more than thirty countries at the International Roman Catholic Press Congress here. Another resolution favoring creation of an international Catholic press agency was adopted.

HIGH WAGE HELD TAX-RISE CAUSE

Farm Board Chairman Tells Theory at Grange Meet

Labor's Pay Double that of Prewar Days, He Says

A.F.L. Chief Challenges Talk and Quotes Statistics

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) Sept. 3. (AP)—Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, declared today to the New York State Grange that the farmers' increased tax rates are due "largely to the advance in labor rates."

Referring to the decrease in the farmers' income, Mr. Legge said "this situation became more acute after the inflation period brought about by the World War and the general higher price levels that have been maintained since that period."

The latest available figures on earnings, he said, "show the average wage earnings today are about two and one-quarter times the average of prewar years. This is inevitably reflected back to the consuming public in the prices of practically all manufactured articles.

"It is a fact that it not generally understood that on many manufactured articles 80 per cent of the wholesale price can be directly traced to somebody's pay envelope."

The speaker declared that when "properly organized, the farmers' business should be and can be the most stable of the industries of the world."

GREEN "CALLS" LEGGE ON LABOR STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, called upon Chairman Legge of the Farm Board to correct a statement in his address at Syracuse today charging that "the advance in labor rates" largely is responsible for agriculture's ills.

"This statement is neither justifiable nor accurate," Green telegraphed. "For that reason I trust as a matter of fairness and justice to the wage-earning class and the farmers of our country you will correct your statement.

"Since 1914 the cost of wages to employers has changed five-tenths of 1 per cent only. In 1914 employers in the United States paid 16.8 per cent of the wholesale price of their products to workers in wages. In 1927 they paid 17.3 per cent. Obviously your statement that 80 per cent of the wholesale price of many manufactured articles can be directly traced to somebody's pay envelope is incorrect.

"Since 1919 wages paid workers employed in manufacture have increased 11.4 per cent only, while output has increased 42.5 per cent. As 2.9 per cent fewer workers were employed productivity has increased 58.3 per cent. It is apparent that wage earners are not responsible for the farmers' trouble. Their wages have not increased in proportion to what they produce."

MIND TESTS PLANNED IN AUTO CASES

Persistent Violators of Traffic Laws will Face Psychopathic Quiz

EVANSTON (Ill.) Sept. 3. (AP)—A new system of dealing with persistent traffic law violators by subjecting th m to psychopathic tests was inaugurated today by Magistrate Harry H. Foster.

Henceforth, the magistrate announced, all persons who have committed serious traffic offenses two or more times, such as speeding or driving while intoxicated, will be turned over to Northwestern University psychologists for examination.

University psychologists today examined a 19-year-old youth who made his third appearance in court after driving his car into another automobile. The psychologists gave the youth the Stanford-Binet test and announced his mental age was 8 years and 8 months.

FINANCIAL

KINNER MOTORS OUTLOOK ROSIER

Orders for Future Delivery Holding Up Well

Operation on Reduced Scale in Winter Assured

Company's Financial Status Also Shows Better

Contracts orders for future delivery upon which deposits have been made of the Kinner Airplane and Motor Corporation will assure continued operation of the Kinner plant on a reduced scale throughout the winter season, Robert Porter, president, announced yesterday.

A total of 284 motors have been shipped so far this year, fifty-one of which represent August sales. While no audited statement has been prepared for the first half of 1930, Mr. Porter estimated that the company operated at a deficit of about $2,.000 before reserves, but that on the basis of current orders no additional loss is expected for the last half. This, he stated, is considered highly satisfactory in view of present conditions and when compared with other companies engaged in a similar business.

LISTING PLANNED

Current developments also include the immediate application to list on the New York Curb Exchange upon approval of the new capital set-up. While the count of certificates deposited for the proposed change has not been completed, he anticipates sufficient stock will be sent in to assure consummation of the plan. He urged that stockholders co-operate in depositing their shares as soon as possible to aid the company in more readily facilitating its program.

The plan, which is the exchange of one new no-par share for each ten $1 par shares held, is for the purpose of meeting listing requirements on eastern exchanges to increase distribution, to raise the standard of the share to conform with higher grade investment issues, to make the security less subject to small stock market pool operators, and among other advantages, to prepare for ultimate development of the company.

The company now has approximately 5000 stockholders and is reputed to be the third largest airplane engine manufacturer in the country, the scope of its operations being exceeded only by Pratt & Whitney and Wright.

The company today has a cash balance of $200,000 and accounts receivable, "all good and unquoted due" of $32,000, together with a merchandise inventory valued at $700,000. Against this are current liabilities of accounts payable, including bank loans of $100,000.

ON ECONOMY BASIS

The current lull in the industry, Mr. Porter stated, has brought operations of the plant down to a strict economical basis, the fruits of which will be realized when conditions improve. "The recent dullness has weeded out many of the weakly founded companies and I believe this is a period of preparation for concerns well managed and well financed that will result in lucrative returns when the real booms arrive."

Shipments in the past month were about equally divided between the K-5 100-horsepower engine and the new B-5 plant conservatively rated at 125 horsepower. The latest product, the C-5, rated at 200 horsepower, is expected to be tested for a Department of Commerce certificate in a few days.

DIVIDEND ON GLIDDEN COMMON REDUCED

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3.—The Glidden Company declared today a quarterly dividend on the common stock of 30 cents a share, placing the issue on a $1.20 annual basis against $2 previously and in addition voted the regular quarterly payment of $1.75 a share on the prior preferred stock, both payable October 1 to stockholders of record the 18th inst. Adrian D. Joyce, president, stated that notwithstanding adverse conditions in July and August, sales were still ahead of last year and that the company is in a splendid financial condition with a ratio of current assets to current liabilities of 12½ to 1.

MAYTAG REDUCES QUARTERLY DIVIDEND

St. Francis Dam Refunding Bond Block Floated

Dean Witter & Company yesterday was awarded the $650,310 St. Francis Dam refunding 4 1-4 per cent bonds Series 5 on a premium bid of $3130. The award was made by the City Council on the recommendation of City Treasurer Powell and the Finance Committee after eight bids had been submitted.

R. H. Moulton & Company was the second high bidder with an offer of $3963 premium, and a syndicate including Anglo London Paris Company, National Bankitaly Company and First Detroit Company was third with a premium of $3000.

The bonds are dated October 1, 1930, and mature $28,000 principal amount each year from 1930 to 1948 and $34,310 in 1949.

Ice Cream Unit Extra in Sight

Directors of Chapman's Ice Cream Company have under consideration the declaration of an extra dividend, A. A. Comey, president, announced yesterday. The company, he said, "has earned sufficient net profits this year to warrant an extra," but added that he felt the directorate should wait until the end of September pending the continuance of good weather conditions.

Mr. Comey estimated August net profits before Federal income-tax provision at $18,000 bringing the total net earnings for the year to date up to $89,550.48, equivalent before income tax to $1.79 a share on the 50,000 shares of capital stock outstanding. Dividend requirements for the entire year are $1.25 a share.

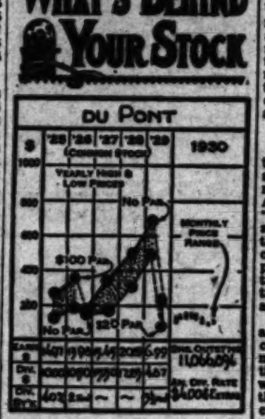
SENTIMENT, FACTS DIFFER

Better Feeling Reported on Business Status, but Figures Tell Different Story

BY EARLE E. CROWE

If sentiment is accepted as an index of business conditions, then the situation is showing some improvement throughout the country. But if figures are relied upon, the state of the nation's business is unchanged from the low levels recently prevailing.



This summary seems to reflect the two points of view in the ascendancy at this time. The people who travel around or receive reports from field agents pass along the suggestion that sentiment is distinctly better. In some instances these reports reflect actual improvement in different lines, or at least the feeling or hunch of the retailer or manufacturer that the turn is about due.

TIRED OF PESSIMISM

Perhaps reports of this nature are traceable to the reason that people are tired of being pessimistic. As many observers have said, the American public never endures the "business blues" for very long at a time, which probably accounts for the growing tendency to take a more cheerful point of view. When people start thinking along constructive lines, it usually is not long until the thoughts are translated into actual events.

The statistical experts, however, are not taking sentiment into calculation. They rely on government and trade reports of production and consumption, most of which are still bearish. They note the probability of a 12 per cent decrease in agricultural purchasing power; the failure of commodity prices to recover; prospects for acute unemployment this winter; and scores of other bearish reports.

Virtually the same points of view obtain with respect to stock market prices. Wherever stocks are discussed these days, the tendency is to look for an upturn some time this fall. But if reasons are asked it is significant that none is forthcoming.

WASHINGTON HOPEFUL

Official Washington, it is reported, is hopeful of a moderate bull market soon and expects to see one materialize. At the same time these reports state that nothing will be done by the government, the Federal Reserve Board or any other agency to stimulate a rise in stock prices.

The administration, according to these advices, would look with favor on an upturn in the market as the means of liquidating bank loans and releasing more credit for business purposes. And it is also recognized in Washington that rising stock prices are influential on general business sentiment.

Chart followers and readers of the averages are not seeing eye to eye with the incipient bulls. Unable to find any encouragement in earnings reports or business indices, they pay more attention to the possibility of breaking through the 3 resistance lines in the averages, which would portend a new downward cycle in the bear market.

After all, it is sentiment that rules the production, the consumption and the price curves. The whole proposition goes back to how people feel and what they think. The retailer finds his public is in a buying mood, and passes the word along to the wholesaler and the manufacturer. Production is speeded up, sales increase, and everybody is happy again.

New Building Awards Gain

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (Exclusive) New construction undertaken during August in the metropolitan area of New York showed a gain of 11 per cent over the previous month and an increase of 1 per cent over August, 1929, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation. Contracts awarded for new construction of all types in this area during August totaled $76,700,900 as compared with $69,061,300 for July and $75,889,700 for August, 1929.

For the year to date new construction awards in the metropolitan area amounted to $658,075,000 against $846,936,700 in the same eight months of 1929.

TRADING ON CURB MART SHOWS GAIN

Value of Turnover in August 71 Per Cent Up Over July Total

More than $3,000,000 worth of stocks, based on market values, crossed the board of the Los Angeles Curb Exchange during the twenty-four working days of August, representing an increase of 71 per cent over the value of trading for the preceding month, according to a statement issued yesterday by the exchange. The stock sales aggregated 454,946 shares.

As on the senior market, oil stocks accounted for the greatest activity and this division of the list registered an increase in share turnover of 14 per cent for the month. In addition, there has recently been added to the list fifteen eastern issues which in a large measure contributed to the increased activity and considerably broadened the scope of the market.

With the addition of these stocks, the curb exchange has now 169 issues listed on its board as approved for trading. These issues have outstanding a total of 279,290,397 shares with a combined market valuation of $7,024,591,388. The average price per share, with the large group of penny stocks considered, is $25.14. The average at the close of the preceding month was $21.65 a share.

That investors have taken advantage of local trading in the newly added eastern issues is evidenced by the activity of these shares, the statement points out. For the month, Mexican Seaboard had a turnover of 38,500 shares, General Motors more than 6000 and R.-K.-O., 3000.

Petroleum shares still account for the bulk of the listings of all groups, with a total of seventy-two issues approved for trading.

Stock Market Member Loan Total Shrinks

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—New York Exchange announced today collateral loans to members at the close of business August 30 of $3,800,632,000, representing a decrease of $80,040,226 from the July 31 total of $3,880,482,207. The loans August 30, 1929, aggregated $7,861,619,426.

The high figure for the Stock Exchange member loans to date is $8,549,282,979, established September 30, 1929. The loans for the month just closed are at the lowest level since June 30, 1927. On April 30, 1926, the loans hit the bottom figure of $2,767,460,514.

Detailed demand and time loans compare as follows:

Brokerage Unit in Third Year

Young, Clarke & Company will complete its second year of business in Los Angeles this month, according to an announcement yesterday by John S. Young. In addition to memberships on the Los Angeles Stock and Curb Exchange, the company recently acquired a membership in the Chicago Stock Exchange and an associate membership in the New York Curb Exchange.

Winthrop, Mitchell & Company is the New York correspondent of the security house and the eastern business is handled over a direct wire between the two companies.

HARRISON GOES NORTH

Nicholas J. Harrison, sales manager of Drake, Riley & Thomas, left last night for Seattle and other northern points. He will be gone two weeks.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—A comparatively quiet opening was followed by a renewal of covering in cotton here today, which sent the prices of new October contracts up to 11.27 and March to 11.58, or about 25 to 29 points above yesterday's closing quotations.

The demand then tapered off and trading became quiet with prices easing off several points under realizing which may have been combined with a little southern selling. The market at 2 o'clock was quiet and steady with prices showing net gains of 19 to 20 points.

BEAR TRADING SYSTEM HIT

Present Shifting of Market Prices Attributed to Policy of Short Borrowing Against Sales

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—"Frankly, do you believe the stock market, with its frequent ups and downs today, has any real effect on the business of the country?" asks R. T. of California.

I had been discussing this matter, just before R. T.'s letter arrived, with a well-known business man, whose net gain in the stock market in the last five years has been reported in eight figures.

This business man believes that, while the crash of last fall did bring disaster to both poor and rich alike, few have idle funds today to buy stock. The result is that the bears can depress almost any stock exchange security "by offering large blocks of stock without fear of being unable to cover their sales at lower prices. So every time there is a dip in the market quotations, people become convinced that bad times are ahead and strict economy is practiced. As a result, the buying of absolute needs is the order of the day."

When I asked him how he would meet this problem, he replied:

"It is a vicious circle and in my opinion the bear operators on the New York Stock Exchange are largely responsible. It is estimated that about 5,000,000 shares of stock have been borrowed by the shorts to deliver against sales. The sale of stock, which the shorts do not own, in the absence of public buying, enables that crew to depress stock prices almost at will and make huge profits, while destroying public confidence and thereby undermining our industries and business generally."

"But what can be done about it?"

"I believe that if Congress enacted a law making it illegal, for a period not longer than one year, to sell securities not actually owned by the seller, security values would be stabilized, public confidence restored, and increased demand for commodities would restore production to normal and unemployment would be a thing of the past within a reasonably short time."

There is much merit in such a suggestion.

Dr. R. Parker Willis, New York editor, kept up his fire against "financial imperialism" in a Paris interview while on his way to Roumania, where he had gone on a financial mission.

"The gold movement to France," said the New York editor, "must be expected to go on. France is wise in insisting on the continued transfer of gold and refusing to participate in the grandiose schemes in retaining gold in Great Britain and the United States subject to earmarking . . . French banks, by conserving an outstandingly good economic position, will be able to place France in an even more positive position of command and above all, put free of financial imperialism, originating in other countries with regrettable results elsewhere."

The Federal Reserve probably has no more insistent critic than the Columbia University professor. He was a secretary of the first Federal Reserve Board, and one of the organizers of the Federal Reserve system.

But the inflationary movement, from 1922 to 1929, Dr. Willis vigorously opposed, with every resource at his command.

He had plenty of opportunity to say "I told you so," after the crash, but his writings since that time have been remarkably free from any such boastful spirit.

A SOUND PUBLIC UTILITY BOND

Yielding over 6.25%

A seasoned underlying public utility bond priced to yield over 6.25% may well be considered an investment bargain in view of the steadily increasing demand for issues of this character.

We are currently offering such a bond, which constitutes a first lien on utility properties valued at $31,250,000—or over twice the funded debt.

The company serves 185 growing communities throughout the middle West. Net earnings after all expenses including depreciation and taxes were nearly twice the bond interest charges. The properties are part of one of the leading utility systems of the country—assuring trained and efficient management.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—The bond market acquired renewed vigor today, especially in the rail group, whose average price moved to a new high on steady accumulation of the highest grade issues. Other sections were quiet but firm.

A feature was a stiffening of prices on several parts of the Latin-American group, based apparently on the receipt of better news regarding the political situation in these republics. Argentine listings advanced a point, while Buenos Aires 6s rose nearly 3. Mexican obligations moved up. A dozen rails touched new highs for the year.

Bonds surpassing their previous 1930 peaks included Central Pacific first 4s and Chicago and Northwestern 6½s.

Industrial and specialties fared better than the utilities. Chile Copper 5s, General Steel Castings 6½s, Pure Oil 5s, International Match 5s, Lorillard 5½s, National Dairy 5½s, Standard Oil of New Jersey 5s and United Drug 5s were leaders in the improvement. Some gains exceeded a point. Marion Steam Shovel 6s broke 13 points.

The firmer utilities included American Telephone & Tel., Pacific Gas and Electric 5s and Western Union 5s.

Convertibles were quiet. Brothers Peters 6s led the ...

The day's chief new offering, a $20,000,000 issue of Portland General Electric 30-year 4½s priced at 93½, was oversubscribed.

United States governments were partially dull, moving irregularly higher. In the case of the Treasuries, only one issue showed a turnover of more than $1000, reported amount.

A Seasoned Listed Bond Rated "A" by Moody

Selling at a material discount to yield 6.10%

A CERTAIN well-known utility bond, the direct obligation of one of the largest and strongest public utility companies in the United States, is now selling on the New York Curb at a discount of approximately 16 points to net 6.10%.

These bonds are rated "A" by Moody and were originally offered early in 1928 at 100, to yield 5%, by one of the strongest underwriting groups in the country. Gross annual earnings of the company now total over $91,000,000, as against $35,000,000, for the year ended January 31, 1928, and the equity ranking junior to this issue exceeds $455,000,000.

In our opinion, these bonds offer a real opportunity. Full details upon request below, without obligation.

AN OPPORTUNE TIME TO BUY BONDS

Since 1893 James R. Martin & Co. with its direct predecessors has served Southern California Investors

The upward movement in the bond market which began last November has reached the point which warrants the belief that a prolonged period of higher bond prices is ahead. Prices today show an increase of approximately 5 points since last November, 3 points since January, and 1 point in the last seven days.

To date, this strength has been felt principally in low-yield institutional type bonds, and many other sound issues are still selling approximately at the same level as last November. There are many indications, however, that this situation will not long continue in view of the increased demand throughout the entire bond list.

We believe that the present is a most opportune time for the purchase of good bonds—both from the standpoint of liberal yield and future appreciation possibilities.

A list of selected bonds yielding 4½% to 7% will be gladly furnished on request below.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3. (AP)—Trading on the San Francisco Stock Exchange today was comparatively light and marked by generally irregular prices, although one or two issues were conspicuous by reason of their strength and activity.

Goldman Sachs was the star performer, changing hands on heavy volume in the first half hour. The issue moved up 7½ points above yesterday's close to cross 20 for the first time since the June rotation. Later trading pulled the stock back slightly from its high of the day. There were no new developments accompanying the advance and the buying was attributed to organized operations.

Transamerica opened easy and climbed to yesterday's close in midsession, but failed to hold and sold off as the session progressed. Interest Trading lost fractionally.

Early trading in the petroleum issues was limited, but union of California and Union Associates broke into action around noon and changed hands in good volume on the upside. The utilities generally were fractionally higher.

Stock Market Displays Strength with Firm Prices When Trading Activity Quickens

Brisk trading in Transamerica, Union Associates and Gilmore Oil enlivened yesterday's operations on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and in a measure pulled the market out of the lethargy displayed in the preceding session. In addition, the character of operations was one of sustained strength with prices continuing to hold within narrow fluctuations in the face of a declining New York market.

Gilmore Oil, 2000 shares of which crossed the board, all in the afternoon session, held steadfastly to the all-time peak level of 20. It is believed in brokerage circles on the basis of recent market operations that outside interests are gradually accumulating a substantial portion of the floating stock.

Transamerica was, as usual, the leading trader, with a turnover of 5500 shares. The stock closed at 23, off 1-4 net after ranging between 23 1-8 and 23 3-4. Union Associates, which of late has been unusually quiet, was traded to the extent of 1700 shares. The issue firmed up 1-4 to end high for the session at 40½. Union Oil Company dipped 1-8 on small sales to 40 5-8.

Other oil companies held steady in the main with but slight fractional changes. Standard of California yielded 5-8 to 60 1-4, and Richfield, 1-8 to 14 7-8, while Rio Grande and Pacific Western reflected a small improvement. Hancock sold off 1-4 to 14.

Claude Neon continued under pressure, losing a point to 33, and California Packing, inactive on this board, fell off 2 1-4 points from its previous sale here, to 65. San Joaquin prior preferred 6 per cent spurted 1 1-8 points to a new top at 104 3-8 and the 7 per cent added 7-8 to end high at 119 1-8. Other changes were nominal.

Sales totaled 15,368 shares, valued at $503,144; previous day, 10,560 shares, valued at $301,325.

Wheat Drops to Lowest Mark in Sixteen Years

CHICAGO, Sept. 3. (AP)—Wheat prices broke sharply today to the lowest levels since the eastern crops got under way. The break started in 1914 has been attributed by some to the apparent possibility of a record crop on the Chicago belt. Trade was dull at times, but there was a persistent pressure on wheat, and at times aggressive selling support was noted. Reports of rains caused scattered offerings, and also induced commission house and shorts to cover. A few fresh lots came in new territory. A prediction would be replaced by another, failed to steady the market. Other grains were affected.

Prices on wheat were unsettled during the forenoon session of the day, but were lower than yesterday's finish. At the close prices were 6@9c lower than the previous day's finish. Provisions showed an advance of 13c.

Cash wheat at Winnipeg accompanied reports Canadian country shipments amounted to 7,370,000 bushels compared with 6,138,000 bushels received during last year, helped weaken Chicago wheat pit of considerable business was reported.

Corn followed. Trade was small and prices were mainly easily influenced by the action of wheat. Offerings were scarce.

Oats were somewhat unsettled, the trends of both grain and

COMMISSIONERS ON HARBOR TOUR

Survey Made of Los Angeles $70,000,000 Plant

New and Proposed Projects Center of Interest

Necessity for Expansion in Future Also Noted

BY WALDO DRAKE

A survey of Los Angeles' $70,000,000 port establishment to observe present facilities and future potentialities was made yesterday by the Board of Harbor Commissioners and Harbor Department heads, the entire day following the weekly meeting being given over to the tour.

"Today's inspection further convinced me of the truth of our claim of having the best-equipped and most efficiently arranged cargo port on the Pacific," said Walter B. Allen, chairman of the harbor board. "However, we also see more clearly the need of anticipating the need of future facilities to provide for new business rapidly coming our way."

All areas were closely surveyed, including the outer harbor, Terminal Island, Fish Harbor, Mormon Island, the Wilmington and San Pedro districts and West Basin, under direction of Port Manager Burt Edwards and Harbor Engineer George F. Nicholson. Of particular interest were the ten new municipal and private projects under way or in immediate prospect at a cost in excess of $5,500,000. These include the new cotton compress, the Outer Harbor, yacht anchorage, restoration of the south end of Reservation Point, the Fish Harbor salt water supply plant, the new fishing fleet terminal, the Wilmington fire-proof case oil terminal, new storage warehouses, the West Basin freight terminal, the new pressed-steel factory for the Ford plant and the Fish Harbor dredging project.

In addition to Messrs. Allen, Edwards and Nicholson, the survey was made by Commissioners J. A. Crawford, Frank C. Wiser and C. Gerald Fitzgerald and M. G. Rouse, secretary to the harbor board, and Port Traffic Manager J. G. Starr.

NEW TRADE ROUTE FOR SHIPPING LOOMS

A triangular route from the Pacific Coast to Europe to the North Atlantic and back here is the latest elaboration of the rumor that the I.M.M.-Roosevelt group, perhaps with the aid of the Pennroad Corporation, is seeking the Luckenbach Line. The same rumor has it that the service would be alternated with passenger ships and fast freighters. Reports that the Roosevelt group has secured control of the I.M.M. are said to have been premature and are hampering consummation of the deal.

The Bilge Club at San Pedro will give an informal dinner at the Cookery the 8th inst. to Capt. Samuel Steele Sandberg, Los Angeles commissioner of the United States Shipping Board. Capt. Sandberg arrived yesterday morning from San Francisco for a week's visit with his family and friends, after which he will go to San Francisco, return here for a day and depart for Washington. The dinner, which is to one of the Bilge Club's charter members, will be restricted to members of the club, according to J. C. MacQuiddy, chairman of the general committee.

Merritt, Chapman & Scott yesterday dispatched its new ninety-ton lift derrick to the Isthmus of Catalina, where it will yank bodily out of the water the sixty-five-foot fish boat Cleopatra, ashore since Tuesday night. The fish boat Dalmatia was towed in from Ventura yesterday by the Coast Guard patrol boat No. 253, after losing her propeller the day before.

The Harbor Board yesterday granted application of the Sun Sea Food Products Company to construct a new fish-cake factory at Fish Harbor, the first unit in a progressive building program, being a frame structure 82 by 100 feet. A five-year lease for 5300 square feet of Harbor Department property was also approved.

August answered expectations by bringing the lowest tide of depression in all Pacific trades, according to the regular monthly freight market report of the General Steamship Corporation, just released. September, it is indicated will mark an upturn in practically all trades, notably in the intercoastal field and the grain movement from North Pacific ports to the United Kingdom-Continent range.

A check for $2100, submitted by the Los Angeles Athletic Club as rent on the Terminal Island yacht anchorage site from March 1, 1929, to December 31, 1930, was ordered returned yesterday by the Harbor Board. Control of the site, sought to be retained by the club, was restored to the Harbor Department by a recent decision of the Superior Court.

Running their little boat V-44 deliberately on Imperial Beach and wrecking her, three men escaped in 6 car from the pursuing Coast Guard speed boat No. 501, late Tuesday, according to Commander R. C. Weightman, commandant of Base No. 17, at San Pedro. The craft was declared a total loss, but Boatswain's Mate Gardiner salvaged thirty cans of alcohol. Two big rum carriers, each with thousands of cases, are reported still anchored off the Mexican coast. They are the

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Boyd's, Eighth between Broadway and Hope—"Men With Wings," by Wm. A. Wellman is the adventure in the Antarctic which is well worth seeing.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"Hit-the-Deck" with Jack Oakie and Polly Walker; Will Ahn Harding at her best in matter of vocals.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood — "Hell's Angels," which Howard Hughes four years and $4,000,000 to produce the colossus of all talkie war epics.

Criterion, 542 South Grand—"All Quiet on the Western Front." Erich Remarque's masterpiece of the war receives splendid new screen.

Egyptian, Hollywood Boulevard—"Common Clay," Cliff Dunstan dramatics finally invited by Constance Bennett.

Fineroa, Figueroa at Santa Barbara—"Love Among the Millionaires."

Filmarte, 1228 North Vine—"A Throw of Dice," an Arabian scroll of India which might be advertised.

Loew's State, Broadway at Seventh—"Min Trouble." Opens today.

New Reel Theater, Broadway near Eighth—Current Events.

Paramount, Hollywood at Vine—"Ruffles." Marion Davies high society with the distinctive Mr. Colman in charge.

Paramount, 631 at Sixth—"Animal Crackers," with four Marx Brothers in an uproarious evening of puns and capers, and don't miss them.

Ritz, Wilshire at La Brea—"Swing High," musical story of the stage with Fred Scott and Helen Twelvetrees.

R.K.O. Hill at Eighth—"The Scarlet."

Orpheum, Hollywood at Vine—"Raffles." Master-mind with the distinctive Mr. Colman in charge.

R.K.O. Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"The Green Pajas." An air victory, as well as a film out. Richard Barthelmess in a story possessing some good moments.

United Artists, Broadway, near 9th—"Puttin' On." Reviewed in today's Times.

Uptown, Western and Tenth — "Romance."

Warner's Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"Old English." More of the charming sentimentality at which George Arliss is a past master.

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at 11th—"It's a Wise Child," a splendid cast enacts this modern treatment of an old theme. Recommended to those who like comedy with a grain of salt and lots of temper.

Biltmore, Fifth and Grand—"Candle-Light." Airy entertainment, frequently humorous in this Viennese piece. Eugenie Leontovich and cast.

Egan, Figueroa at Flea—"The Missing Witness." Hysterical courtroom high-jinks, all familiar. Maude Fealy.

El Capitan, Hollywood Boulevard—"Just Fancy That." The campus sap becomes a hero overnight and it's worth seeing. Ethel Barrymore.

Hollywood Playhouse, Vine near Hollywood Blvd.—"Good Old Days." The delightful comedienne, Dorothy Lee, returns in a farce about husbands and various wives.

Vine Street, 1615 N. Vine—"A Cup of Sugar." Talk and back talk from South and Dill.

BURLESQUE

Follies, Main at Fourth—Burlesque.

Debt Collection Agency Urged as War Machinery

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)— A recommendation that nations, when they are at war, should set up agencies for the collection of debts owed by their nationals to nationals of the enemy was adopted today by the International Law Association during discussion of a report on "The Effect of War on Contracts."

The recommendation, proposed by the Dutch delegation, was adopted as an amendment to the report, which was presented by R. E. L. Vaughan Williams, K. C., member of the British-German mixed arbitral committee and chairman of a committee appointed two years ago to study the subject.

Bank Bandits Lose Gun Fight

TOLSTOY (S. D.) Sept. 3. (AP)— Two bandits were shot and wounded, a third was captured and two possemen were shot and wounded in a gun fight near here today.

The bandits had held up the First State Bank of Hoven, nine miles west of here, this afternoon. A posse pursued them and the robbers were surrounded in the basement of a house. The gun fight followed.

Howard Furdy, garageman, was wounded in the foot and Eugene Harboldt, banker, was shot in the hand.

HOTEL MAN FOUND DEAD

DETROIT, Sept. 3. (AP)—Paul Kamper, hotel owner, architect and member of a prominent Detroit family, was found shot to death today in an apartment of the Madrid Hotel, of which he was part owner. Police said Kamper had shot himself.

JUNIOR LEAGUE STARTS NEW HOME

Institution Will Care For Ailing Children

Society Women Use Pick and Shovel
Scene at ground-breaking ceremony for $100,000 structure.

A NEW $100,000 home for convalescent children, to be built and maintained by the Junior League, advanced a step nearer realization yesterday with ground-breaking ceremonies on the site at Lexington and Westmoreland avenues. In the presence of her fellow-members Miss Katherine Thomas, founder of the league, drove a pick into the ground, and Mrs. William R. Flint, incumbent president, turned over the first spadeful of earth.

Construction of the first unit is to begin at once. This will cost $70,000 and provide accommodations for twenty children. Upon its completion the second unit will be erected at an additional cost of $30,000. The two wings will accommodate forty children. It is expected the home will be ready for partial occupancy by February 1, 1931. Lester H. Hibbard is the architect and Robert E. Millsap the contractor.

The following league members were present at yesterday's ceremonies: Mrs. William R. Flint, Miss Catherine Thomas, Miss Ruth Redman, Miss Polly Schoder, Mrs. Gardner Bullis, Miss Mabel Seeley, Mrs. Perry Howard, Mrs. Robert Casey, Mrs. Ralph Chandler, Mrs. Richard St. John, Miss Louise Innes and Mrs. Francis Brown.

FIGHT ENDS ON OPENING OF WILSHIRE

Signing of $3,213,041 in Court Awards Clears Way for Great Street Project

Fourteen awards, totaling $3,213,041, were signed yesterday by Superior Judge Bowron, ending condemnation proceedings for the opening of Wilshire Boulevard from Figueroa street to Grand avenue with record promptness. The awards for the land parcels totaled $2,906,996 and for improvements $306,075. The new extension from Figueroa to Grand will be eighty feet wide.

The extended Wilshire Boulevard will start at Figueroa street and will intersect Lebanon street, Flower street and Hope street, ending at Grand avenue. Though handled separately, this project is part of the larger plan comprehending the widening of Wilshire from Figueroa to Alvarado street, where the new thoroughfare will be connected with the existing Wilshire Boulevard by a bridge over Westlake Park.

Judge Bowron, in making judgments, awarded property owners on Figueroa street $4000 per front foot, on Flower street, $8000 to $6600, on Hope street, $5500, and on Grand avenue, $7500.

Condemnation proceedings were filed by the City Attorney April, last. Proceedings were accelerated in the courts by the fact that only fourteen parcels were involved.

Whitehill Sees Music Capital Moving Here

Hollywood is destined to become the music capital of the world within the next few years.

This is the prediction of Clarence Whitehill, baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company for the last sixteen years, who is spending his summer vacation in Los Angeles.

Mr. Whitehill says that motion pictures in sound are at present chanting a death dirge for operatic productions, and that the next few years will witness the passing of this form of musical entertainment completely.

He will return to New York about the first of the year to resume his work at the Metropolitan, where he is contracted to appear for several seasons. He is stopping at the Biltmore.

ILLINOIS PICNIC PLANNED

The annual picnic of the Illinois Society will be held October 4 at Sycamore Grove.

HUNTINGTON LIBRARY HAS REST PERIOD

It Has 14,794 Visitors in August and will be Opened Again on October 1

The Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery received 14,794 visitors during August, an average of 608 for each of the twenty-four exhibition afternoons. Thus far 345,723 persons have journeyed to the San Marino institution.

The exhibitions have closed until October 1. The annual closing in September permits clearing of the galleries and necessary attention to the exhibits. When the exhibitions reopen Wednesday, October 1, a few changes will be seen in the library exhibition but the majority of the famous books and manuscripts on view including the Ellesmere Chaucer written about 1400, the Gutenberg Bible printed about 1450 and the Shakespeare First Folio of 1623 are to remain on permanent display.

Beginning October 1, the schedule for visitors will be Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons from 1:30 to 4:30 o'clock and the first and third Sunday afternoons of each month.

RITES FOR H. H. CLARK TO BE TODAY

Masonic Order to Have Charge of Services at Hollywood Cemetery

Masonic funeral services will be conducted this afternoon for H. H. Clark, well-known Pacific Coast mining man and for many years manager of the Colorado River Land Company. The services will begin at 2 o'clock in the chapel of the Hollywood Cemetery. Mr. Clark died Tuesday afternoon after an illness of a week from pleural pneumonia. He was 72 years of age.

The list of pallbearers announced yesterday will include Frank X. Pfaffinger, Allan Crary, David Brant, David Gibson, Dr. Ward Gillespie and Norman Chandler.

First attaining prominence for his successful mining ventures in Alaska during the time of the Nome gold rush in 1899, Mr. Clark appeared in Nevada shortly after the Tonopah discoveries and was one of the first men to locate at Bullfrog. The National Bank Mine, which he located between Bullfrog and Rhyolite was one of the richest producers in the district.

Turning from mining to agriculture, Mr. Clark invested in Imperial Valley cotton land and was known as one of the successful growers in that district. He served for a year as president of the California Cotton Growers' Association. Eleven years ago he was given the post as general manager of the Colorado River Land Company and had charge of the extensive cotton growing interests of that corporation.

Mr. Clark was known to hundreds of mining men throughout the world. One of his life-long friends, Dr. L. E. Benson, visited him here before leaving for Alaska last week.

In addition to the widow, Mr. Clark leaves one daughter, Mrs. Alice Clark Ryan.

Election Loser Sportsmanlike

In commending the manner in which the Los Angeles County Bar Associations conducted their campaign for judicial candidates indorsed in its plebiscite, Attorney Oda Faulconer, who contested for Office No. 11 in the Superior Court, in which the incumbent, Judge Walter Guerin, was retained by the recent primary vote, showed the sportsmanlike manner in which she accepted the decision of the public. Her letter to Louis G. Guernsey, chairman of the judiciary committee, follows:

"I wish to express my appreciation of the attitude of the Bar Association of Los Angeles County during the recent campaign for the election of judges, and to convey to you and your committee my great respect and admiration, and hereby pledge my loyal and continued support to our organization."

STRIKE THREAT CLIMAX ARRIVES

Women's Wear Makers Defy Eastern Union Agitators

Attempt Expected Today to Paralyze Business

Workers Protest Order to Quit in Peak Season

Los Angeles manufacturers of women's apparel last night were expecting a union attempt today to paralyze their business, now at its height in hot seasonal competition with New York manufacturers. Sixty-three such manufacturers, most of them operating on the American or open-shop plan with approximately 1200 workers, have been confronted with union organizers' demand that they either consent to union contracts, rules and regulations in their plants or face a strike. Up to last night all of the open-shop plants pursued their customary policy of no discrimination among workers, whether union or not, and refused to agree to operate in such a manner as to exclude nonunion workers from their plants.

The strike threat appeared in literature circulated in the industry shortly after the arrival last July of a union official from New York. At that time at least some of the manufacturers did not regard the looming agitation as a bona fide union move, although proceeding from that source. It was declared that in times past in other localities New York manufacturers in this industry have instigated paralyzing union troubles in fields that offered them serious competition, such as the Los Angeles field now is doing.

PUZZLING MOVE

In view of this and for other reasons also some of the local manufacturers said they are at a loss to understand why union agitators should force members of their own union out of work right now at the one of two seasons a year when they have their greatest opportunity for good, paying employment.

The union agitators attempted to get the manufacturers to form a committee to act for the entire industry but the manufacturers took the position that inasmuch as there was no trouble before the agitators appeared they would deal only with their own employees. They insisted that whatever union proposition was to be submitted must be put up to them individually.

Then union strategy was brought into play and Mayor Porter came near being dragged into the center of the agitation. Representations were made to him by unionists, it was learned from him, that the industry was in a sorry plight and his good offices were needed. An attempt was made to get the Mayor to persuade the manufacturers to form a committee to deal with the union but the Mayor, busy with the job of running the city government, is understood to have been loathe to inject himself into a private affair, especially one with a decidedly one-sided agitation.

TRICK INDICATED

Some of the manufacturers whom the union sought to get into a committee found themselves faced with what purported to be a sort of a summons, assertedly from the Mayor's office, to go there and talk with him about forming such a committee. However, the Mayor yesterday spoke of the manufacturers' appearances on the occasion as voluntarily. In some quarters this was interpreted as a trick by the union to get the Mayor to pull its chestnuts out of the fire for it.

It is believed by some of the manufacturers that the strike move today, if it materializes, will be used by union forces to maneuver the Mayor into an "arbitration" move if he can be so used again.

Detective Lieutenant Hynes of the police Red squad served notice on union officials last night that there must be no violation of the law against intimidation of workers by strikers picketing plants and using violence. He organized his men into details for quick action if necessary.

ACTION UNCERTAIN

Manufacturers were not certain last night whether the strike will be general or whether it first will be tried out on a few of the weaker plants. In either event, the principal manufacturers declared they will not give up the open shop under which they operate. Some said that they may shut down completely until after the whole union agitation is over, which presumably will be soon after the peak of the highly competitive season has passed. The manufacturers declare that even their union workers generally do not wish to be forced out on a strike during this one of two best earning periods in the year.

However, these men pointed out, they have no other alternative than to obey their superiors in their union.

Hynes understands that the Communist organization of such workers looks upon the regular union strike move as an opportunity for them to intrench their own numbers more firmly in the industry. They and the American Federation of Labor union long have warred over the

MINNESOTA GOVERNOR ON VISIT

Head of Gopher State Would Trade Lakes for California Mountains

For exchange: One thousand lakes for a few California mountains!

GOV. CHRISTIANSON

Although Gov. Christianson, of St. Paul, doesn't know just how the trade can be brought about, he said yesterday that he is in favor of such a transaction.

At the Alexandria, the Minnesota executive who spoke at the Breakfast Club yesterday morning, said this is his first trip to California and that he has been deeply impressed. He said that his State with its 11,000 lakes is an ideal vacation ground, but that California's magnificent mountain scenery pleases him immensely.

Minnesota's Governor came to Los Angeles from Yosemite, where he had been for ten days. He will remain in Los Angeles several days before returning east.

Business conditions, in his opinion, have scraped bottom and improvement is under way. His State, he said, suffered little from the drought when compared to other States in the Middle West, and that a plan has been worked out to send Montana cattle to Minnesota for grazing. The plan, he said, is an outgrowth of the recent governors' conference called by President Hoover.

Surgeon Saves Life of Snake's Victim on Ranch

A nine-hour battle of Dr. Edward Kellogg, surgeon, to save the life of M. C. Stevenson of 1003 South Citrus avenue, who was bitten by a snake last Monday, has proved successful, according to Hollywood Hospital attendants.

Stevenson, spending his vacation at a Malibu ranch, walked near a ranch house and saw two large rattlesnakes. He decided to photograph them.

Returning from the ranch house with his camera he discovered one of them missing. The snake, hidden in some brush near by, buried its fangs in his hand as he photographed the other one.

Stevenson was taken to the cabin of Dr. Kellogg, who happened to be spending the day at the ranch.

SHIPPING BOARD MEMBER HOME

Capt. S. S. Sandberg Returns in Optimistic Mood

Bright Future for American Marine Predicted

Co-operation on West Coast Praised by Expert

Shipping under the American flag, having made rapid strides in the past two years despite a decrease in international trading and national economic conditions, is destined for a sound, progressive and prosperous future, according to Capt. S. S. Sandberg, commissioner of the United States Shipping Board, who arrived yesterday for a ten-day visit at home.

Capt. Sandberg's visit is the first in two years since he resigned as traffic manager for the Los Angeles Harbor Department and was appointed by former President Coolidge to the Shipping Board, with offices in Washington.

EXPERT OPTIMISTIC

The veteran shipping expert expressed optimistic views generally for the future of American shipping and was complimentary specifically toward the co-operation and enthusiasm of Pacific Coast shipping men.

As to shipping construction loans available to firms under the $250,000,000 government appropriation two years ago, Capt. Sandberg reported a score or more shipping interests taking advantage of the Federal proposition for the construction and rebuilding of ships.

At present, he said, there are from twenty-five to fifty craft under construction, rebuilding or conversion under the appropriation, by which responsible concerns may obtain from the government 75 per cent of the expense. From $100,000,000 to $125,000,000 has been used from the appropriation, he said.

COINCIDENCE SEEN

As if to celebrate the commissioner's visit the Pacific-Atlantic steamer Jefferson Myers sailed from the local port shortly before his arrival to inaugurate America's first scheduled ship line between the Pacific Coast and Europe—a project Capt. Sandberg has long championed.

Capt. Sandberg pointed out that service between the Pacific Coast and Europe is most feasible because the American ships have fuel advantages available locally and also may touch the east coast for intercoastal cargoes on their regular voyages. Nine foreign lines now are in operation from here to Europe, but have not the advantage of intercoastal cargoes.

Cooling systems in the American ships for perishable cargoes, Capt. Sandberg said, will naturally come in time with the development of the Pacific Coast-European lines.

AS TO MAIL CONTRACTS

As to mail contracts with lines that operate foreign-flag lines, Capt. Sandberg believes that Congressional legislation will be forthcoming to place American mail contracts with the American-flag ships.

"We need have no illusions as to mail contracts," Capt. Sandberg said. "They simply are government subsidies. It is right and proper that they should be with American-flag lines. Otherwise a foreigner might keep one ship under the American flag and operate as much as he pleased with the contracts in foreign ships."

In shipping generally Capt. Sandberg found conditions improving, and the outlook for a prosperous future good.

"The last two years have shown gratifying progress," Capt. Sandberg said, "although this last year caused some depression. I believe, however, the low peak is past and the upward swing is on. The improvement will be gradual, but ultimately the effects will be prosperous and sound.

"Pacific Coast shipping is greatly benefited by the co-operation and enthusiasm of western shipping men. The bickering and warring among rivals is not present here as elsewhere."

During Capt. Sandberg's stay here he will be guest of honor of several local maritime organizations, including the Bilge Club at San Pedro, of which he became a charter member while traffic manager at the port.

On the 12th inst. Capt. Sandberg will go to San Francisco to be guest on the 15th inst. at a luncheon given him by the Pacific Steamship Owners' Association. Then he will return to Los Angeles to prepare for his return to Washington, although he has not decided whether to go by rail or steamer via the Panama Canal.

KEATON'S TRIAL NEAR END

Jury May be Given Sanity Case of Slayer Today; Testimony Brought to Abrupt Conclusion

With a number of witnesses still in the courtroom ready to testify, both prosecution and defense counsel suddenly closed their cases in the sanity hearing of Frank D. Keaton, slayer of Motley Flint, shortly after 4 p.m. yesterday and the jury of six women and six men probably will be debating the slayer's fate by tonight.

Opening for the prosecution, Dep. Dist.-Atty. William Russell, who, with W. W. Burgess, prosecuted the case, completed his argument to the jury before Superior Judge Schauer adjourned court for the night. Today Defense Counsel Thomas Reynolds will argue for Keaton and will be followed by Paul B. D'Orr. Burgess will close for the prosecution.

According to the law in the case the jurors, who have heard almost three weeks of testimony, with the defense attempting to prove Keaton insane and the prosecution offering evidence to show that he was sane when he shot and killed Flint, will have only the matter of the defendant's sanity to decide.

At the outset of the trial the facts of the case were admitted by D'Orr and Reynolds and a single plea of not guilty by reason of insanity interposed. If Keaton is found sane, then Judge Schauer must sentence him to death or life imprisonment, and if the jury decides he is insane he will be confined in a State hospital for the insane.

Dr. Samuel D. Ingham was the last witness called by the prosecution and no rebuttal testimony was presented by the defense. Dr. Ingham, an alienist of wide reputation, testified that Keaton was sane at the time of the shooting.

"I believe that Keaton knew the nature and quality of his act when he shot Flint," declared Dr. Ingham. "He also knew the difference between right and wrong in relation to the act," he continued. And then the witness stated, "Keaton is not abnormal, but I believe that he was under a terrific strain of emotion at the time of the shooting."

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

AN IMBECILE, not for the moment occupied with making ga-ga noises or rolling his eyes back into his head, is building a house in a neighborhood in which I am interested.

The roof of the house is like that of an Irish thatched cottage. The rough stone chimney is the Tennessee mountain type. The front windows are Gothic church type. These windows are flanked by two fancy striped poles. The master builder apparently is not aware of the fact that they are imitation of the mooring posts of Venetian gondolas. The funny little balconies are—if anything—a cross between Moorish and Venetian.

The funny part is that he is probably proud of his achievement.

FLOOD DEBRIS

Next door to him is a house that started to be a California ranch house with a tiled roof. Not having money for real tiles he put on an imitation tile roof that looks like molasses candy that has started to run.

He has killed the simple lines of his house with windows that have round tops; and he also has two of those Venetian gondola mooring poles. It gives the effect of a house that came drifting down in a flood and stuck.

GIVES ME THE WILLIES

Recently I had to take over a little house whose architecture fascinates me.

Right over the door, perched on the edge of the roof, is a wart that looks like an old-fashioned night-cap; probably cost a lot of time and money. I have been trying to figure it out—what the builder meant it for.

The purpose of the original from which he tried to copy the thing is a canopy roof to keep the snow off the front doorstep. The crowning touch was that he put it on in imitation of the thatched palm roofs of Mexican Sinajos.

AMATEURS ARE POISON

Oh, folks, oh, folks, oh, folks! If you are going to build a house, the cheapest thing you can get is a good architect.

And when you get the architect tell him how many bathrooms you want, and then take a vacation until he finishes the house.

Every time I see an architectural horror I know that the proud owner is going to tell me that "my wife, she planned it herself; all the architect did was to draw up the specifications."

Nature is neglectful in not planning a higher mortality rate for ladies who draw house plans.

THEY JUST GREW

I don't pretend to know a single darn thing about architecture. But I do know this: that if you stick anything on a house, that has not some definite use you are all wet.

All good architecture comes from utility. The lovely mission architecture isn't really architecture. The missions were made of adobe because that was the only material at hand; they were made with beautiful thick walls and buttresses because thin, unsupported mud walls fall down. The roofs were made that shape because the padres couldn't find enough long timber. The doors were simple and beautiful because the Indians didn't know how to make these funny doors that look as though their eyebrows were raised in perpetual astonishment.

NEW MEXICANS TO RALLY

An all-day picnic will be given at South Park, Sunday the 31st inst., by former residents of Eastern New Mexico, A. E. Curren announces.

THOUSANDS OF NEW PUPILS ENTER SCHOOLS OF CITY

An enrollment of 222,943 students for the new school year, constituting an increase of 2110 over that of last year, was announced yesterday by Arthur Gould, assistant superintendent of schools. Moreover, it is expected the total figure will grow even greater within the next week or ten days.

The enrollment is divided as follows: Elementary schools, 134,347, a decrease of 258; junior high schools, 30,780, an increase of 1648; senior high schools, 47,984, an increase of 1286; evening high schools, 9109, a decrease of 319, and junior college, 723, a decrease of 347.

According to Gould, the decrease noted in elementary schools enrollment probably is due to the fact that the fall semester is beginning a week earlier this year and that many pupils have not yet returned from vacations out of town. The decrease in the junior college enrollment is explained by the fact that the number given represents only returned students. Enrollment of new students will begin today and upon completion tomorrow probably will boost the total to well over 2000.

A significant phase of the enrollment is that among the returning students boys are in the majority by 17 per cent.

FOUR OIL PLANS SUBMITTED

Committee Today Expected to Adopt Program Calling for Heavy State Curtailment

Solution of the State's oil-curtailment program rests with the selection of one of four plans when the general committee, headed by Paul Boggs, chairman, meets at 10 a.m. today at the California Oil and Gas Association offices.

At the close of yesterday's session of the fact-finding committee, one plan called for a daily production of 611,500 barrels, a second for 596,000 barrels, a third for 575,000 barrels and a fourth stipulated that 550,000 barrels daily may be put into effect. It was reported that the special committee of eleven, headed by Earl Wagy, recommended adoption of the fourth plan which means that the old plan calling for a daily production of 596,000 barrels of oil will be cut to 550,000 barrels daily, based on decline of sales of petroleum products throughout the Pacific Coast States.

A cut of 52 per cent would be imposed on all of the oil fields in Group No. 1 under the fourth plan, while the thirty-three fields listed under Group No. 2 have cuts from 10 to 98 per cent, depending upon the amount of daily production. The Kettleman Hills oil field would have a cut of 90 per cent and Venice 20 per cent.

Under the fourth plan, as much curtailment as possible is asked from all heavy oil fields while a severe curtailment of light oil is also necessary. No account is taken of unobtainable curtailment in this schedule because the cut is so severe that no field could assume part of another's curtailment burden, according to the plan.

Potential for the State increased 5350 barrels daily for the last half-month period due to new completions in the Venice field. The new State actual potential was set at 1,182,000 barrels daily as against an effective potential of 1,143,745 barrels.

The fact-finding committee's report disclosed that the Elwood oil field with an actual potential of 110,000 barrels daily experienced the greatest cut of any field in point of

YOUNG BANDIT SHOT IN CHASE

Companion Cornered After Pair Flee Officer

Dash Starts at Entrance to Hall of Justice

Flight Made Amid Crowds on Downtown Street

In a daring escape attempt by two 16-year-old youths who led pursuing officers yesterday through the dense late afternoon traffic of upper Main street, one of the fugitives was shot in the right arm and the other surrendered only when cornered by a deputy sheriff with a drawn revolver. The chase started when Joe Dunn and Fred Sergeant broke away from Probation Officer Silman of Merced as the official was entering the door of the Hall of Justice with his prisoners.

Both boys darted down Temple street and separated as they neared the Federal Building.

CHASE STARTED

Deputy Sheriff Jack Shannon, who was standing on the sidewalk recognized the pair as they sped by him and gave the alarm, joining in the chase. He called to Motorcycle Officer R. D. Thompson and the two followed Dunn, shouting for him to stop.

The boy failed to heed the warning shouts and as he reached a doorway opposite the Paris Inn, 110 East Market street, Thompson fired and Dunn dropped with a bullet wound through his right arm near the elbow. Sergant was captured near by when he was confronted with a revolver in the hands of Al Watnes, national adjutant-general of the United Veterans of the Republic, who also is a special deputy sheriff.

WOUND SUPERFICIAL

Dunn was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital where his wound was dressed. Police surgeons said the wound is a superficial one and not dangerous. Sergant was taken to Central Police Station for questioning.

Both boys readily admitted their part in recent automobile and tire thefts and said they had been arrested as Los Banos Sunday night in a stolen car and that they are to appear for trial today on charges of suspicion of grand theft. Dunn further declared that an additional statutory charge has been filed against him in Merced.

Porter Urges Observance of Founders' Week

Mayor Porter yesterday issued a proclamation setting the week beginning on the 14th inst. as a period for offering annual tribute to the founders of the American government. The observance was established through the efforts of the National Committee of the Sons of the American Revolution in memory of the adoption of the national Constitution.

Mayor Porter's proclamation urges all citizens to participate with suitable observance in their homes, in schools and in churches.

AIDE SEEKS WAGE FROM PORTER FOE

Detective Files Salary Clair Against Burke in Mayor's Recall Move

A wage dispute was disclosed yesterday as one of the difficulties encountered in the contemplated recall proceedings against Mayor Porter by Charles W. Burke, private detective and at one time possible choice as reorganizer of the police department.

This developed in the offices of Deputy State Labor Commissioner Richardson when a hearing was held on a complaint by Joe Buchta, detective, charging that Burke was $265 in arrears in salary payments.

Burke denied that he had employed Buchta, saying that the two were to operate as partners to raise subscriptions for a recall movement. Buchta said he had been engaged for thirty-five days at $10 a day.

The hearing was continued until September 9 that Buchta might dig up correspondence for presentation as evidence.

A hearing on the claim of V. A. Parks for $350 for salaries assertedly unpaid by the Southern California campaign committee of Mayor Rolph was continued ten days. It was stated that information sought in San Francisco had not been received.

REYNA FATE IN HANDS OF JURY TODAY

Court's Charge Last Act in Trial of Slayer of Los Angeles Officer

The trial of Juan Reyna, accused of the murder of Verne Brindley, Los Angeles police officer, is expected to come to a close in Superior Judge McComb's court today with a short rebuttal argument by Ugene Bialock, Deputy District Attorney prosecuting the case.

Yesterday virtually the entire day was devoted to the hearing of arguments.

When court adjourned last night Judge McComb indicated that he will give the case to the jury tonight if he has to call a night session.

The complaint against Reyna charges that when he was arrested, charged with a traffic law violation, he seized the revolver of Officer Brindley and killed him. Reyna asserts that the officer beat him over the head severely with the butt of his revolver and that because of the beating he was not responsible for what followed.

Meyer Divorce Decree Granted

Charles A. Meyer, former president of a local soap company, was granted a divorce from his wife, Nora Forthmann Meyer, in the District Court at Reno yesterday, according to dispatches. Mrs. Meyer did not contest the case.

Extreme jealousy, fault finding and nagging were charged by Meyer. He also said that she forced his resignation from the soap company through her stock holdings in the corporation. They were married in this city in 1912 and have a daughter 16 years of age.

Bolivian Urges Ore Smelter Here

Chamber Official and South American

John C. Austin, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and J. L. Tejada.

CITY TOLD: TIN MAKES GOLD

Possible Next President of Bolivia Pictures Los Angeles as World Smelting Center

Declaring that Southern California is an ideal location for a tin smelter and that the Southland has an opportunity to save vast sums of money for the State by manufacturing tin plate here, J. L. Tejada, prominently mentioned as the next President of Bolivia, told representative citizens at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday that he looks to Los Angeles as the future tin-distributing center of the world.

Declaring that Bolivia, next to the Malay Peninsula, is the world's largest producer of tin and that the United States uses 60 per cent of the world's production of tin, Mr. Tejada deplored the fact that there is not in the States a smelter to handle Bolivia's ore which is sent to England for smelting, the refined product being sent from that country to all parts of the world at England's price.

LOGICAL PLACE

"From the producing centers of Bolivia, it is 8000 miles to England," said the speaker. "By the time you get your tin in California you have paid freight on the ore to England and on the finished product, plus cost of manufacturing. From Bolivia to Los Angeles it is 4000 miles. Geographically and climatically, this section of California is logically the place for a great smelter.

"It should be easy, also, to solve the fuel problem, with your cheap oil, natural gas and electricity. Furthermore, you have right at your door the market for the finished product. The problem of labor is insignificant because of the fact that the large smelting plant requires few laborers, nearly all of the work being done by machinery."

"Today tin is practically a European monopoly, and if the same thing happens to tin that happened to rubber, California would be the big loser," said Mr. Tejada. "Industrial Southern California should awaken to her opportunity. You now are handling Bolivia's iron, zinc and lead. Now take another step and add tin.

"BOON TO WORLD"

"Do you realize that it is cheaper to ship tin ore from Singapore to Los Angeles than from Singapore to England? There is no coal in Bolivia's highlands and we have no way to smelt our ore. The establishment of a refinery in Southern California would be a boon to the world and, incidentally, would tend to further the friendship now existing between the United States and Bolivia."

Mr. Tejada said that within the last decade the United States has consumed 60 per cent of the world's tin, much of it having been used by canners of California. In 1928, he said, the United States used 106,000 tons of pure tin, 78,000 tons having been imported and nearly all the rest "recovered." California alone used 250,000 tons of tin last year.

Father to Pay for Operation

Divorced six years, Mrs. Matilda Evelyn Wood and Templeton W. Wood yesterday opposed each other in court, where Superior Judge Smith ordered Wood to pay $143 for surgical treatment of their daughter, Marguerite, 13 years of age. Wood had refused to pay the bills, asserting he was not consulted regarding the operations for adenoids and tonsils.

Superior Judge Archbald granted Wood a divorce and custody of the child May 20, 1924. When Wood remarried Mrs. Wood gained custody of the daughter. Wood lives in Pasadena.

Hanging Case Inquiry Closes

Investigation into the death of Otho Staples, 39 years of age, patient of the Norwalk State Hospital, who hanged himself last Tuesday night, was closed yesterday by the Sheriff's office.

Staples, who was committed to the institution from Glendale last May, was discovered by attendants. Efforts to revive him were futile. No inquest into his death will be conducted.

The hanging marked the second in as many days by patients at the hospital. Last Monday Steve C. Cramley, 57, hanged himself in a similar manner with bedclothes.

AWARD GIVEN YOUTH FOR CRASH INJURIES

A verdict awarding $6000 damages to Charles E. Barker, 18 years of age, was returned yesterday in Superior Judge Tryon's court by a jury which tried the youth's suit against Dr. F. W. Siegmund, a physician. Barker asserted he received serious foot injuries August 23, 1929, when the physician's car collided with one in which he was riding at Berendo and San Marino streets.

production during the last half-month period. Elwood produced at the rate of 37,250 barrels daily from August 16 to 31, inclusive, emphasizing the strict curtailment program being observed by the operators there. Under a recent agreement, Elwood operators cut back until the various projects produced less than their allowable, permitting the completion of new wells. This arrangement allowed the producers to establish a potential by having open-flow tests without endangering the curtailment program.

WIFE CHEWED SNUFF, HUSBAND COMPLAINS

Snuff chewing by his wife was complained of by Cortland; Travis yesterday in asking for a divorce from Juanita M. Travis. Superior Judge Falk granted a decree on grounds of desertion. Travis said his wife would leave home without explanation for periods as long as two months. At a breakfast last May she threw a cup of hot coffee in his face, the husband complained. Attorney Wilbert C. Hamilton represented Travis.

CIVIC THEATER GROUP FORMED

Repertory Movement will be Sponsored in City

Building Planned Later on Hollywood Bowl Site

Membership will be Sold to Sustain New Venture

Planning to place drama on a civic basis and give it the same high standing that music, literature and allied arts now occupy in Los Angeles, a new organization to sponsor and direct the Civic Repertory Theater movement was completed here yesterday.

A. C. BALCH

The new group, known as the Bowl Theater Association, in addition to sponsoring the Civic Repertory Theater, will consider the erection in the future of a theater on the Hollywood Bowl property for an academy of drama, with a faculty and with provision for the teaching of dancing, painting, music and allied arts.

LEADER CHOSEN

Presidency of the Bowl Theater Association was accepted yesterday by A. C. Balch, who holds a similar position with the Hollywood Bowl Association. First vice-president is David T. Babcock, president of the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association, and Richard J. Schweppe, second vice-president, also identified with that body. Ben R. Meyer is treasurer. Other directors are Gretchen Hazael Copper, Mrs. Josephine P. Everett, E. W. Martin and Lawrence C. Mallell. C. A. Copper has been named secretary-manager. Offices are at 810 West Sixth street.

While the Bowl Theater Association will sponsor and manage the Civic Repertory Theater, it is not to be responsible for its financial obligations, Mr. Balch said. Ways and means for sustaining the repertory movement, however, are being considered. Already a number of foundation memberships at $1000 apiece have been promised as well as a number of sustaining memberships at $100 each.

MEMBERS TO BE SOUGHT

Active memberships in the organization to the number of 50,000 will be sought at $1 each. In addition to these memberships season tickets will be sold. It is hoped within the next year to obtain 15,000 regular season ticket subscribers. In New York, the Theater Guild has 65,000 on annual subscription basis.

A feature of the repertory movement here, according to Mr. Balch, will be the fact that maximum season tickets will be available at $1.25 per seat, while in New York the season ticket price for the same plays runs from $4 to $6.

Long Wait for Divorce Ended

A divorce was won yesterday by Harry Smolovitz, who tried to obtain one twenty years ago only to be refused by the rabbinical tribunal to which he had applied in Poland. Superior Judge Hahn granted the decree.

Shortly after they were married April 10, 1910, in Warsaw, the husband complained, Mrs. Smolovitz moved all their furniture back to her father's home. Smolovitz said he tried to get a rabbinical divorce but was refused because a child was expected. Since that time, he asserted, his wife has forced him out of jobs all over Europe and America.

King Baggot Sued by Wife

King Baggott, motion-picture actor, director and writer, is being sued for divorce by Mrs. Ruth Baggott, whose suit was called for trial yesterday before Superior Judge Tryon, and was continued until the 17th inst. Mrs. Baggott asserts desertion.

Her complaint gives the actor's name as William King Baggott, and recites they were married December 3, 1912, and separated August 1, 1926. They have one son, Robert King Baggott, 16 years of age. The actor husband is not contesting, it was asserted.

SHE GOT ROUGH, HUSBAND SAYS

Wife Broke Dishes, Bit Him, Shot at Him and Hit Him, Spouse Complains

Breaking their dishes was just one of the things James Winfrey Wyne asserts his wife Phyllis did, as set forth in his cross-complaint for divorce. Other things he says she did are:

Tried to smash the furniture.

Bit him on the shoulder.

Shot a rifle at him—missed.

Locked him out of home five times.

Hit him on the head when he tried to open a window.

Also, the husband concludes, she failed to cook or keep house for him, and finally left him and sued for divorce on grounds he says are false.

Mrs. Wyne complains that Wyne was abusive, did not provide, told her he did not love her and that he did not wish to waste money on her.

MORTICIANS MAKE VISIT TO HOSPITAL

Funeral Directors Here for Convention Listen to Two Addresses

Delegates to the twenty-sixth annual convention of the California Funeral Directors' Association yesterday afternoon inspected the new Los Angeles County Hospital after hearing two addresses at the morning session in the Biltmore.

James F. Collins, director of the State Department of Professional and Vocational Standards, explained the workings of the State law requiring registration of persons engaged in various professions, and Dr. N. W. Wood, superintendent of the County Hospital, spoke on "The Public Relations of the County Hospitals, Especially With Reference to the Funeral Director."

Reports of the secretary and treasurer were heard. Delegates were informed that their organization is in a healthy condition.

The convention will be resumed today.

KEATON SANITY TRIAL NEAR END

Burgess and cross-examination by D'Orr the alienist for most of the day stuck to his opinion of Keaton's sanity and gave his reasons for reaching his opinion. He went into great detail regarding Keaton's brain condition and declared that he was not suffering from any serious brain injury.

Early yesterday Dr. Ben Blank, County Jail surgeon, testified for the prosecution that he had observed Keaton during his stay in the County Jail and found him to be normal. Dr. Thomas J. Orbison, another State alienist, who testified at length several days ago, returned to the witness stand to identify a number of pictures of Flint's body showing where Keaton's three bullets had pierced the retired banker's breast.

FACTS OF KILLING

No mention came yesterday of Rev. R. P. Shuler, whose broadcasting, according to what Keaton told Dr. Orbison as testified to by the alienist, filled the slayer's mind when he did the shooting. Also no testimony was advanced relative to a booklet written by Shuler and according to the police discovered by them in Keaton's pocket after the killing.

The facts of the killing as admitted by the defense show that just before noon on July 14 Keaton arose from a seat in Superior Judge Collier's court and shot Flint as he was leaving the witness stand after having given testimony in a civil action. Later Keaton, who made no effort to escape, declared that he had lost a small fortune on the stock market and blamed Flint and others who he claimed had been connected with the Julian Petroleum Corporation crash. At Central Police Station where he was questioned Keaton denied that he had Shuler's booklet in his pocket and said that he had only listened to C. C. Julian broadcast over the radio.

KANSANS WILL PICNIC

More than 10,000 Jayhawkers are expected to attend the annual fall picnic rally of the Kansas Society slated for the 13th inst. at Sycamore Grove. County registers will be open all day, and a program will follow the basket lunch.

AFTER 40 AILMENT

"PROTECT health between 20 and 40," urges the medical profession. Upon the care taken during this span, determines health in later life.

The wear and tear of life begins to take its toll at 40 unless you fortify against it. One of the most prevalent after 40 ailments is kidney breakdown. Over half of men and women are affected.

Kidneys, through constant passing off of 75% of waste matter from the system, are overworked. Congestion occurs, throwing back into the system poisons which should be eliminated. This is the forerunner of more serious ills.

"Begin at 20 to protect against this after 40 ailment," doctors say. Drink 6 glasses of Puritas distilled water each day. Waste matter in the system is soluble in water; is absorbed and carried off. Thus the load of kidneys is lightened. Protected against excessive strain, their life of normal functioning is lengthened.

Ordinary water fails, in a large measure, in these results because of minerals it contains. These deposit in kidneys, adding further to congestion. Puritas is both mineral-free and impurity-free, made so by scientific distillation. Thus Puritas is drinking water in purest, most healthful form. Though its taste seems different at first, each drink you'll increasingly enjoy.

Members of Central Committee Get Busy

Chairmanship Battle Due at Meeting Wednesday

Showing of Mayor in Primary Stirs Talk

BY THE WATCHMAN

Accompanied by considerable carrying around, consultations, naming of lists and comparing of notes, the newly elected members of the Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee—300 strong—are preparing for their organization meeting next Wednesday and the election of a chairman to succeed Col. W. E. Fowler.

Indications of a sharp fight between the Fowler partisans and those opposing his re-election were apparent yesterday, and Chairman Fowler, apparently deciding to lose no time in consolidating his position, has called a meeting for tomorrow, at which it is hoped that differences may overcome the opposition.

Of secondary interest is the preliminary maneuvering by those interested in the naming of a new committee secretary. Mrs. Helen Fowler is understood to be leading in this race, although those said to be in her confidence indicate that she may not permit her name to go before the county conven-

MAYOR PORTER LAGS

The relatively poor showing of Mayor Porter in his candidacy for the County Central Committee in the Fifty-eighth District, where two of the Mayor's closest political advisers, Albert Sherman and W. C. Mushet, were defeated in a field of forty-six, was the subject of much comment among those interested in local political situation.

Mayor Porter ran tenth among the sixteen men and women elected in the district.

The outcome of the Republican committee chairmanship contest became a matter of doubt yesterday as a result of the intensive work of Fowler's opponents to upset his plans for retaining control of the committee machinery.

It is understood that committee-men friendly to Mayor Rolph of San Francisco, Republican nominee for Governor, are not disposed to support the incumbent, who also is an active opposition from adherents of Gov. Young. A group of former service men in the committee is said to favor the election of a new chairman.

CANVASSING GOES ON

Chairman Fowler, however, has apparently intrenched himself and friends say that much difficulty will be encountered by those hoping to defeat him.

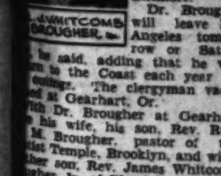
The names of the newly elected members of the central committee will be announced tomorrow, according to officials of the election canvassing board last night, who worked through the day until 9 p.m.

The election canvassing board is still busy making a canvass of the primary election. A number of precinct boards have been summoned before the board to explain discrepancies in their tally sheets. So far there has been nothing of any consequence that would make any material changes in the count, Mame Beatty, secretary of the board, said.

ROUGHER STOPS HERE FOR VISIT

Former Pastor of This City on Way to Boston After Outing in Oregon

On his way back to Boston to resume his duties as pastor of the Tremont Temple Baptist Church after a two-month vacation in the Pacific Northwest, Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, for sixteen years pastor of the Temple Baptist Church here, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and registered at the Biltmore.



Dr. Brougher will leave Los Angeles tomorrow or Saturday, he said, adding that he will return to the Coast each year for holidays. The clergyman vacationed at Gearhart, Or.

With Dr. Brougher at Gearhart were his wife, his son, Rev. Russell M. Brougher, pastor of the Tremont Temple, Brooklyn, and wife; their son, Rev. James Whitcomb Brougher, Jr., of Glendale, and wife; Dr. Brougher's mother, Mrs. Isabelle Morse of Boston; Mrs. Hannah Notthoff and son Stanley, friends of the family, also of Boston, two daughters, Mrs. Norman A. Bell and Mrs. Walter M. Saint of Los Angeles, and a grandchild, Isabelle Saint.

On his way down the coast Dr. Brougher attended the national biennial convention of Royal Arch Masons at Tacoma. He spoke yesterday in Oakland. Tonight he will address Masons and Knights Templars at Glendale. His son Russell will be initiated.

POWLER FIGHT EXCITES G.O.P.

Members of Central Committee Get Busy

Chairmanship Battle Due at Meeting Wednesday

Showing of Mayor in Primary Stirs Talk

BY THE WATCHMAN

...companied by considerable ...rrying around, consultations, ...king of lists and comparing of ..., the newly elected members ... the Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee—300 strong ...en preparing for their organization ...eeting next Wednesday and ...ecision of a chairman to succeed Col. W. E. Fowler.

...Indications of a sharp fight between the Fowler partisans and those opposing his re-election were ...ppearing yesterday, and Chairman Fowler, apparently deciding to lose ...ne time in consolidating his position, has called a meeting for tomorrow, at which it is hoped that ...e may overcome the opposition.

Of primary interest is the prevailing uncovering by those interested in the naming of a new ...ommittee secretary. Mrs. Helen ...Wright is understood to be leading ...in this race, although those said ...to be in her confidence indicate that ...she may not permit her name to ...come before the county conven...

MAYOR PORTER LAGS

The relatively poor showing of ...Porter in his candidacy for ...County Central Committee in ...Forty-eighth District, where two ...of the Mayor's closest political ad... Albert Sherman and W. C. ..., were defeated in a field of ...six, was the subject of much ...among those interested in ...local political situation.

...Porter ran tenth among ...eleven men and women elected ...district.

...understood that committeemen friendly to Mayor Rolph of San Francisco, Republican nominee for Governor, are not disposed to support the incumbent, who also ...active opposition from adherents of Gov. Young. A group of ...younger men in the committee is said to favor the election of a new Chairman.

CHIVVYING GOES ON

Chairman Fowler, however, has strongly intrenched himself and his friends say that much difficulty will be encountered by those hoping to oust him.

Many of the newly elected members of the central committee will be announced tomorrow, according to officials of the election canvassing board last night, who worked through the day until 9 p.m.

The election canvassing board is still busy making a canvass of the primary election. A number of ...ballot boards have been summoned before the board to explain discrepancies in their tally sheets. So far there has been nothing of any consequence that would make any material changes in the count, ...Minne Beatty, secretary of the board, said.

BROUGHER STOPS HERE FOR VISIT

Former Pastor of This City on Way to Boston After Outing in Oregon

On his way back to Boston to resume his duties as pastor of the Temple Baptist Church after a two-month vacation in the Pacific Northwest, Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, for sixteen years pastor of the Temple Baptist Church here, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and registered at the Biltmore.

Dr. Brougher will leave Los Angeles tomorrow or Saturday, it is said, adding that he will ...to the Coast each year for ...years. The clergyman vacationed at Gearhart, Or., ...with Dr. Brougher at Gearhart ...by his wife, his son, Rev. Russell M. Brougher, pastor of the ...Central Temple, Brooklyn, and wife; ...other son, Rev. BULLOCK'S

An Outstanding September

New Hats of Austrian Soleil $6.45

"Knitted Suits Lead In Fall Sportswear" —Paris cables

$55 BOUCLE'

These Bullock's Suits Are Finer! Read Why:

There is more than color and line to really fine Boucle Suits like these at $55. The yarn is most important! In these suits, the yarn is as it should be; fine but heavy, and knotted at tiny intervals to produce a firm weave that will keep its trim lines. (Wider knotting found in many ordinary suits is apt to result in sagging after short wear.)

Superior Styling at $55

It would be superior in Bullock's Sportswear Suits! The sweater-like blouses are beautifully cut. The skirts hang with an air that only a master tailor can achieve. Colors are those smartest for Fall:

English Green — Copper-Glo
Warm Browns — Purple
Black — Navy

The $55 is a special price concession for this "outstanding September!"

Today's Bible Text

Quench not the Spirit. Despise not prophesyings. Prove all things; hold fast that which is good. Abstain from all appearance of evil.—I Thess. v, 19-22.

THEY'RE ALL WET

The Illinois Democrats have a platform so wet that it dribbles all over the State. It not only demands the repeal of the Volstead and other enforcement acts, but it puts in an order for the immediate service of wine and beer. In fancy—the wildest fancy—one may almost see the handsome waiter gliding down the aisle with his uplifted tray.

LUXURY TAX DENIED

The Legislature in Colombia finally turned down a bill which would place an almost prohibitory tax upon American motor cars, radios, pianos, phonographs and other so-called luxuries. The Colombians are realising that some of these luxuries are necessities and it is advisable to get them as cheaply as possible. There is no sense in putting jazz out of the reach of the humblest citizen.

TOO MANY JAILS

In the last fifty years England has grown much, but it is asserted that in this period the prison population of the country has been reduced more than one-half. This in spite of the fact there are now many felonies and offenses that were unknown half a century ago. It is added in this connection that numerous jails and prisons have been sold or offered for sale for want of business. There is no use in the administration having a massive hoosegow if it is only to be occupied by rats and spiders. England was in the thick of the war, but the country does not seem to have accumulated much of a crime wave in its wake. The thing is that when there is crime punishment is swift and sure. There are no dilly-dallying motions by tricky attorneys. Justice goes into action with celerity.

FALSE PRETENSES

The Democrats have always sought to find disaster in the nation and then attempt to make it a political tragedy for which the Republicans must be wholly blamed. Robert H. Lucas, the new head of the Republican executive committee, shows how the Democratic orators are trying to influence the Congressional elections by asserting that any business depression or unemployment that may exist in the country may be directly traced to the Republican administration. The administration is also blamed for all of last year's happenings in the stock market. The Democrats actually enjoy their calamities if they can tax them upon their rivals. They are happy when they are miserable because they can argue that the Republicans must be responsible for their ills. They are not fact-finders—they are likely to be embarrassed by the facts; but as fault finders they are the cream of the parade. But Americans know better than to attempt to correct their ailments by electing a Democratic Congress. That would be a plunge from the frying pan into the fire. There is where tragedy lies.

OUTPOSTS OF EMPIRE

It seems a bit rough when a people voluntarily abandon a country where they have had a vigorous history for more than a thousand years. But that is what is happening on the island of St. Kilda, the chilly outpost of the wind-swept Hebrides. The population has dwindled to thirty-six shivery souls and now the government will move them and their sheep to the mainland or to another island of the Hebrides group. The presumption is that they can take their choice.

The island is less than three miles in diameter and its coast is skirted by repellent cliffs nearly 1000 feet high. It is mighty hard for the best of seamen to make the island and it is virtually inaccessible for nine months of the year. Icy rains, black fogs and frozen winds are a part of the regular diet. The residents are hardy, but they are seldom happy and they should be glad to get away from their anchorage—even if they have called it home.

The Hebrides were known to Ptolemy and Pliny and they were fought over for centuries by the Norsemen, Scots and other cold-wave battlers. Thus showing that a lot of nations do not care so much what they are fighting for as long as they can get up a scrap. St. Kilda is the wildest outlander of the group.

MANY HAPPY RETURNS

On this, the one hundred and forty-ninth anniversary of her birth, Miss Los Angeles summons her family of a million and a quarter children to join today in a joyous fiesta and to celebrate with her the happy event in true Southwestern spirit. Out of regard for the house of her nativity she will resume for the occasion her Spanish costume and dress up her modern mansion in the historic colors of the past. She invites all interested in our Mexican and early California traditions to meet her with a glad hand and make her birthday a typical Spanish-American reunion.

The lifelong upholders of the prestige we have acquired from our romantic history, who have devoted weeks of hard work to the planning of this birthday fiesta, have done our city a service to warrant our best support and co-operation. No one attending the big doings tonight, centering at the Plaza and the Paseo de Los Angeles, but will come away with a better realisation of the fact that our city has a past to look back upon no less than a future to look forward to—and that it is as worth while to preserve the one as to build up to the other.

Pageantry, dancing, music and parades, all harking back to the days when Los Angeles was born of faith and the wilderness, will give the right historical atmosphere for pleasure seekers and merry makers celebrating our city's foundation. At sunset the little company of Spanish soldiers, headed by Philip de Neve, will again dedicate our city on the same spot where they stood 149 years ago, with the same ceremonies and prayers. Padres, caballeros, Indians, pioneers, bandits, will again tread the streets in which in years long past they helped to make Californian history. Mexican musicians and strolling players will come next in order to finish with costume and street dancing in a general fres for all.

This is the first time we have kept formally our city's birthday. Santa Barbara and Monterey have made commemoration of their Spanish-American origins an annual event and through it have won eclat and applause to enhance their reputation in cities and communities far removed from the Pacific. The spirit only needs quickening in Los Angeles to do as much for the first city of the south.

Certainly the inspiration is not lacking. Nor can one imagine a spectacle better assured to illustrate the progress made by a California city than a reproduction of the Spanish padres and men-at-arms marking with a cross the site for a possible pueblo almost under the shadow of one of the noblest civic monuments to America's constructive genius. One may well ask whether the faith and vision of the men who built our City Hall and those who are adding month by month ever grander structures to our city exceeded (or even equaled) the faith and vision of the twelve poor peon families who set up the first mud huts around De Neve's desert cross.

So it is with a lesson for the future as well as with a tribute to the past that all loyal sons and daughters of modern Los Angeles will respond to the call to attend a two-day fiesta in her honor and to wish her in the good old-fashioned phrase, "Many Happy Returns of the Day." The greeting, indeed, is particularly appropriate today, since from now on a September 4 celebration is to be an annual event.

The present commemoration is, in fact, a try-out, a preview, a full-dress rehearsal, as it were, for the still bigger and more elaborate festivities planned for 1931, when our city will stage its sesquicentennial anniversary. It will give our citizens a foretaste of what they may expect next year when Los Angeles enters on the one hundred and fiftieth year of its unparalleled growth and development. Enthusiasm manifested by the celebrants today and tomorrow will afford well-deserved encouragement to the patriotic organizations and the many individuals whose pride in the history of their city prompted them to undertake the heavy work of preparing for these birthday feasts.

SEATTLE'S EXPERIMENT

With Seattle banks holding $300,000 in uncashable pay-roll warrants for employees of the municipal street railway, interest on purchase bonds two years unpaid, the City Council and the voters unwilling to give relief from tax funds, fares at 10 cents and eqnipment falling to pieces for lack of repair, Seattle's brave experiment in municipal ownership seems to be entering its last disastrous phase. Mayor Edwards has appointed a committee of citizens—a new committee, others having given up the problem—to discover a way out of the mess, but there is not much hope that they will do so.

Seattle acquired the lines from Stone & Webster just after the war, the municipal ownership enthusiasts promising better service, lower fares, a substantial revenue for the city, free paving of streets, higher wages for employees and so on, none of which has come to pass. The higher wages were in evidence for a time, but these have now evaporated since employees, at present, are receiving only warrants which they can only cash at heavy discount, if at all.

Among the proposals seriously being considered is that the city should default on its bonds and turn the system back to Stone & Webster, which is said to be extremely unwilling to take it in the present rundown condition. Paving between the tracks, which has not been done, would alone require an immediate expenditure of $3,000,000 to $4,000,000. A default, of course, would injure the credit of the city very materially and in the long run probably would prove more costly to the taxpayers than to shoulder the burden now, but even the ABC's of public finance are difficult for the generality of voters to understand.

Other plans include turning over the lines to a nonpolitical business men's commission, with complete power to act for a term of years; a levy in the tax rate to raise $600,000 a year; strict enforcement of the antijitney law; higher fares, required by ordinance, for taxicabs, and one or two other expedients. The compulsory raising of taxicab fares is said to be favored by the Mayor, who wants the minimum set at 25 cents instead of 10.

Only under municipal ownership would it be proposed to force the public to use a form of transportation it did not want. There is a parallel, however, in Australia, where automobile travel is discouraged in various ways to help the government-owned railways.

Seattle, it is evident, will not get out of its experiment with political management of business enterprises cheaply, whatever it does. If it repudiates its obligations it will be able to borrow money in the future only at ruinous rates of interest; if it pays up, it will have a wrecked and unsalable street-car system on its hands; if it attempts to continue operations it can do so only at a continuing loss; if it tries to lease the system to private operators, it can expect no return or little on the investment. Under the peculiar conditions in Seattle—which has spread out so that many single-fare rides are fifteen miles in length—it is possible that even efficient management could not have kept the street railways going and made them pay. But city management has proved itself hopeless.

The experiment, while looking like a loss to Seattle, will be valuable to municipalities in general if they will profit by the example and leave business to business men, with such regulation as is required by circumstances.

WATCHING THE ECLIPSE

In October the astronomers of the world will drag their limbs far away to the Tonga Archipelago, where on a dinky little island on which but two white men may be found they will vision the total eclipse of the sun, which is billed for October 21. This particular island is said to be the only spot on earth where the eclipse will be complete and it is no trick for the sky spies to locate it. The scientists will carry quite a lot of equipment with them and the camera will play a vital part in their observations. Hope it doesn't rain that day.

FISHERMAN'S LUCK

There are also fish stories from the East. Incidentally John Wanamaker, Jr., has been having good luck. One day from the deck of his yacht he snagged a 600-pound swordfish and the next he harpooned a young white whale which was twenty-five feet long and weighed over 6000 pounds. The family will have fish for dinner all the week.

LEE SIDE O' LA
By Lee Shippey

IF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA were a separate geographical division a good name for it would be Gasarabia, for above all others it is the land of the Gas Arabs. Not only has it more motor cars of its own than any other geographical division, but it is the goal of hundreds of thousands of Gas Arabs from other places every year and within its limits are so many places one wishes to see that the Gas Arabs continually are folding their tents and stealing away—sometimes so silently that even the landlord doesn't know it.

Time was when touring was the pastime of the idle rich, here it is the pastime of everybody. The man who has only a flivver he bought for $50 can load his seventeen children into it—somehow—and pack all the household goods and a tent on the sides and back—somehow—and hie away wherever fancy calls. You rarely see a Packard or La Salle or Pierce Arrow overflowing with family and never with household goods, but all you have to do is park awhile by the side of the road to see some inexpensive car going by with a load which makes experienced moving men marvel. For when the family must go for a vacation and must—or prefers to—roll its own, the number of things a small car can be made to carry is ample proof that the age of miracles is not past.

From which preface all of you who are good jumpers and know our rambling style—and habits—may jump to the conclusion that we have become a Gas Arab.

Oldest Living Things

'Tis true. Though we can't drive a car and have none, neighbor Hinkley has a Ford and is having a vacation. Furthermore, his child and our young rascals get along well together. So the three Hinkleys and four of the Shippeys now are among the Gas Arabs you see going by with a lot of gear strapped on the car and wonder how they do it.

But ever since we were a little boy we have wanted to see the big trees. We used to see pictures of monster trees and think they could not be real, but were akin to the pictures in the fairy-story books we still found interesting. During our years in Los Angeles we have been up among the noble pines of Big Bear, Lake Arrowhead and elsewhere in the San Bernardino Mountains, but we hadn't realized that Sequoia National Park and the Giant Forest are only about eight hours' drive from Los Angeles (if you're a good liar) and not more than twelve hours of ordinary, average driving, with frequent pauses en route. And up there you can see the biggest and oldest living things in all the world, forests which were growing when Moses hurled down his tablets of stone and started a fad which lawmakers have never gotten over, that of throwing laws at us wholesale, hit or miss.

Joys of Night Traveling

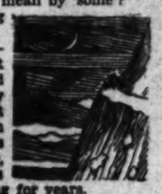
It's a hot drive up to Sequoia in the daytime just now, but if one leaves Los Angeles at 9 o'clock in the evening, as we did, it is delightful. Even driving over the "grapevine" of the Ridge Route is delightful. That forty-five miles of corkscrew road is one of the wonders of the world. Engineers say there never was another like it—and never will be another. It's a track a snake couldn't follow without getting dizzy. But by moonlight, when the big stars hang so low in the clear atmosphere that one thinks they are traffic signals, it is a very lovely drive, even when seven of you are in one Ford, with two children asleep on your laps.

Had we been out for a record we could have driven through to Sequoia in one trick. But when we swept into Tulare at 2:30 a.m. our helpspend woke from a little nap and asked if we had been able to sleep any.

"Some," we said, shifting Frank asleep in our arms.

"What do you mean by 'some'?"

"Well, one leg at a time."



So we drove into an all-night auto camp and found more joy in stretching out full length on comfortable beds than Rockefeller, we'll bet, has found in anything for years.

The New "Wayside Inn"

We don't know what auto camps are doing to the hotel business, but they must be doing a good deal. They must have run most of the smaller ones out of business. They have become the cases in which tens of thousands of Gas Arabs rest from their travels. The proprietor of that one in Tulare told us that auto camps are not merely camps where travelers take their one-night rest, but places to which whole families come for weeks or even months—people looking for locations or for work or people who are just restless, twentieth-century gypsies who have no address, some of whom swap cars as other gypsies used to swap horses, and some of whom seem to have as little definite plan of earning a livelihood.

The auto-camp proprietor also ran a lunch stand in which we breakfasted—coffee for adults, milk for children, Persian melon for all and some other things out of our own hamper—and they charged us only 45 cents for the melons, coffee and milk! Good coffee and cream only 5 cents. We realized that even so close to Los Angeles we had found the land of old times. We realized it more as we drove out past big, old-fashioned barns, past huge haystacks made to resist wind and weather and peach and apple orchards ruddy with fruit. Tulare is a pretty town and it would do any former midwesterner good to drive through those orchards and haystacks of Tulare county.

And so we drove on to the land we used to think a fairy tale, the land of the biggest and oldest living things in all the world. As we write this a bear cub is looking down on us from one of those marvelous redwood trees and an inquisitive four-point buck is showing a desire to eat up our manuscript and save "our public" from being bored.

They're wonderfully smart, these "wild" animals of Sequoia Park. But more of that tomorrow.

PUTTING IT OVER
By James J. Montague

When some hot information he has to convey Concerning new sweet-bearing plants,
The bee, so the great apiarians say,
Performs an interpretive dance.
His jiggles and capers are carefully planned
He moves with such method around
That his mates who observe him at last understand
Where more honey or wax may be found.

The buzz of a bee means just nothing at all,
It is made by his fluttering wings,
But the workers around him are stirred by the call
Of his reels and fandangoes and flings,
And when he has fallen, more dead than alive,
And lies in a faint on the floor
They hasten in hordes from their home in the hive
And gather their sugary store.

I suppose that his gestures are always exact,
He must be a marvel, indeed,
To relate, by the means of a pantomine act
A story his fellows can read,
Concerning the distance, direction and kind
Of the flowers he's found on his flight,
So the swarm needs but merely to go forth and find,
Being sure that the dope was quite right.

I have watched many limber-limbed women and men
Who sought to relate, by the dance,
Some tale too abstruse for the voice or the pen,
But I gazed at them all quite askance,
To arouse any thought or emotion in me
They were never quite gifted enough,
The sense in their gestures I never could see,
But it seems that the bee knows his stuff.

Airports

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] From your issue of the 30th I see that the Chamber of Commerce is recommending that either the county or the city purchase Mines Field.

Both the Municipal League and the joint civic bodies which met in the Los Angeles City Club at the time the leasing of some suitable location for an airport was being discussed originally, opposed the Mines Field location. At a meeting held in the City Club, of which I was chairman, a committee was appointed to join with a committee from the Municipal League to appear before the City Council and protest against Mines Field. At that time the City Council arbitrarily refused to hear these committees and railroaded through the Martin scheme to lease the Mines Field.

The Chamber of Commerce is acting against the recommendation of Ford Carpenter in his report to that body.

Why did the Maddux Company abandon Mines Field and why are other fields being used as landing ports?

The El Monte Field is much superior, both on account of visibility and accessibility, and for that reason, as well as others, those who opposed the leasing of Mines Field will protest against its purchase.

Kindly give space for publication of this intimation.

R. W. HADDEN.

The Grape Situation

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] To quote from a recent Times editorial: "It is plain that the grape stabilization program will not be able to accomplish all that it was hoped for. It is a disappointing result for the growers." Must the stabilization program fail? Need the growers be disappointed? Need we recognize 770,000 tons of grapes as a surplus?

A six-or-eight-month raisin campaign would literally eat up our 770,000-ton surplus. With the support of a popular newspaper (or newspapers) a program could be carried through that would assure success, and without expenditure of the hundreds of thousands of dollars used in the advertising program for raisins of some eight or ten years ago.

Sketchily outlined here are a few of the measures that would ameliorate our situation:

A weekly raisin day—when every family in the State would be urged to "Use More Raisins" in their cooking; to serve at least one dish in which raisins are used.

The restaurants to "Use More Raisins"—to feature raisin pies, raisin puddings, raisin muffins, raisin salads on their daily menus.

The hospitals, institutions, dietitians—should be urged to include raisin dishes on their trays and tables.

The fruit and grocery markets should make special displays of grapes and raisins, using the advertising matter from the raisin packers.

The bakers and confectioners should be urged to "Use More Raisins"—for cakes, cookies, fruit bars, for chocolate covering, raisin fudge, raisin pastes, raisin-filled bonbons. For bon voyage or gift baskets, raisins are especially attractive tied in bright cellophane papers.

Our women's clubs, State and civic organizations—get them behind the movement, bringing pressure to bear upon these restaurants, markets, bakers, etc.

A recipe contest—Let Chef Wyman offer a $5 weekly prize for the best recipe using raisins. On the day this recipe is printed let others be carried. (We women are fiends for recipes!) Prize money could be subscribed from one or more of the raisin packers.

Over 400,000 school children could be interested in the campaign through a slogan contest or the writing of essays. Prize money could be subscribed as for the recipe contest.

Members of the medical profession could be "interviewed" and their statements published in cleverly written daily features in the news columns. Surely these features could be made as fascinating reading as yeast advertisements.

County fairs are already in progress—an opportune time for raisin exhibits. "Use More Raisins" propaganda. raisin cookery promotions, etc.

Our raisin surplus is a crisis in California agricultural history. It is a rare opportunity for Southern California to seize—leading altruistically in surmounting such a crisis.

LESS SHOWY RADIO CABINETS

The radio has become such a necessary part of our home equipment that it is a wonder the manufacturers wouldn't try to suit the home and the womenfolk with less fancy cabinets. Most of the cabinets on the market are too showy and not at all in keeping with the average home. Apart from being "gingerbready" they are too highly polished and not a few screech to the skies of poor wood badly varnished. Men may like the "gorgeous" appearance of the average run of cabinet, but not the women. We want furniture that is inconspicuous and harmonious. Only in New York did we see radio sets fitted into practical pieces of furniture, such as a lowboy, a Gov. Winthrop desk, end tables and the like.—[The Pathfinder.

LOS ANGELES' TWO FOUNDATION DAYS

BY J. M. SCANLAND

Usually, a town has only one foundation day. Los Angeles has two—August 2, 1769, and September 4, 1781. But, the latter is the official day we celebrate. It happened in this way: An exploring expedition of sixty-five soldiers and two friars, under Gaspar de Portola, was looking for Monterey Bay and halted at the spot where the city now stands. They took a day's rest. Friar Crespi said mass. This was the feast day of Our Lady Queen of the Angels and accordingly Friar Crespi christened the spot "Nuestra Senora la Reina de Los Angeles." The expedition did not take permanent possession of the spot, but moved on northward.

Twelve years later the Governor of California, at San Francisco, Felipe de Neve, received orders from the King of Spain to found a pueblo in the southern part of California. Arriving at San Gabriel he learned of the selection of a beautiful spot by Friar Crespi as suitable for a pueblo, no doubt. Accordingly, with a military guard and two friars, he visited the place and was "much charmed." Mass was said and there was a procession around the spot marked for a plaza and the future pueblo. The ceremony was witnessed by the Yagna Indians, who lived in brush huts along what is now Alameda street, to the present First street. The noble red men marveled much and at the firing of a salute from the church cannon many of them struck out for the hills. But, by presents and signs of peace they were induced to return. This was on September 4, 1781. Gov. de Neve adopted the name given by the friar and added the prefix, "El Pueblo." It staggered along under this elongated title for many years, but when the "Americance" came it was shortened and ironed out into its present "Los Angeles."

It is not generally known that the present plaza is not the original plaza marked out by Gov. de Neve, nor is it of the same shape. The original plaza was a parallelogram and more to the northwest. The present one is square, or nearly so, and is a little farther south. The lower end of the site of the old plaza touches the northwest corner of the present plaza.

So much for the plazas. It was decided to celebrate September 4, 1781, as the proper day, for on that day permanent possession was taken officially. After the first "foundation" the spot had been abandoned for about twelve years and, hence, was not a legal permanent possession.

The trouble now was to hold the pueblo site against the Indians, for they showed signs of distrust at the coming of the "strange men." Accordingly, Gov. de Neve ordered Sergt. Rivera y Moncado to go to the province of Sonora and select "twelve good families" to people the new pueblo. A bonus of $116.50 for each family was offered for the first year and $60 a year for the next four years, also fourteen acres of land for grazing purposes, with farming implements and stock. Notwithstanding this liberal offer it took the "boomer" about a year to induce twelve families to come to this "land of savages." Of these twelve families, one became downhearted and dropped out on the way. Of the eleven families, there were eleven men, eleven women and twenty-two children.

The old plaza, now covered with buildings, has much historic interest. It was the neutral ground for promenaders and lovers who paraded in the evenings and gossiped about things in the pueblo and of the aged who sat on the benches under the trees and talked of their old homes in Spain or in Mexico. The effacement of the old plaza was gradual and no exact date for its eclipse is mentioned in history. The late Prof. John M. Guinn a few years ago read a paper before the Southern California Historical Society in which he stated that the owners of lots fronting the plaza gradually moved their buildings onto the plaza and thus it was gradually "jumped."

The present plaza also has much historic interest. It was here that the many revolutions were proclaimed, the leaders usually rushed to the plaza and exclaimed "La Libertad," and the revolt was on, and it sometimes ended tragically. Here was flown the "broad banner" of Spain, the serpent and cactus banner of Mexico, the Stars and Stripes of the United States and for a brief hour during the Civil War, the Stars and Bars of the southern Confederacy. A few adventurous members of the "Knights of the Golden Circle" raised the southern banner, but it was hauled down by Federal soldiers.

Baseball at Night

The attendance at midweek league baseball, which is being played at Des Moines, Iowa, at night, this season under artificial illumination, has increased more than five times over previous years. Through May there were eight midweek home contests played at night, and the total attendance for all of them was 12,948 paid admissions, an average of 1600 per game, compared to 300 a game the past two years, or an increase of 500 per cent. Double-headers in previous years have seen good attendance at afternoon contests, but the bleachers were far from crowded at the afternoon game Memorial Day this year was 1200 paid admissions and at night 1500.

Donation Made by Trunk

Herr Karl Mertens sent a trunk by porter to a Stettin (Germany) hospital, with a letter stating the owner intended entering the institution for treatment, but in case he did not arrive the trunk and its contents would become the property of the hospital. Herr Mertens did not arrive, and when opened the trunk was found to contain $3750 in cash and a large amount of foreign securities of value.

WHERE CAN I LEARN Welding?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

Any man in the motor automobile or allied trades can increase his earning capacity by learning to weld in the evening. Wiggins Trade Evening School, 216 West Venice Boulevard, has gas and are welding apparatus. The class meets on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 7 to 9 p.m.

The objectives of the course are: an understanding of the welding process and its possibilities, a thorough knowledge of the principles of physics and metallurgy involved in making a good weld; a study of the various positions of the various metals, their properties and peculiarities, methods of identifying them, welding each of them; the proper handling the equipment; confidence and proper precautions for safety; ability to make minor repairs and adjust the equipment; the practice of economy in the use of gas and time and at the same time secure perfect results in every weld; the proper preparation for a weld; the ability to test the work when completed and to recognize defects and how to help to overcome them.

In addition to the regular enrollment fee, each student pays for the gas and electricity which he uses with the machine. Fifty cents to $1 a week will cover this expense. There is no other charge. A few openings can be received at once, and those coming later may put their names on the waiting list for September.

GARTSIDE FREED IN THEFT TRIAL

Acquittal Verdict Ordered by Judge Aggeler

Corroborating Evidence Too Weak, Court Rules

Embezzler's Charges Basis of State's Case

Hilton Gartside, accused of the grand theft of $6510 from E. H. Shaw & Co., who has been on trial before Superior Judge Aggeler for the last week, yesterday was acquitted when Judge Aggeler ordered an instructed verdict after defense and prosecution attorneys had finished their arguments. Judge Aggeler held there was insufficient corroboration of the charges.

Gartside was accused of stealing $6510 from the Shaw firm through C. H. Reid, an employee of the firm. Gartside, however, maintained he did not know the money was stolen and that he accepted it for investment purposes only.

Reid several months ago pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzling funds from his firm and was given a County Jail sentence. Later he appeared as a prosecution witness against Gartside.

Gartside was tried once before in Superior Judge Hahn's court but the jury disagreed and a retrial was ordered.

Lathrop Again to Help Chest

Alfred L. Lathrop, vice-president of the Union Bank and Trust Company, will head Committee No. 8 of the Community Chest campaign central division committee, a position he held last year, according to J. A. H. Kerr, Chest campaign chairman.

ALFRED L. LATHROP

Lathrop has begun the work of organizing his committee and announced that the following prominent business men will aid him this year: Donald O'Melveny, Karl Triest, S. N. Lowe, Lyman R. McFie, L. G. McNeil, John Milner, R. J. Schweppe, Sam Behrendt, Henry W Louis and Howard J. Schoeder.

ACTRESS WILL OPEN FALL STYLE EVENT

Jeanette MacDonald

Jeanette MacDonald, Paramount actress, was selected yesterday as official hostess for "The Modes of Autumn, 1930," according to E. C. Mitchell, secretary, Retail Dry Goods Merchants' Association.

At 7 o'clock next Wednesday evening she will give a signal at Seventh and Broadway officially opening the style event. Boy Scout buglers will then herald the event and hundreds of gorgeous fall fashion window displays will be unveiled simultaneously.

Accompanied by other notables from filmland, Miss MacDonald will tour the downtown district, inspecting exhibits.

Texans will assemble for a dance and social hour tomorrow evening at 1137 South Hope street. Lyston S. Black, president of the Texas Society, will preside.

MISS FISKE TO REMAIN CITY MOTHER

Chief Steckel Names Her Permanent Appointee in Police Department

Despite rumors to the effect that the office of city mother is to be abolished as an economy move, Miss Elizabeth Fiske, temporary incumbent, was given the permanent appointment yesterday by Chief of Police Steckel, as her probationary period of six months expired Tuesday.

Of forty applicants who took the test for city mother early this year Miss Fiske was the only one who passed and she was appointed in place of Mrs. Deane Harris, acting city mother, who held the office after Mrs. Aletha Gilbert had retired on a pension following thirty years of service for the city.

It is understood the Chief's action was taken after a private conference with the Mayor and Police Commissioners, although they later declined to discuss the matter, except to say the appointment was entirely up to Chief Steckel.

The position, built up to one of importance in the police department by Mrs. Gilbert for the work of reuniting families split by rows and for looking after children without the stigma of having them handled by police authorities, is equivalent to that of a sergeant of policewomen, and pays $250 a month.

TICKETS FOR OPERA GO AT BRISK PACE

Record of $60,000 Sales Announced by Association, with Season Month Away

The $60,000 mark in advance sales to the season of opera in the Shrine Auditorium the 29th inst. to October 13, has been reached, Merle Armitage, manager of the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association, announced yesterday.

This figure shatters all past records. Last year a high mark was set when $50,000 had been received in advance. Officials expect the advance sale to total about $75,000.

Ten operas are to be presented on the nine nights of the season, with twelve distinguished singers taking the leading roles.

Man and Wife Arrested After Hold-up Chase

A spirited chase by one citizen following the hold-up and robbery of another was climaxed yesterday by the arrest of a man and his wife at 315½ East Seventh street. The suspects are booked as Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Dams on suspicion of robbery.

Robert Muzzy of 809 South Gaffey street, San Pedro, was approached by two men at Sixth and Wall streets and commanded to hand over his money. Muzzy gave them $33. As they fled the victim shouted for help. Leonard Russell of 337 South Los Angeles street gave chase, trailing the men to the East Seventh-street address. He then notified Officer McMillan. The latter says he found Mrs. Dams attempting to conceal a knife and $33.

Death of Girl Threatened in $5000 Scheme

A letter slipped under the door of his home threatening the death of his 14-year-old daughter Marguerite if $5000 were not provided for the writer was turned over to police yesterday by C. H. Davey, icemen foreman, of 2614 Raymond avenue.

The letter demanded that the money be placed in a box at Twenty-third street and Arlington avenue yesterday. Detective Lieutenants Grant and Stilson waited in hiding, but no one appeared.

While Captain of Detectives Vernand said it is his belief that the letter was spite work on the part of a workman under Davey, steps were taken to guard the home.

Wife Declares Orders to Mate Always Polite

"Please" softened all her wifely commands, Mrs. Emogene S. Phipps retorted in her answer, filed yesterday, to the divorce complaint of Stanley A. Phipps, attorney, who had asserted she broke in on his law studies with orders to "do this" or "do that." Mrs. Phipps, asking for separate maintenance, asserts she always worded it "Please, do this—or that."

The wife replies to Phipps's complaint that she interrupted his law studies with orders to mind the baby by saying she did so only after the infant was in bed.

Rules Issued for Bicycle Riders

The Southern California Bicycle Dealers' Association yesterday announced the launching of a movement to reduce the number of accidents to bicycle riders through distribution of a pamphlet containing rules framed in the interests of safety.

After pointing out that seven bicyclists were killed in traffic accidents during 1929, the pamphlet calls attention to six rules for riders:

Don't ride at night without proper lights.
Don't ride two on one bicycle.
Don't hold to another vehicle.
Don't ride far from curbs.
Don't neglect to give signals.
Don't ride on wrong side of the road.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by MYRA NYE

A delightful voyage is anticipated by Miss Bertha Bosbyshell and her niece, Miss Molly Gibbs, who will sail Saturday on the S.S. City of Los Angeles for an extended tour. They will visit in Honolulu and Hilo for two weeks and then go on to the Fiji Islands, New Zealand, Australia and Tasmania. They expect to spend Christmas in Java, and will visit in Siam and Sumatra, reaching Japan in time for the cherry blossom festivals in the spring.

Miss Gibbs was graduated from National Park Seminary in Washington, D. C., last year, and has been at Balboa Beach during the summer months. Miss Bosbyshell has been residing at the Women's Athletic Club since her return from Japan last year.

Prenuptial Affair

A smartly appointed high tea was given yesterday by Mrs. E. Russell Werdin, Jr., at the home of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Werden in June street, Hancock Park, to honor Miss Houston Johes, fiancee of Byron Kissinger. One hundred and fifty guests were bidden for the hours between 4 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Autumn colors, flowers and fruits were the gorgeous motifs used by the hostess, who was assisted by Mrs. Walter Candy (Kate Winnett,) Miss Helen Winnett, Miss Victoria Cotton, Miss Frances Alexander, Mrs. Oscar Trippett, Jr., Mrs. Burton Yarnell, Jr., Mrs. Thomas Clark, Mrs. Jack Winnett, Miss Florence Hamburger, Mrs. James Jones and Mrs. Edmund Locke, Jr.

BRIDAL PAIR WILL RESIDE HERE

Brief Honeymoon Being Spent in North

Mrs. Marion French

FOLLOWING a brief honeymoon in the north, Mr. and Mrs. Marion French who were married August 28 in the rectory of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament will make their home in Los Angeles. The bride, who was formerly Miss Emily C. Berry, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. Berry.

Miss Lydia F. Berry, who was the only attendant of the bride at the wedding, wore a blue chiffon gown with a hat of a corresponding shade and carried pink roses. Bud Forster served the bridegroom as best man.

Mrs. French was graduated from Hollywood High School and the University of California at Los Angeles and is a member of Gamma Phi Beta. Mr. French was graduated from the same university and is affiliated with Phi Kappa Sigma.

James' Episcopal Church in Wilshire Boulevard.

Maxfield-Currier

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis Maxfield, whose wedding was an event of late last week, are motoring in the north for their honeymoon and will be at home to their friends after the 15th inst. at 6534 Fountain avenue.

Mrs. Maxfield (Catherine Aloha Currier) is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Currier of 1454 Reeves street, and Mr. Maxfield is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Maxfield of 4121 West Sixty-first street. In the wedding party were Miss Joyce Maxfield, maid of honor; Miss Evelyn Bennett, Miss Edith Hansel, bridesmaids; Joseph Hensel, best man; Dr. James J. Conley and Lawrence Kramer, ushers. Rev. Carleton Kirk of Oakland, a lifelong friend of the bride, performed the ceremony at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather in Glendale.

From Chicago

Motoring from Chicago, where they were married August 24, Dr. and Mrs. Preston McClelland have arrived in this city, where Mrs. McClelland will remain to head the art department of the school of architecture of the University of Southern California, and Dr. McClelland will return to Chicago to finish his internship at St. Luke's Hospital. Mrs. McClelland, who before her marriage was Miss Amy Rosella Woller, has been teaching at U.S.C. for the past three years. She is a member of Lambda Phi Delta and Delta Phi Delta fine arts fraternities. Dr. McClelland was graduated from Millikan University at Decatur and also from the school of Medicine in Chicago.

La Ramada Inn

Complimenting Judge and Mrs. Ben Lindsey of Denver and Miss Mary B. Hyde, art director of Pratt Institute of Brooklyn, Mrs. H. B. R. Briggs of Los Angeles entertained at a charmingly appointed luncheon in Lorrol's Garden at La Ramada Inn in Pasadena early this week. The guests, who are visitors in the Southland for the summer, were especially attracted by the old Spanish garden, a replica of one in Spain, and by the romantic charm of the old inn.

Colorful Affair

One of the colorful affairs of the week was the bridge-tea given at the Bel-Air Tea Room by Miss E. Adelia Smythe in honor of Miss Louise Scott, whose marriage to Garfield Thompson will be one of the noteworthy events of the month.

Bridge was played on the lawn under the oaks and sycamores. The tea appointments and the bridge accessories were appropriate and attractive. At the function it was announced that after their marriage the bride and bridegroom will reside in British Columbia.

Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Phillip Lehrer formally have announced the engagement of their attractive daughter Miriam to Dr. J. Y. Freed of this city. Cleverly concealed hearts in place cards revealed the betrothal at a dinner in B'nai B'rith Hall to which seventy guests were bidden. The occasion also marked the birthday of the bride-elect. Numerous prenuptial affairs are being planned to honor Miss Lehrer. The wedding will be an event of the autumn.

Composer Honored

Charles Wakefield Cadman will be honored again with a farewell affair before he leaves this city to reside in San Diego. The program for the farewell supper to be given at Ramona Village Saturday evening will include numbers by distinguished artists. Among those who will appear are Mr. Cadman, playing two of his own compositions; Samuel Pedraza, tenor; Countess de Beaulieu, in an interpretation of Cadman's "Pompadour Fan;" William Edward Johnson, baritone; Margaret Messer Morris, soprano; Betty Travis, junior violinist; Laurel Nemeth, Mme. Leanore Colton, Mme. Rene Tumanova and L. E. Behymer in the "Farewell Message."

House Guests

When having several house guests for a number of meals, one cannot always afford to give out clean napkins for every meal and then the problem of solving whose napkin is whose arises. One housewife solved this by keeping a box of small stickers in her buffet drawer and after the meal she placed one on each napkin with the user's initials written thereon.

If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

SOURCE OF SEX INFORMATION IS RIGHTFULLY THE HOME

If adults are honest with themselves they will admit that many of their ideas upon various subjects are not the result of their own thinking, but are ideas instilled by the past generation. They are, in a word, prejudices, not ideas. But even prejudices can be changed and the adult only delays his own progress and development when he refuses to look upon his prejudices, recognizing them for what they are, and alter them by his own personal thinking.

The matter of answering a child's questions about sex when he asks them is one of those subjects still surrounded by much musty prejudice. Intelligent parents and educators have been doing some real thinking on the subject and endeavoring mightily to throw away their prejudices and view this subject in a healthy, nonsentimental and nonemotional way. The results of this thinking are known to most parents, though many of them still find it difficult to tell their own children the truths about sex.

EARLY QUESTIONS

No person living but must admit that the more filthy ideas he garnered in his youth, the more eagerly he desired to keep all such knowledge from his own children. But this is something impossible for any parent to accomplish. Questions of such importance and interest to the child will be answered by some one—and it would seem that the parent, who was himself educated in the hit-or-miss school of dubious and untruthful information, would be eager to satisfy his own child's curiosity in the proper manner.

Questions about life and its beginnings are asked by the child as early as the second year. The mother knows that at this age no very complicated or detailed answer could be understood, but some mothers go into explanations about storks and doctor's bags and cabbage leaves and whatnot that are worse than silence. The knowledge of how babies come into the world is not of emotional significance to the young child unless the mother makes it so. If she says: "Hush, don't talk about such things," or looks at the child in a queer way and asks, "Where on earth have you heard such talk?" the child knows immediately that this is not an ordinary subject, but one of tremendous and mysterious importance.

USE DISCRETION

Those first questions should be answered truthfully. (We have compiled some simple answers to them in our leaflet, "Telling Children the Facts of Life." This leaflet may be obtained for the usual self-addressed and stamped envelope.) If the first questions are answered and the child has a truthful basis upon which to build up his knowledge, any future information will take its rightful place in the whole scheme.

In their zeal to do their whole duty and live up to this modern idea of frankness and honesty, some parents have overdone the matter and talked so unrestrainedly about sex matters that their children's natural curiosity has been stimulated to an unnatural peak. This is almost as bad as saying nothing (there is never justification for lying,) for there is a place at which the sensitive parent will stop. She must know that for the young child some things can be told and some omitted, and it is for the parent to do her own thinking on this subject and come to her own conclusions about it. She will, if she looks upon this as a vital subject and is willing to discard her prejudices.

Inquire About Them

If you are new at raising house plants, make inquiry as to the temperature in which they should be kept. Also how much sunshine they need, how much water, and if anything should be done particularly to the soil. You will never be a success at plant raising if you do not know something about the plants you are trying to raise.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

The Times' free cooking school conducted by Chef Wyman has been discontinued for the summer. Date for resuming has not been set but will be announced later.

BEEF STEW WITH DUMPLINGS

Three or four pounds of neck of beef, three or four large carrots, three medium-sized onions, two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, three stalks of chopped celery, a seasoning of salt and paprika. Wipe the meat with a damp cloth, and cut in pieces convenient for serving. Place in a kettle and cover with boiling water, let simmer over a slow fire for one hour, then add the vegetables, and cook slowly until the meat is nearly tender, then add the salt and paprika. Make the dumplings of two cupfuls of flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and three-fourths teaspoonful of salt, sift altogether, and chop in the same as for biscuits, two level tablespoonfuls of shortening, then add about three-fourths of a cupful of milk. The mixture wants to be rather soft, drop from a spoon on top of the meat, or they may be placed in a steamer, and steamed, cooking them about twenty to twenty-five minutes. Place the meat on a hot platter, place the dumplings around it, thicken the gravy with a little brown flour, and sprinkle over the top the chopped parsley.

PEACH SALAD

One cupful of white cherries, one-half cupful of almonds, twelve halves of peaches, ripe olives, and salad dressing. Carefully remove the pits from the cherries, and replace them with an almond, put three or four stuffed cherries into the hollow of each peach half that has been peeled and placed on a bed of lettuce, squeezing over it a few drops of lemon juice. Make a cream salad dressing, and place a spoonful of it on each peach, then garnish with the ripe olives.

EAST INDIA SALMON

Place in a saute pan four tablespoonfuls of oil, two onions finely chopped and one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, and cook until the onions are clear, but not brown, then add three chopped hard-boiled eggs, one-third cupful of shredded cocoanut, and one cupful of milk. Simmer slowly for five minutes, but do not let it boil, then add two cupfuls of cooked fresh salmon, add two teaspoonfuls of curry powder, that has been diluted with a tablespoonful of cold water. Season with salt and paprika, and stir in three tablespoonfuls of boiled rice, let it cook until it is heated through, place it on a hot platter, and garnish it with toast points.

STUFFED APPLE PIE

Peel and core a sufficient number of apples to fill a deep dish when cut in half, cook the whole apple slowly in a syrup made of two cupfuls of water, two cupfuls of sugar and a half a cupful of the little red cinnamon candies, carefully turn the apples, two or three times so that they will become well colored, when they are tender, remove from the fire, and allow to cool in the syrup, when cold, cut them in half, and place in a baked pie shell, sprinkle with chopped nuts, place halves of maraschino cherries in the spaces between apples. Make a meringue and place it over the top. Put in a slow oven until brown.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

MIGRAINE HEADACHE

The migraine headache, which occurs at regular intervals, is probably the most common of all headaches. Some of the popular names for it are: Sick headache, blind headache, bilious headache and migraine headache.

The patient can usually tell when a sick headache is coming on. The face is pale, the patient chilly, depressed, and there is some disturbance of the vision so that it is blurred, or else flashes of light race over the field of vision. Dizziness and nausea are common. As the headache begins, the face flushes on the side of the head that is affected, and perspiration may break out, either general in nature, or on one side only.

The most distressing feature of the headache is a painful ache which is usually one-sided. It begins in a small spot often over one eye, the pain at first being dull and later of sharp boring character. It spreads over the forehead, and on the side of the head. The pain is so acute that the patient feels that he can hardly stand it. Any sudden light or noise makes the pain more intense. The pain usually reaches its height about noon, and has subsided by night.

The patient commonly feels quite well between the attacks. Any excitement, tense nervous condition, constipation, indigestion, loss of sleep, or continued mental concentration, will make the attacks worse.

Migraine commonly occurs with women more often than with men, although it frequently occurs among men who do much mental work or study.

Inasmuch as migraine is a form of headache which makes habitual visits on certain definite times, there is much reason to believe that it may be brought on by certain expectant states of mind.

Migraine headaches are often considered incurable, arising from an unknown cause, but I have found that it is as readily cured as any other sick headache. I have never treated any case which could not be cured by the methods used in the ordinary form of headache.

For permanent relief, it is a good plan for the patient to go on a fasting regimen, using one eight-ounce glass of grapefruit juice, tomato juice, or orange juice every two hours. During the fast one enema should be taken daily. These measures will assist in eliminating the toxins which are largely responsible for the headaches. After the fast the patient should use a diet which assures plenty of both cooked and raw vegetables. No alcoholic stimulants should be used, as beverages containing them only intensify the nervous, high strung temperament already present with most migraine patients.

The patient should cultivate a calm, quiet and peaceful frame of mind; plenty of sleep is essential.

For temporary relief at the beginning of an attack, give copious warm enemas, putting the feet in a tub of hot water, with hot compresses to the forehead and cold compresses to the back of the neck will usually make the patient feel better.

PICTURE ACTRESS TO BE BALL QUEEN

Ann Harding

ANN HARDING, screen actress, will be the queen of the Fiesta Ball to be given tonight at the Ambassador by the California Women of the Golden West.

CLUB NOTES

BY M. N.

Elaborate preparations have been made by the California Women of the Golden West for the fiesta ball and fete of progress which will be given tonight at 7 o'clock at the Ambassador. The event is in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Los Angeles and the features of the program will be striking customs and events in the history of the city.

Ann Harding, film actress will appear as Miss Los Angeles, queen of the carnival. Her ladies-in-waiting, who will escort her to the golden throne will include Mrs. Harold B. Franklin, Mrs. Douglas Farrell, Mrs. Roy Miller, Mrs. H. A. Shoemaker and Miss Marjorie Welsh of Glendale; Miss Marjorie Wise and Miss Dorothy Wise of Long Beach; Miss Mary Elsa Hoffman and Mrs. Jean Houghton of San Pedro and representatives of other cities of the Southland.

Various periods in the history of the city will be illustrated in groups that will pass before the queen and her court. The Indian sequence will introduce singers and dancers. Representatives of old families, singers and dancers will appear in the Spanish sequence, which will be followed by representatives of the Mexican period; the gold-rush days and the era of aviation, represented by Miss Bobby Trout.

Other features of the program will include the appearance of motion-picture celebrities, ensemble dance numbers under the direction of Ern...t Belcher and the final grand march.

Among the honor guests will be Gov. Young and Mayor Porter. They will be introduced during the festivities. Mrs. George Davidson Gilmore is president of the organization and the women in charge of the affair are Mrs. Joseph Bonhaus, general chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth Lloyd Smith, Mrs. J. O. Colwell, Mrs. Jake Lieb and Mrs. Leo Freund.

Alec Francis will serve as master of ceremonies.

SHIP'S CHRISTENER WILL VISIT HERE

Jane Brown Kennedy, 13-year-old Kenfucky girl, who last week christened the new U.S.S. Louisville at Bremerton Navy Yard, Seattle, is due to arrive in Los Angeles today for a visit with Hollywood friends of her parents. Because of her participation in the ceremonies she now has an honorary title conferred by the Governor of her State. She is accompanied by her parents, by Representative and Mrs. Thatcher and Louisville newspaper men.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

THE JOY OF WORK

In idleness there is no joy
For bird or beast, or girl or boy.
—Old Mother Nature.

Impy, the black Chipmunk, thought that when he got his bedroom dug and the passageway leading to his front door completed he would stop work. But no sooner did he get these things done than he began to think about a comfortable bed.

"I must have a soft bed right away," said Impy, and forthwith started to look for some soft material to make his bed out of. He took down through the front door and along the long passage some leaves—some dead leaves. Then he found some soft dead grass that was just what he wanted. He took that down inside. He had to make many trips. Yes, indeed, he had to make many trips, and there were times when his legs ached. When he had enough for a bed he was quite satisfied to curl up for a good long nap. Those little legs of his had taken him a long distance in collecting all that material.

"Now," said Impy, "I can spend my time eating and playing. I have a bedroom and a nice soft bed. What more could I ask? I've worked hard and now I will just have a good time."

But Impy had experienced the joy of work. For one whole day he played around and discovered that there was no pleasure in having nothing to do. Then once more he began to think of that home of his.

"I ought to have a storeroom," said he. "A house without a storeroom is a poor kind of a house. Yes, sir, it's a poor kind of a house. My father's house had two or three storerooms. Of course, there isn't much to put in it now, but the thing to do is to have it ready when there is something to put in it. I believe I'll build me a storeroom right away."

So Impy went to work again. First, he opened his back door. You see, he had to push more sand out. Then he started a short passage from his main hall. He made this quite short and then began digging a little room. The sand he pushed out on the pile at the back door. Presently he had a very nice little room, reached by a short passage from the main hall.

"It would be a good thing to be able to close the door of this little room," thought he. So he left some loose sand. As this was to be a storeroom and not a bedroom he didn't take any leaves or grass into it. All the time he was at work Impy felt like singing. You see, he was filled with joy—the joy of getting something done; something that was worth while. When this little storeroom was finished, Impy actually was sorry. Yes, sir, he was so. He didn't want to stop working. When there was no work to do he was discontented. When he was working hard time seemed to fairly fly.

He had to make many trips

"It wouldn't do any harm to have another storeroom," said Impy to himself. "Two storerooms would be better than one. I could put one kind of food in one storeroom and another kind of food in another storeroom. I think that's a good idea."

So Impy started in to dig another storeroom. As before, he opened the back door in order to throw the sand out. But when this storeroom was half done Impy once more closed the back door and then he began filling in the passage that led to that back door. He pushed it in right. You see, he no longer had any use for that passage; so there was no sense in pushing that sand any farther than he had to. Besides, if he filled that passage there would be no danger of any one digging in from the outside.

The next story: "Impy Meets Some One."

August First in Air Traffic

Commercial aviation in the Southwest during August surpassed all previous months of 1929 in point of business, according to a report issued yesterday by T.A.T.-Maddux Air Lines. Figures show the company carried 3133 passengers during the month, 1376 of whom were between Los Angeles and San Francisco, 1127 between Agua Caliente and San Diego and Los Angeles and 630 between this city and eastern points.

Over the week-end, including Labor Day, 647 passengers used the company's lines for regularly scheduled flights.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS TO INSTALL STAFF

Newly elected officers of Southern California Chapter, Knights of Columbus, will be installed tomorrow evening. Bishop Cantwell is to be guest of honor and among knights expected to attend are Joseph Scott, Frank J. Barry and Thomas F. White. Clement Nye, Grand Knight of Los Angeles Council, is chairman of the arrangements committee. Benno M. Brink is retiring president. The meeting is the first of a series planned to acquaint members with the order's activities, including a free employment bureau.

FINAL RITES OF FITZHUGH TO BE TODAY

Widow of Crash Victim Confined to Hospital by Her Injuries

With his widow in a hospital recovering from injuries received in the automobile crash that cost him his life, final rites for James M. Fitzhugh, 40-year-old Los Angeles steel executive and former Mayor of Torrance, will be conducted at noon today from the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Interment will follow in the cemetery.

Fitzhugh's two sons, James, Jr., 12, and Quentin, 7, although cut and bruised in the crash, probably will be able to attend, it was reported last night at the hospital of Dr. Q. J. Rowley, Mrs. Fitzhugh's father.

Dr. Rowley rushed to Lone Pine, found Fitzhugh dead, and had the surviving members of the family flown to Los Angeles Tuesday in a trimotored air ambulance.

A daughter, Jean Fitzhugh, was the only member of the family not in the car when it skidded from the road.

Besides his widow and three children, Fitzhugh leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Fitzhugh, local pioneers of 401 North Avenue Fifty; a brother, Mason Fitzhugh, 537 Palma street, Glendale, and a sister, Mrs. Anna C. Bell, San Francisco.

PAIR JAILED IN CAMPAIGN ON BANDITS

Capt. McCaleb Sends His Officers into Underworld Haunts for Suspects

At the end of the second day he took charge of the central police robbery squad Captain of Detectives McCaleb yesterday began to fulfill his promise that he could round up the bandits responsible for this summer's crime increase if allowed to send his detectives into underworld haunts. He announced the arrest and identification of two suspects in two recent robberies.

The suspects held in the City Jail on suspicion of robbery are Jimmy Autrey, 31 years of age, and Roy F. Mitchell, 41. Both have been identified by S. Simms as the bandits who held him up in his bird store at 3542 Glenhurst avenue on July 28 and robbed him of $132, according to Detective Lieutenants Woolman, Malina and Carney. Mitchell has also been charged with robbery of A. Sarris, cafe owner, at Twenty-seventh and Figueroa streets July 8.

"I am not going to say just where Woolman, Malina and Carney got their information which resulted in the arrest of Autrey and Mitchell," Capt. McCaleb stated, "but they did not pick them up on any street corner."

WORKER ACCUSED OF SLASHING EMPLOYER

Dominick De Martini, 43 years of age, is accused by police of having brought an argument with his employer, Joe Rose, 48, carpenter, of 833 Alpine street, to a close yesterday by slashing Rose's throat with a razor. Martini was locked up charged with suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. Rose was taken to Georgia-street Hospital and though he lost much blood is expected to recover.

SHOW FEATURES RADIO GALAXIES

Talent of Two Stations to Help Entertain

Most of Programs to be on KFWB and KMPC

Artists of "Times" Forum will Visit Booth

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m. Fred Hogue, editorial staff writer, on "China, White or Red." World-wide news at 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

KFWB and KMPC let loose their galaxy of radio stars at the Radio Show today.

At 1:30 this afternoon the Boswell sisters, Duke Atterbury and Ken Gillum will ascend the Crystal Studio stage. Close on their heels, at 2, troop the Rhythm Boys, the Keller sisters and John Te Groen's Trio. Louis Meehan and Vernon Rickard at 3:30 will be guest artists of KFWB's Concert Orchestra—and many feminine hearts may miss a beat if they let loose on ballads. Just Kids Club and Dan Maxwell, the King of Scotland, arrive from KMPC at 4:30. Noah Beery and his Salon Orchestra surge up to the stage at 7 p.m.—and then, at 8 p.m., June Pursell in blues singing of many shades, as guest artist, with Ben Bernie's Orchestra, as an incentive. At 9 tonight KFWB opens the gates to a pot pourri of their station talent, to include Olsen and Johnson, screen clowns and funny men, and many others you have enjoyed dialing. To vie with this—the Beverly Hill Billies saunter over from KMPC at 10 tonight for an hour of the songs of the Arkansas hills. And they always toss in a little chatter that may appeal to you.

The greater proportion of these programs will also go out over the air on KFWB and KMPC.

JUNE PURSELL

GUESTS AT THE TIMES BOOTH

The Times Booth, No. 39, at 7 tonight will have as its guests of honor Norman Chandler, "Ted" Gale, Times cartoonist; Salvadore Baguez, Times artist and baritone on The Times Forum periods; Myra Nye and Margaret Nye, Snowy Baker, Fred Hogue, editorial staff writer; Ruth Pitts, soprano; Josephine Adair, Florence McNally and Vivian Marple. If you come to the show look for Booth No. 39 and say "hello."

THEY TELL US THAT—

Radio Victor Hour at 6 tonight is offering a 'special program' to consume one and one-half hours. This is over KFI.

Shortly after dawn cracks Capt. Dobbsie at 7:30 over KFI will inaugurate a new series of periods six mornings a week over N.B.C. "Setting-up exercises" to snappy music—be musically muscled. It is calculated to romp you out of the feathers.

KFWB goes wild at the Radio Show today. They will toss all their talent of the air into the fracas.

"Will appreciate a line giving Gene a start here," KNX whispers to us in noting Gene Byrnes organ recital at 6 tonight. Gene's a self-starter and has plenty to back it up. So we give him credit cheerfully.

KNX's "Nomads" board a boat for Hongkong at 9 tonight. I wonder do they ever read the papers?

I intended to print a picture of Bob Swan of KHJ today. He's a villain (in Folgeria) tonight and looks full of Simon Legree 'n everything. Well, Bob, June Pursell simply sings at the Radio Show tonight—so let's give the little girl a big hand—and a half-column picture.

If Radioland could watch Raymond Paige, KHJ's concert master and such, whip orchestras, singers, comedians and recalcitrant music into a merry dish for the air—you'd appreciate his programs even more so. He knows his legumes.

Oh, oh, boys, Marillah Olney's "Little Theater" gives the men a break tonight at 8. "An all-male cast" in a play titled—well, the title is not so hot—"The Rat Killer." It's Russian—at least it has a Russian locale. The plot—the Czar fights a Red. Station KTM.

I've mislaid a piece of publicity telling about a radio station here that boasts a soprano that has nine children. Isn't that just lovely.

At 7:45 p.m. KFI's Standard Symphony Hour will appeal to those who demand the best in music.

For an intelligent idea of what "all the shooting is about in China," dial The Times Forum at 1:30 p.m.

Fred Hogue, editorial staff writer of The Times, recently returned from the arsenal of the Orient.

Zone Ordinance Hearing Tonight

The first hearing under the new zoning ordinance will be conducted by the City Planning Commission in the City Council Chamber tonight on the unzoned portions of Map No. 28.

The property involved is an area bounded by Outpost Drive, Mulholland High Way, Vine street, extended, and the southerly side of Hollywood Bowl, the new Sentney Annexation and the district surrounding and including the Reynier Park District.

The maps involved are on display in the Room ?..., City Hall.

When Pain Comes
Two hours after eating
Most many people call indigestion is due to excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been irritated, and food sours. The answer is an alkali, which neutralizes acidity. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the favorite with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.
One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and pain disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.
Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any druggist.
"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—[Advertisement.

CAROL LOMBARD WINS CONTRACT

Louis John Bartels Plays in "Sin Takes Holiday;" William Boyd Cast in "New Morals"; "Dirigible" Party Returns

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

The blond Carol Lombard, a graduate of the Mack Sennett school of comedy, yesterday joined the ranks of featured players under contract to Paramount.

CAROL LOMBARD

It seems that Miss Lombard's work as "a vivacious chorus girl"—I quote the studio announcement—in "The Best People" was such that B. P. Schulberg decided she ought to keep her make-up box at the studio permanently. The reports of the good work came to Mr. Schulberg by wire from the east coast studio, where "The Best People" is now being completed.

This may have something to do with the new contract and it may not, but Miss Lombard has changed the spelling of her first name. Instead of Carol, it is now Carole. There has been as yet no official ruling on its pronunciation.

Cast Additions

Here are three new figures in "The Lion and the Lamb," the E. Phillips Oppenheim story which George B. Seitz is directing for Columbia. Montagu Love, Raymond Hatton and Charles Gerrard. This is the story in which Walter Byron and Carmel Myers have the leads.

Bartels to Pathe

It looks as if Louis John Bartels, of "show-off" fame—he was the man with the awful, raucous laugh in George Kelly's comedy-drama—is going to get a break in pictures.

Yesterday Pathe announced that Bartels had been added to the cast of "Sin Takes a Holiday" to be produced with Constance Bennett and Kenneth MacKenna in the leads. Bartels gets an important character part.

Another likely actor reporting for work on this same picture yesterday was John Roche.

The story, as may be remembered, is by Robert Milton, well-known director, and Dorothy Cairns, a script girl.

Bill Boyd in "New Morals"

Somebody who is pretty much in the know about the studios and who is also a good guesser vouchsafed the opinion yesterday that it wouldn't be long before Paramount tied up Bill Boyd—he of the stage record — on a long-term contract.

WILLIAM BOYD

It seems that Mr. Boyd, who had a good part in "The Spoilers" and another excellent one in the new Bancroft film, has just been chosen for William Powell's next, "New Morals," with Victor Schertzinger directing.

Beery in Chaney Roles

The story goes that Wallace Beery, at present unable to speak above a whisper due to a severe attack of laryngitis, will take the role Lon Chaney was to have had in "Cheri-Bebe." Studio attaches, so far, refuse to either confirm or deny.

At any rate, the impression is that Beery will be groomed to take as far as possible the place Chaney filled and the characterizations that would have been his. In this event, Beery will make both "Cheri-bebe" and "The Bugle Sounds," long-delayed Chaney productions.

"Dirigible" Party Back

A party of dusty travelers from the East due to be in town this morning and back at Columbia studio includes Director Frank Capra, Writer Ralph Graves and Actor Jack Holt. They have been putting in the last four to six weeks about Lakehurst, N. J., where they went to shoot sequences in their newest triangular effort, "Dirigible."

FRANK CAPRA

According to stories filtering back from New Jersey, the trip has been a success and some very pretty shots have been taken of action about the big ship, the Los Angeles. This, of course, is the third modern-achievement film of this particular triumvirate of workers. They started out with "Submarine," followed that with "Flight" and now comes this.

One Good Look and—

Raoul Walsh went out to see "Holiday" at the Carthay Circle the other evening. He was impressed with the performance of William Holden in the role of the father to the degree that the next day he asked Fox studio to secure the actor for "The Man Who Came Back," the new Janet Gaynor picture . . . Cynthia Lawrence, a wealthy Philadelphia girl, went out to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot to visit her friend, June Walker. Edgar Selwyn, who is directing "War Nurse," saw her. The next day Miss Lawrence found she had a job—a bit in the picture. It seems she has been in town four weeks and all the sight-seeing she's done has been on the studio lots. She's pretty interested in pictures!

MASONS TO RETURN EAST

The Santa Fe will operate a special train out of Los Angeles early tomorrow morning to accommodate approximately 100 Royal and Select Masons who are returning to the East after attending a convention at Tacoma, Wash. The delegation arrived in Los Angeles Tuesday. En route east the party will stop at Riverside, Grand Canyon, Winslow and Albuquerque, arriving in Chicago, September 9.

You'll thrill to the tantalizing music of one of America's exceptional dance orchestras.
This is the same band that was selected to furnish the music for Chicago's great Aero Ball a few nights ago.
It is the identical orchestra that New York's "400" have danced to at Sherry's, the Pennsylvania Roof and at other outstanding cafes and night clubs for the past several years.
The Hollywood Roosevelt is indeed proud to present this famous orchestra for the first time anywhere in the West.

GOLF AND LOVE SET TO MUSIC

All-Star Cast Interprets "Follow Thru"

Technicolor Effort Made from Play

Melodies Bolster Film at United Artists

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

At the United Artists' Theater yesterday "Follow Thru," miniature golf-epic, made its own fairway—but only fair. The first production of Schwab and Mandel to reach the sound screen, it boasts a cast of Paramount favorites and others, a pair of Technicolor cameramen, some music by DeSylva, Brown and Henderson and a story as old as the game itself. (In the early sixteenth century it was called golf, gouff, and even guff.)

Nobody, of course, expects much of musical comedy stories, but the present one seems particularly vapid. Perhaps it is because the spectator's hopes are raised when he glances over a dramatis personae that includes Nancy Carroll, Charles (Buddy) Rogers, Zelma O'Neal, Thelma Todd and Jack Haley among its principals. The list is positively all-star; yet I venture to say that none of these is entitled to as much credit here as is that thoroughly competent character man, Mr. Eugene Pallette.

Pallette enters the picture as J. C. Effingham, manufacturer of girdles. He is after some kind of contract from Haley. In Haley's employ is Rogers, as a kind of caddie. Miss Carroll is enamored of Rogers, Miss O'Neal of Haley, and a girl named Margaret Lee of a boy named Don Tomkins. There are thus three budding romances under constant surveillance, the most irritating of the three being the Rogers-Carroll one. In scene after scene Buddy and Nancy sway amorously toward one another, reciprocally goofy—yet at the first hint of "another woman" all the usual misunderstandings overtake them.

QUITE A WOMAN

Miss Todd is the other woman, and quite a woman she is, too. But the sequence in which she vamps Jack Haley is ungraceful and not especially funny. Comedy, indeed, is not one of the film's strong points.

Musically, "Follow Thru" is better. Best of all is a refrain of "We'd Make a Peach of a Pair" from an unseen trio who sound suspiciously like the Three Girl Friends, of the Fred Waring organization, but who may always be the Bronx Sisters. George Olsen leads the orchestra through the various numbers, the most ambitious of which is "I Wanna Be Bad." Incidentally, this, the "splash" number of the show, is sung by Miss O'Neal to the accompaniment of a series of tableaux which display the girls of the ensembles as (1) angels, and (2) devils. It is reminiscent of a number in an earlier film.

The balance of the tunes are heard in duet form. They are "Then I'll Have Time for You," from Tomkins and Miss Lee (who dance better;) "Button Up Your Overcoat," from Haley and Miss O'Neal, and "It Must Be You," from Rogers and Miss Carroll, who also sing "We'd Make a Peach of a Pair," the best of the lot.

GOLF MATCH FOR LOVE

Plot rears its head belatedly toward the close, the well-known locker-room episode having been retained for what it is worth, and a match between the Misses Carroll and Todd (for both silver cup and Buddy's heart) providing the climax. The acting effort is in Technicolor, which shows to some advantage in the outdoor scenes.

Miss O'Neal, lacking the sparkle, she has in the theater, is still an acceptable screen comedienne. Haley has a peculiar habit of not looking at a person he is addressing and a mannerism which teeters on the offensive, but, withal, he will pass. In truth, it is unfair to judge any of the players by what they do in this.

Others are Albert Gran, Claude King and Kathryn Givney.

The direction is credited jointly to Laurence Schwab and Lloyd Corrigan.

Short subjects at the United Artists include "The Love That Kills," a Tom Terriss travelogue with dramatic elaborations, a comedy with the inimitable Lulu McConnell called "The Introduction of Mrs. Gibbs," and a Paramount News.

Louise Fazenda Has Prominent Role in Farce

The screen numbers many comedians, but few comediennes, and among this small and distinguished company the name of Louise Fazenda is prominent. After many years in two-reel comedies, Miss Fazenda's talents were added to many silent features, sometimes as comedy relief and sometimes as an integral part of the story.

With the coming of talkies, Miss Fazenda's services have been much in demand and she is one of the few players of the silent screen who have risen to even greater popularity in the new medium. She plays an important role in "Rain or Shine," which comes to the Orpheum Theater Saturday. William Collier, Jr., Joan Peers and David Chasen play other parts in the film, directed by Frank Capra for Columbia.

"The Dawn Patrol," starring Richard Barthelmess, closes Friday night at the Orpheum.

Bard's Offers Western Film

Gary Cooper in "The Man From Wyoming" starts a week's run today on Bard's Downtown screen. Opposite the star is seen the aristocrat of screen heroines, June Collyer, who portrays a red cross nurse.

Besides this picture, "The Golden Calf," with El Brendel, will also be included on the program.

FILM GOWNS LAUDED

Some of the most stunning gowns ever made for a motion-picture star will be worn by Grace Moore, it is said, in her forthcoming Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, which Sidney Franklin is directing.

"Man Trouble" Diagnosed Today

Dorothy Mackaill and Milton Sills

Who scored together in "The Barker," are reunited in the Fox picture starting today at Loew's State Theater. Ben Ames Williams wrote the story.

PARAMOUNT BILL HELD OVER

Record box-office receipts are responsible for the four Marx brothers in "Animal Crackers" and the opening stage show beginning a second week's engagement today at the Paramount Theater, according to the management.

In the film Groucho is seen as an African explorer with Zeppo as his secretary. They arrive at the Long Island estate of a wealthy society woman, and lionize her party.

Arriving on their heels are Harpo and Chico, wandering musicians, and then the fun begins at a fast and furious pace, with the recovery of a stolen painting and a romance furnishing the semblance of a plot.

On the stage the chorus ensemble is reported to be one of the largest ever featured in a revue of this kind. Sharing honors in the stage show are also Howard, Fine and Howard, eccentric comedians, Ted Leary, noted for his casual humor directed at audience and actors alike, and Ruth Shields, who has toured the country over the Publix circuit as prima donna.

PLAYERS TO SEE PICTURE AT CHINESE

Howard Hughes Invites Stage Performers Here to Attend Late Show

Saturday night's midnight matinee at the Chinese Theater will be dedicated to the stage players now being featured in the theaters of Los Angeles, it has been announced.

Howard Hughes, producer of "Hell's Angels," who is now in New York, hearing the theatrical season was well under way in this city, wired his representatives here to invite the footlight stars to come and see his air film and the stage revue preceding it as guests of honor at the late show.

Invitations are being extended to the Kolb and Dill company at the Hollywood Playhouse to the players here for "The Temptations of 1930" at the Mayan, to Elliott Nugent and his cast at El Capitan, to the cast of "It's a Wise Child" at the Belasco, and to Dorothy Mackaye and her supporting players at the Vine Street.

Brown Prepares to Direct Noted M.-G.-M. Singer

Preparations are well under way by Director Clarence Brown for his next production, which will have Lawrence Tibbett as star in a story written by Bess Meredyth and Wells Root, who are also writing the continuity and dialogue. Production will be ready to start when Tibbett completes his current picture, "New Moon," at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio.

Negro spirituals will have an important place in the Brown-Tibbett picture, which has a southern locale, and is yet unnamed.

This will not be the first picture to have a musical background that Clarence Brown has directed. "Wonder of Women" concerned a composer and had much music in its dramatic story.

Million Dollar Selecting New Vaudeville Acts

The office of S. M. Lazarus, who directs the destinies of the Million Dollar Theater, is a bee-hive of activity, these days. He and His staff are preparing for "Greater Vaudeville Week" which starts at the Million Dollar on the 11th inst. Local vaudevillians are being sought and Lazarus is also in communication with eastern booking offices.

In conjunction with the showing starting next week the screen production, "Hell's Island," will be presented. Jack Holt and Ralph Graves are expected to return from the East in time to attend the opening. Dorothy Sebastian, who plays the leading feminine role, will appear.

Wynn Purchases "Simple Simon"

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (Exclusive) Ed Wynn purchased yesterday from Florenz Ziegfeld the production, music and picture rights to "Simple Simon," in which he appeared at the Ziegfeld Theater in the late winter and spring. Wynn said that after revising the production he would take it on tour, with himself as star, probably opening October 6 in Newark. Harriet Hector has been re-engaged for the company, which will start rehearsals next week.

"Nine Till Six," the English play by Aimee and Philip Stuart, which will be one of the two all-feminine productions on Broadway early this season, will come to the Ritz Theater on the 29th inst. The Shuberts are bringing over an English cast for the play, which deals with doings in a London dressmakers' shop.

"Blind Mice," the other all-women play, is currently trying out in Atlantic City. It probably will arrive here the week of the 15th inst.

NORDSTROM CHOSEN FOR REVUE ROLE

Well-Known Juvenile to Act in "Temptations of 1930" at Mayan

Clarence Nordstrom, well-known New York juvenile, is the latest addition to the cast of principals for "The Temptations of 1930," due to open on the 22nd inst. at the Mayan Theater. Nordstrom is a Ziegfeld protege and also was featured in the "Greenwich Village Follies," "Queen High," "Cross My Heart," "Overseas Revue," "The Passing Show" and "Mollie Darling."

Nordstrom came to California following a nervous breakdown, it is said, but has now completely regained his health and was signed for the "Temptations," delaying his return to New York.

Chorus and ensembles have been rehearsing during the past week under the direction of LeRoy Prinz, former Earl Carroll associate.

'Squealer' to Start Run at R.-K.-O. House

"The Squealer," which is the screen attraction on the program opening today at the R.-K.-O. Theater, stars Jack Holt as a gang-leader who to outward appearances is a debonair, successful business man.

Young Davey Lee, who appeared with Al Jolson in "Sonny Boy" and "The Singing Fool," plays a supporting role. Dorothy Revier has the feminine lead and Matt Moore is also in the cast. Others are Zasu Pitts, Robert Ellis and Louis Natheaux. Harry Joe Brown directed.

The new R.-K.-O. vaudeville unit is headed by Charles Withers in "Withers' Opry." Other acts are "Scooter" Lowry, Harriman, Swan and Lucille, and Marge La Marr and Helen Boice.

Little Theater Gets Under Way

A local little theater movement was inaugurated last night with the production of "Othello" at the Royal Palms Hotel under the direction of John Peter Richmond, who played the title role.

Molly Mullens, 18-year-old actress, portrayed Desdemona and presented a likeable and intelligent performance. The young lady has been playing in Spanish versions of talking pictures, speaking Spanish and French as well as English.

Supporting Richmond and Miss Mullens were Philip Morros, Olive Beddoime and Harry Musselle.

R.-K.-O. GOES INTO STAGE PRODUCTION

William LeBaron Heads Organization to Present Plays at Mason

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (Exclusive) William Le Baron, vice-president in charge of R.-K.-O. productions, will head a subsidiary company of R.-K.-O. for the production of plays in Los Angeles and New York, it was announced today.

The new company, which will be known as Metropolitan Productions, Ltd., is expected to present the first play about November 1, next, at the Mason Theater in Los Angeles. Plays of special promise will be brought to New York after the Coast production. Frederick O. Latham will act as general stage manager and Charles Harris, former manager of the Longacre Theater, as business manager for the new company. It is planned to convert most of the plays into talking pictures for R.-K.-O.

Universal Plans to Screen War Film in France

Universal has decided to show "All Quiet on the Western Front" in France, according to an announcement.

French newspapers in the United States, as well as special audiences composed largely of French folk who have seen the picture, have greeted "All Quiet" most sympathetically, according to the Criterion Theater management, which is now screening the film.

"All Quiet" takes no sides in the war, it is said. War is shown to be as impersonal as bolts of lightning or earthquakes. The hero who kills a French soldier in a shell hole is himself killed by a French soldier. In theaters all over the United States and throughout the world audiences invariably applaud "Kat's" lines:

"Put the kings, generals and diplomats in a pit when the next war starts and let them fight it out themselves while we look on."

"Bad Man" to Commence Run Here Tomorrow

With "Moby Dick," John Barrymore's starring picture closing a three weeks' run today at Warner Brothers' Downtown, another star will ride into the theater tomorrow in the person of Walter Huston, who plays the leading role in "The Bad Man."

The play was successful on the stage, the author being Porter Emerson Brown.

Huston is said to be noted for his versatility. He has never done two characterizations on stage or screen that resembled each other. His role as the villain in "The Bad Man," is claimed to be his greatest achievement in versatility. Dorothy Revier, O. P. Heggie and others are in the supporting cast.

Cricket Played in New Picture

Because Raffles, the amateur cracksman in the picture of the same name now playing at Pantages Hollywood, was known to his friends as a great cricketer, Samuel Goldwyn has provided the first big league cricket sequence ever to be seen in a feature picture.

Ronald Colman plays "Raffles" and in his support appear Kay Francis and David Torrence.

Stage entertainment accompanying the picture includes Pantheon and Marco's musical piece, "Southern Idea," and also the personal appearance of Tom Waring.

"Cup of Sugar" at Vine-street

Lynn Starling's comedy, "A Cup of Sugar," with Dorothy Mackaye in the leading role, got away to a flying start at the Vine-street Theater Monday night.

In "A Cup of Sugar," Starling depicts a phase of contemporary metropolitan life with farcical treatment. The Forest Hills section of Long Island is the locale, with one act laid in an obscure Atlantic City hotel.

In support of Miss Mackaye are Louis Baker, Douglas Gilmore, Kathryn Givney, Dina Smirnova, Boyd Irwin, Maurice Brierre and Charles Moore.

COURT DEFERS PERJURY CASE

Max Berensweig May Escape Trial for False Swearing

District Attorney to Summon Witnesses from East

Former Police Investigator Held for Still Raid

Trial of Max Berensweig, former police investigator, charged with perjury in connection with a liquor case prosecuted here more than a year ago, was continued yesterday by Superior Judge Schauer until today upon the request of Defense Attorneys Thoms and Hahn.

Berensweig is accused of having given false testimony on December 11, 1928, concerning the arrest of John Barr, Sam Bruno and Charles Mercurio, accused of operating a still at 4179 South Figueroa street.

The indictment accuses Berensweig of testifying that Barr was sitting downstairs in the house with a baby on his lap at the time officers found the still in an upper room. Investigators assert that Barr was attending the still at the time.

Absence of prosecution witnesses, however, prevented the case from being sent to trial yesterday. Dist.-Atty. Fitts declared that he will not dismiss the prosecution, that he has a good case and will summon witnesses from the East to substantiate his case.

A definite decision on the matter is expected from Judge Schauer today.

Divorce Action Begun Against Albert Kaufman

Divorce proceedings were instituted yesterday against Albert A. Kaufman, motion-picture executive, by Mrs. Rita Krone Kaufman. She charges desertion. They were married in 1918 and separated August 28, 1930, she says.

In her complaint Mrs. Kaufman merely asserts that her husband, a brother-in-law of Adolph Zukor, film magnate, left her without cause and against her will. Kaufman is an executive at the Paramount studio.

A property settlement has been reached. The wife asks custody of their son, Albert, Jr., 6 years of age. Attorney Neil McCarthy represents Mrs. Kaufman.

Freak Accident Kills Workman

Willie Sutton, 22 years of age, of 1751 Hollywood Way, Burbank, was killed instantly yesterday in a freak accident at Bradford street and San Fernando Road, Van Nuys.

The motor of a rock crusher which he was cranking, backfired and hurled him under the wheels of a passing truck, driven, according to police, by Bob Brierly, a fellow-employee. Both the truck and a trailer passed over his body. He was dead when other workmen reached him.

LINES TIED TO SAFES ON OCEAN BED

Derrick Barge will Raise Money Boxes that Sank with Gambling Ship

Two safes that went down with the burned gambling barge Montfalcone last Saturday night were located by divers yesterday in eleven fathoms of water at a point about three miles southeast of Long Beach light. The find was made by Divers Charles Smale and William Lehi of the Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corporation.

They reported the smaller safe had been broken open, probably in crashing through the deck, and that it was empty. The other is intact. This one, according to Tommy Jacobs, owner of the vessel, contains about $20,000 in currency.

After working on the ocean floor all afternoon Smale and Lehi placed slings about both safes and brought the lines to the surface. A derrick barge will anchor at the spot today and raise the sunken treasure.

EPITHET RESENTED

Being called "dumb" by her husband was unendurable, Mrs. Madge Shaver yesterday complained in asking to be divorced from Thomas H. Shaver. Superior Judge Tapaan granted her a divorce. Her husband now is in South America, she added.

DANCES TO CELEBRATE FREEDOM

Mexicans to Observe Day of Independence with Open Air Barbecue

The national dances of three nations, an open-air barbecue with a variety of Mexican dishes, and a display of the national sports of that country will be included in the program arranged for the 14th inst., when members of the Mexican colony here will celebrate their Independence Day at Luna Park. The celebration has been divided into two parts, the first on the 14th inst. and the second on the 16th inst.

The celebration will mark the one hundred and twentieth anniversary of Mexican freedom attained when the priest, Miguel Hidalgo, united his country against the dominion of Spain and on September 16, 1810, established a republic.

Native dances of the Argentine, Spain and Mexico will be given as a part of the celebration, when Senora Trinidad Goni will lead a group of girl dancers through the jota, jarabe and tango. Senora Goni is a recent arrival in Los Angeles from Seville, Spain.

Sponsors of the celebration yesterday said that a large quantity of typical Mexican food will be prepared for a free barbecue by Fred Ramirez and extended an invitation to the public to attend.

Maude Adams Jubilee Plans Brought Here

A jubilee celebration to be held every ten years honoring Maude Adams, famous American actress, is the plan of the Maude Adams Jubilee Association, according to Bradford Mills, general secretary of the organization, who arrived here yesterday.

The first observance is to be this year, making the thirty-third anniversary of Miss Adams's debut as a star in Sir James Barrie's "The Little Minister" in September, 1897.

Mills is in Los Angeles to confer with Houston Branch, whose play, "Safe in Hell," was selected by the jubilee association as the prize-winning play for this decade. Mills stated there is a possibility that the play may be produced in Los Angeles instead of New York, as originally planned.

He said that the play was selected because it is the best piece of realistic stage writing submitted to the play selection committee.

Court to Rule Today on Hulme Auto Death Case

Phillip D. Hulme, wealthy real estate operator of 212 Hidalgo avenue, Alhambra, must wait until this afternoon to find out whether he is to face Superior Court trial on manslaughter charges, Municipal Judge Turney ordered yesterday.

The order followed a motion by Richard Cantillon, defense attorney, to dismiss the complaint because there were no eyewitnesses to the accident in which Hulme assertedly ran down David Thomas on the Seventh-street viaduct on August 10, last, and negligence could not be proved. Cantillon will argue the motion today and Judge Turney's decision will follow.

Finance Official Sued by Spouse

Asserting that her husband stayed out late nights and that strange women called him up at their home, 111 North Plymouth Boulevard, Mrs. Edna V. Baker yesterday filed a suit asking for a divorce from Fred S. Baker, finance company executive.

The wife also complains that on several occasions when Baker purchased flowers and she asked him whom they were for he told her it was none of her business.

Mrs. Baker asks a legal separation, the custody of a minor daughter and alimony of $350 a month.

WIVES OF HOTEL MEN TO BE ENTERTAINED

With reservations indicating that a large number of women will be in attendance at the annual convention of the California Hotel Association to be conducted at Lake Arrowhead the 18th, 19th and 20th inst., a revised program has been arranged which contains many additional entertainment features for the wives of delegates, it was announced last night by E. W. Cason, secretary of the association. In addition to a miniature golf tournament for women, a regular golf meet will be conducted on the Arrowhead Lake course. Boat trips around the lake and bridge and swimming parties also are planned.

COMPANY HONORS HORTON

In reward for having written more policies than any man on the Pacific Coast during the past year, Mead H. Horton, 333 South Kingsley Drive, is about to be sent to Saranac Lake, N. Y., as special delegate to the convention of the New York Life Insurance Company's Four Hundred Club. He expects to leave by Western Air Express Saturday, accompanied by Mrs. Horton.

The New in Stores & Homes

Novelties, Ideas, and Suggestions

By OLIVE GRAY

A week during which to dwell, in thought, upon the benefits of radio. Especially in the home is this great benefit to be considered; for, the homekeeper, while about her rather monotonous business may, by word-to-ear, keep in touch with all that is best in the eventful world—a touch which she might not, otherwise, obtain through experiences or even by reading.

A phase of radio not, perhaps, thought about is the stimulus to imagination. An event that might not be visualized under any other method seems actually to take place before one's eyes when described intimately, each detail traced as it occurs. To visualize is far from a universal quality but, like imagination, may be cultivated; and radio helps, immeasurably, to develop this sense.

Of Leather

Flowers fashioned from leather are a chic accompaniment of the tailored suit or ensemble.

In harmony with the color of the costume for street or sports, the leather lapel flower may be of suede, of reptile, of kid and should be in itself tailorish in effect. Distinctive ways and wheres of placement for this smart little boutonnierre are sought by the girl or woman in the know. Upon lapel, or sleeve, or posed at the back of the collar, or on the belt—these are some of this flower-way. And one very feminine girl tucks such a flower in the folds of the filmy kerchief caught in the flap of the leather purse, giving the feminine touch.

The Muff?

Some of the new season's coats of fur are accompanied by muffs! These may be worn upon a cord, dangling from the front of the coat; again they act as actual hand-warmers—but not just now! Muffs, also, are shown with the long coats of cloth, the peltry of the muff matching that of the high-upstanding collar which forms so important a feature of the modish coats of the season.

The School Child

Some criticism has been sent forth, regarding the way in which American mothers dress their children, especially their daughters. It is said, by those au courant of the mode for little ones of school age, that too often girls are clad too lavishly, are given frocks and coats and hats too like those of their mammas. The French, especially, and those taking their curriculum from Parisian modes, are given to dressing their children with utmost simplicity. Straight-line frocks, usually of simple weaves in cotton, or sometimes of wool; unsophisticated hats and accessories in keeping with the mode conservative are theirs, without deviation. All too soon, it is said, American girls of school age attempt to imitate their elders. And so, it is cosidered smart and very knowing to restrain these growing ones to simplicity for every day, while for the little festivities connected with their school days, the lines of dress are equally simple, though they may be developed in plain weaves of silk or crepe, but never admitting any of the ornate decoration attached to older women's dress.

Baguette

Some seasons past the cut in gems called "baguette" came into prominence, with the better jewelers; and now this form of jewelry is expressed in costume effects. Pendants, with simulated gems cut square or oblong, ear-rings fashioned on the same lines and often rings of the baguette cut are shown where costumes are to be given the jewel-color touch by means of inexpensive numbers. More especially are the brilliants, such as rubies, emeralds, sapphires—of the so-called kind, shown in this expression.

Aunt Jane's Way

Fond as we all are of grape jam, we sometimes find this especially California delicacy forming into a pulp along toward the end of the season when the jam closet is rifled. Aunt Jane has a way of changing this and of softening the jam for the morning waffles or pancakes that we so like. She beats the jam with a silver fork to distribute the pulp, making it pliant as jelly and much more likable for table use than is the thicker substance.

Old Games Are New

That even games are subject to variations in Fashion, is proved by the revivals which have come to pass, together with the recrudescence in modes of dress.

Croquet, ping-pong, archery now are evinced by many who are decidedly in the know. If, possibly, a bit of betting may add to the interest of these revivals—who knows but that betting was a diversion with our hoop-skirt-wearing forebears! Not all is ever told, in any age, when history is transcribed.

Gilded Calico

In this topsy-turvy day in fabrics, one should not be surprised at anything; but it was somewhat upsetting to one's knowledge of materials, to find patch-calico simulated in a frock of golden weave. First glance, you would have avowed the material of that garment to be plain patch-calico such as our grandames used for quilts; but close examination disclosed the aristocratic warp and woof of that which so humbly seemed.

Furry Berets

The omnipresent beret daily finds new ways of being. It was but a step from the furry Angora from which this so accommodating little hat has been fashioned, to actual peltry in which it now appears. In beige, in brown, in black, in white—doubtless of lapin, a fur as accommodating and as omnipresent as the beret itself—this little hat comes forth to match or harmonize with coats of fur, for the new season.

POLICE CHIEF TEST DAY SET

Long-Delayed Examinations will be Conducted by Civil Service Board 18th and 19th Inst.

Limited to residents of Los Angeles, the test for a Chief of Police of Los Angeles has been set for the 18th and 19th inst. in the City Hall, it was announced yesterday by General Manager Amsden of the civil service department, following the vote Tuesday by the Civil Service Commission to hold the examination at as early a date as possible.

A year's residence in the city is required and under the qualifications, fixing the age limit between 30 and 56 years, Chief Steckel, who holds the emergency appointment, deputy chiefs and captains are expected to make application to take the test.

The date for the close of applications was fixed for the 12th inst. and qualifications require the equivalent of a high school education, a thorough knowledge of modern police administration and civil and criminal laws affecting police practice and procedure.

At least ten years of responsible police experience, of which five must have been in a responsible supervisorial capacity, the whole ten being immediately preceding the date of the test, is necessary.

The salary is $500 monthly.

The test will start at 1 p.m. on the 18th inst. and last five hours, and at the same hour on the 19th inst., lasting approximately four and one-half hours. General qualifications will count for four points. The commission will supervise the test.

The commission will have before it next week the request of the Police Commission for another sixty-day extension of the emergency appointment of Chief Steckel. It is understood that this will be granted and that the selection of a chief will be made after the expiration of the emergency appointment.

The test has been delayed for more than six months at the request of the Police Commission to give Chief Steckel an opportunity to become sufficiently familiar with his duties and to cram for the examination.

Oil Promoter's Trial on Perjury Charge Opened

Trial of the case of A. P. Luse, oil promoter, on a charge of perjury in testimony he gave in a former trial on a charge of misuse of the mails started yesterday before United States District Judge Cosgrave.

It is expected the trial will take about four court days. Luse formerly was tried before Judge James, the jury disagreeing.

It was stated by Asst. U. S. Attys. Redwine and Gallagher that numerous witnesses have been brought here from Texas to refute Luse's testimony in his former trial. Most of the day was taken up in obtaining a jury.

THREAT AGAINST BABY CITED IN DIVORCE

Threats to kill her baby were asserted against her husband yesterday by Mrs. Vernie M. Burk in getting a divorce from Clyde Burk salesman. Mrs. Burk testified he called her "bad names all the time and was domineering, arrogant and tyrannical." Superior Judge Jamison granted her a decree.

PUBBER SALARY NEEDED FOR TWO-HOME STRETCH

How a $125 salary can be stretched to cover more than $200 of a husband's expenses and a wife's alimony requirements yesterday stumped Superior Judge Smith and two lawyers. Mrs. Jewell Frances O'Dea, 22 years of age, submitted this problem by asking for temporary alimony and expenses pending trial of her suit for divorce from John P. O'Dea, a wallpaper salesman.

"I only get $125 a month," protested O'Dea. "It takes that much to support me and my mother."

"His mother has a perfectly able-bodied husband," asserted Mrs. O'Dea.

Judge Smith figured and then ordered O'Dea to pay his wife $22.50 a month, $50 toward fees of her attorney, Joseph R. Marquette, and $11.50 court costs. These items added to the $125 which O'Dea asserts he needs total $209.

Mrs. O'Dea complains that O'Dea boasted to a neighbor that he had been out with a girl. The wife also asserts that she found O'Dea in their home with a woman July 7.

'Big Four' Polo Team Again Meets Defeat

RESERVE RIDERS RUIN REGULARS

Pedley, Hitchcock, Boeseke Star in Game

Hopping May Still Lose Place on Four

Announce American Line-up Friday Night

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

PORT WASHINGTON (N. Y.) Sept. 3. (AP)—The American polo "Big Four" arrayed as it probably will ride against the British in the first international cup match this Saturday, met defeat today in its final "test" match for the second time within five days.

ELMER BOESEKE

Although Hopping apparently has won the battle for the No. 2 position in a four-cornered contest with three westerners, he likely will be replaced if the American attack shows any signs of weakening in the first match with the English team. If any substitution is made Elmer J. Boeseke, Jr., another Californian, probably will be called on in preference to the two Texans, Rube Williams and Cecil Smith, who have figured prominently in the test matches.

Pedley and Hitchcock for the white-clad regulars and Boeseke, playing back for the "Reds," were the stars of today's play. Each tallied three goals, most of them on spectacular shots from difficult angles.

The team, composed of Eric Pedley, Earle A. S. Hopping, Capt. Tommy Hitchcock and Winston Guest, was unable to overcome a handicap concession of four goals and trailed the "Reds," 11 to 8, after eight periods, shortened from the customary 7½-to-5 minutes each.

The abbreviated contest, last of the long series of trial matches, was more of a workout for the American players than an actual "test," with Earle Hopping back again at No. 2 in the latest and probably last of the changes affecting this much disputed position.

Although the American line-up for the defense of the international cup will not be announced until Friday night, the eve of the first match, it was believed Capt. Hitchcock has decided definitely to enter the battle with the four horsemen who rode together today. If so the present of Eric Pedley at No. 1,

Jesse Raps Two Homers and Triple for Vittmen

Hollywooders Cop Slugfest from Missions, 16-11

Pair of Circuit Pokes are Also Hit by Hofmann

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—Hollywood beat the Missions today, 16 to 11, in a loosely played, hard-hitting contest. Freddie Hofman did his full share for the Missions by belting two home runs that knocked in six tallies, but Jesse Hill, former Trojan star, did better than that, for he got two home runs and a three-bagger. He also drove out a long fly on which Rosenberg made a three-base error, two runs scoring on the miscue. Hank Severeid also hit a home run.

JESSE HILL

Herman Pillette started for the Missions and was knocked out of the box in the fourth inning. Hill's triple was the finishing blow. Johnson, a long, lean young southpaw from Santa Rosa, finished the pitching chore, and he was hit hard in the seventh. Hill got his

JOHN McGRAW SIGNS AGAIN WITH GIANTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants for more than a quarter of a century, announced today he had signed a contract to lead the Giants for another five years. Announcement was made at this time, he said, to dispel rumors he was to move to the American League or to some other National League club.

JIM WOODS RESIGNS AS CHAIRMAN

Business Pressure Reason for Quitting Position on Athletic Commission

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 3.—James Woods, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, has tendered his resignation to Gov. C. C. Young, it was admitted today at the Governor's office. The letter of resignation was dated August 2, and the pressure of private business was given as the reason for quitting the board. Gov. Young says he will name Woods's successor in the near future, and the dope is the commissionership will go to Dr. Harry Martin, of Hollywood, who has the backing of Joseph Schenck, movie magnate, member of the State Highway Commission and personal friend of the Governor.

JAMES E. WOODS

Wood's resignation did not come as a surprise, as he has been threatening to do so for several months. Rumors of his resignation first became current when Woods moved from Los Angeles to San Francisco, thereby giving the Bay City two boxing commissioners and leaving the southern country without the active supervision of a commissioner.

When Gov. Young fills Woods's place he also is expected to reappoint William H. Hanlon of Sacramento, whose term expired on January 1, last, but who has been serving as a hold-over member. Woods's term expires on January 1, 1932. The term of Charles Traung of San Francisco ends on January 1, 1931, which means Gov. Young will have the opportunity of naming an

SOUTH TIPS THE NORTH AGAIN

Fay Coleman (right,) Southern California champion, defeated Herb Schultz, Northern California champion, in the first round of match play for the State crown at Pebble Beach yesterday. Coleman is the south's outstanding hope to win the State title, and his accuracy should stand him in good stead on the tricky oceanside course.

Eight Southern California Golfers Enter Second Round Today; Little Defeats Stevens in Close Match

PEBBLE BEACH, Sept. 3. (AP)—California's leading golfers marched off on the trail to the State amateur championship today in a first round featured by three upsets, some unusually tight play and a preponderance of one-sided matches.

Dr. Jack Wolf, golfing dentist of San Francisco, contributed one of the surprises when he defeated Russell Thompson of Glendale on the nineteenth. Other matches whose endings failed to check up with advance predictions saw Winston Fuller of Los Angeles nose out his fellow-townsman, Dan Sangster, on the nineteenth while Harry Westbrook, another Los Angeles entrant, toured the tricky Pebble Beach course in sufficiently impressive manner to beat out Jack Gaines of Otrard, 2 and 1.

FAVORITES WIN

Among the favorites to come through were Lawson Little of San Francisco, medalist; John McHugh, winner of the title three times previously; Fay Coleman of Los Angeles and Francis Brown of Honolulu.

Little won a hard-fought battle from F. C. Stevens, Jr., of Hollywood, 1 up. Stevens, runner-up last year, picked up on the eighteenth after his poor out from a trap sent the ball spinning across to the far side of the green. Little posted a par 5 for the 540-yard ...ste. Stevens started like a winner and his 34, two under par for the first nine, gave him a 1-up

AMERICANS IN YACHT TRIUMPH

Sloop Lucie Leads Winners Over British Vessels

OYSTER BAY (N. Y.) Sept. 3. (AP)—With the American six-meter sloop Lucie, sailed by Briggs S. Cunningham, leading the procession, the United States quartet of yachts won the third successive team match with Great Britain today, scoring 20 1-4 points to 16 by the English boats.

The match gave the United States team a commanding lead for the British-American Cup, which is decided on the basis of the best four out of seven matches. Although the total point score has no bearing on the result of the series, the count now stands: United States, 60 3-4; Great Britain, 40.

The British once again upset a perfect score in the honor positions, when Coral, sailed by Maj. A. A. Stuart-Black, fin-

TROTTERS SMASH WORLD RECORDS AT SYRACUSE

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) Sept. 3. (AP)—Two world records were smashed today in the Grand Circuit races here. The first came when Hollywood Chief came home in 2:06½ to win the final heat of the Empire State $10,000 trotting handicap, that time being the fastest ever made by a trotter from a standing start.

The second was in the Yates Hotel two-year-old pacing event when Handy Dillon was chased home in 2:04 1-4, lowering the record of Calumet Adam for two-year-old pacers by one-quarter of a second.

Tom Berry had a field day of it with his Hanover Farm horses, winning the final heat of the American Horse Breeders' Futurity with

CALIFORNIA GIRLS WIN

Helen Marlowe, Dorothy Workman, Carolyn Babcock in National Girls' Net Semifinals

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3. (AP)—Sarah Palfrey, defending champion from Boston, was the only eastern player remaining tonight to block the challenge of the Pacific Coast for the girls' national tennis championship at the Philadelphia Cricket Club. California today sent three representatives into the semifinals, Helen Marlowe, Dorothy Workman and Carolyn Babcock.

In the upper bracket tomorrow Miss Palfrey, seeded first, meets Miss Babcock, seeded No. 4, while Miss Marlowe seeded No. 2, clashes with Miss Workman, listed third.

DOROTHY WORKMAN

Miss Palfrey was given her first real test of the tournament today by Miss Carolyn Roberts, of New York, after losing the first set without capturing a game, the New York girl came back to give the title-holder her keenest battle thus far. Both slashed the other's service in the first games. Miss Roberts won service in the fifth to lead for the first time, 3-2.

PIRATES STOP CHICAGO CUBS, 9-6; GIANTS SPLIT TWIN BILL WITH BRAVES

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 3. (AP)—A sixth-inning rally which netted Pittsburgh six runs, enabled the Pirates to beat back the league-leading Chicago Cubs, 9 to 6, today. The Cub loss, while the New York Giants were splitting even with Boston in a double-header, allowed McGraw's contenders to creep up within three and a half games of the champions.

BUD TEACHOUT

The entire Buccaneer line-up batted around in the big sixth, Comorosky, who started the rally with a double, fanning with two men on to end the frame. The Pirates made six hits in the inning, two of which were doubles, and these, linked with two walks, produced the half-dozen tallies that spelled victory.

MARSHALL VICTOR OVER M'COY IN DUEL ON MAT

Everett Marshall signalized his return to the local mat by winning a thrilling two-out-of-three fall match from Bob "Bibber" McCoy, a newcomer from Boston, at the Olympic last night.

McCoy, short and roly poly, bounced in and out like a rubber ball and showed Marshall a lot of new pretzel tricks. He is a former football player, and proved colorful in his initial local encounter.

Marshall won the first fall in 17m. 46s. with a head scissors and double wristlock. McCoy took the second with a double arm bar in 16m. 53s., and Marshall won the final with his celebrated airplane spin.

Marshall's weight was announced as 220 pounds and McCoy as 226.

Seven Members of "First Ten of Tennis" Entered in Pacific-Southwest Tour

TILDEN HEADS LIST OF STARS

Wilmer Allison Also Among Players to Compete

Lott and Wood to Appear in Western Net Event

Cream of National Tourney Lured Coastward

Entering the class of the Pacific Southwest c[illegible] patches from Forest Hills reveal seven out of the first ten Americans seeded for the nationals to be entered in the western classic at the Los Angeles Tennis Club, the 19-28 inst. These seven are [illegible], according to Perry Jones, tournament manager, with the likelyhood of one or two more participating, thus transferring the cream of the national tournament to the western coast.

BILL TILDEN

William Tilden II and Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., seeded number 1 and 2 of the American group head off the important group which will head west after the national playoff. Although Big Bill was expected to top the list of Yankee players, Allison's jump into second place in the ratings has caused local tournament officials to switch their plans on seeding for the Pacific Southwest.

Following Allison, George Lott, Jr., of Chicago ranks number 3 and along with Sidney B. Wood of New York who was seeded number 4 in the East will compete at the Los Angeles club later on in the month. Clifford Sutter of New Orleans was picked for number 5 position, and, in all probability, will not appear in the Southern California event this year. Johnny Doeg of Santa Monica, Cal., at 6 may come west in time to compete with the rest of the Davis Cup stars.

Although no definite word has been heard from Johnny concerning his immediate tennis plans, he has never failed to put in an appearance in the western tournaments which gave him his start to international fame.

MANGIN TO COME WEST

Gregory Mangin, ranked No. 7 by the eastern authorities for the Forest Hills event, and an alternate on the Davis Cup squad, has assured local officials that he will come west with the "big four" for his debut in the Pacific Southwest.

No. 8 went to Johnny Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., not a newcomer to the Pacific Southwest, and who will not be a stranger when the role is called on the courts of the Los Angeles club.

Ellsworth Vines, whose home town is within kiddie-car distance to the scene of the Pacific Southwest, that is to say, he hails from Pasadena, has been placed No. 9 for the national play. He has entered what he considers his "home tournament" and will leave immediately after the eastern event to take up the cause of local boosters against the invasion of eastern class.

Frank Hunter of New Rochelle, doubles partner of Bill Tilden and holder of the 1927 Pacific Southwest doubles title, may not return to the Coast. Hunter makes up the tenth member of the "cream" of the national tournament.

CONTESTANTS SHOULD SIGN

Although some of the eastern entries will not appear in the office of Roland Reinke, chairman of the tournament committee, until the Forest Hills tournament gets well under way, Pacific Coast players who have any intentions of "making the grade" should return their entries early in order to insure favorable action, it was stated by Reinke last night.

Southern California women's champion.

Miss Hermine Wocker, Crystal Springs, followed the two leaders with 82, while Mrs. Brent Potter, San Jose, and Miss Bea Gottlieb of Los Angeles tied for fourth place with 84 strokes each. Mrs. Mark Steele, Los Angeles, and Mrs. J. W. Proctor, San Francisco, needed one stroke more and Miss Helen Lawson, Los Angeles, finished in seventh place with 86.

Mrs. W. W. Campbell of Los Angeles, the former Doreen Kavanaugh, tied for last place in the championship flight, but lost the play-off for a place in the elite division, and withdrew from the tournament.

Mrs. J. Deland of Pico won low net with 91-17—74.

The match play will start tomorrow and end Sunday morning with the eighteen-hole finals.

In the play-off for the championship flight, six were tied at 91, for two places. Miss Mary Lou Powers of Fresno, and Mrs. George Crook won out.

HUFFT PASSES 200 MARK

Fuzzy Hufft passed the 200 mark in safe hits in the second game on Monday when he crashed out his thirty-first home run of the season. Four or five players have reached the 200 mark in safe hits.

FITTED OUT IN A NEW HELMET

MOSES TO PLAY WITH FIREMEN

Blewett Greets Don as Big Hope of Fire-eaters

Don Moses is not through with football. An announcement late yesterday from the Los Angeles fire department athletic offices through E. O. Barnett, athletic director, brings to light the fact that Galloping Don will play with the fire department team this season. Moses recently quit U.S.C. He had one more year but Don decided to take the fire department examination and with that he became eligible to play with the Smoke-eaters on the gridiron.

Moses reported to Coach Bill Blewett yesterday at the training-field of the firemen at Harvard Playground and donned one of the department's uniforms.

Blewett was tickled pink to have Moses for his team as the firemen play some of the leading clubs and colleges on the Coast this season. Moses will take over the fullback job, Blewett announced.

Moses will have as his teammates on the backfield of the fire department squad, Milt Nolan, former Loyola star, "Boots" Beyers, recently of De Paul University, and Les Grimes. Grimes will captain the Smoke-eaters this season. The backfield will average 178 pounds.

The fire department line has been strengthened by the addition of Ed Stevens, a 215-pound guard, who was the captain-elect of the California Aggies. Blewett has two ends in Royce Wheeler and Herdina, whom he claims rate with the best in their class of play on the Coast.

The majority of the fire department games will be played at Wrigley Field. Most of them will be staged at night.

In the curtain raiser Nick Lutze, the old favorite, beat Frank Leavitt, who weighed about 300 pounds, in 6m. 38s.

Anzacs Return from British Empire Games

Australia's representatives in the British Empire athletic championships held recently in Hamilton, Can., will arrive in Los Angeles tonight en route home from the contests in which 400 athletes from all the British possessions participated. Under the leadership of Manager Weir they will be the guests of the California Tenth Olympiad Association during their stay and will make their headquarters at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

While the Australians sent only a few athletes they won more points in proportion to their number than any of the British dominions. One of their number won the 400 and 1500-yard swimming races, Bob Pearce retained his title as the world's premier sculler and their track athletes did well also. Golding, one of the quarter-milers, ran the 440 at Toronto in 47 4-5 while his team-mate, Bascombe, did flat. Whyte, the Australian mile champion, took a strong second to Thomas of England who ran the mile in 4m. 14s. The Australians will go north from Los Angeles, their sailing dates having been switched as the result of the sinking of the steamer Tahiti some weeks ago.

also played a sparkling game at short for the visitors, coming up with two brilliant plays in the eighth inning. Both sides played ragged ball, the Seals being guilty of four errors and the Angels two.

It must be remembered, however, that the two teams are badly crippled, the Angels especially, being out there with a makeshift infield.

The crowd of about 6500 fans saw the contest, which dropped the Angels to four and one-half games behind the league-leading Stars.

San Francisco started off with a run in the first inning when Fowles singled over second, took third on Pinelli's hit to right and scored when Crosetti forced Pinelli.

The Angels came back with two runs in their half of the round. Parker slashing a triple down the left-field line to start the fireworks. Harper hit down to Baker, whose foot missed first base as he hurried a late throw to the plate. Parker scored and Harper continued on to third when Gaston made a wild throw to head him off at second. Haney's single to right scored Harper.

FOUR MORE

Los Angeles added four more runs in the second and drove Turpin to the showers. Stats led off with a single to right and Rawlings walked. Hannah bunted the runners along. Yerkes hit down to Crosetti, who made a wide throw to the plate, Stats scoring and Rawlings taking third. Parker slashed a single to right to put Rawlings over the plate.

Yerkes took third on the hit and Parker went to second on the throw in. Harper drove a single between Baker and first base to send Yerkes and Parker home.

McDougal then replaced Turpin and retired the side.

The Seals nicked Yerkes for three more runs in the third when Pinelli walked, Crosetti doubled to left and Baker cleaned the bases with a long home run over the left-field fence.

Yerkes was hammered off the mound in the sixth when the Seals scored four runs to forge to the front. With one away Glaston and McDougal singled. Powles forced McDougal but Pinelli singled to center to score Gaston. Barfoot then came on the scene and walked Crosetti to fill the bases. Baker singled to right, powles and Pinelli scoring, while Crosetti went to third. Caveney followed with another hit to right to chase Crosetti across the plate. Stats captured Oana's fly to end the big inning.

The Angels got to McDougal for a run in the seventh when Jacobs singled to left and Stats walked. Rawlings sacrificed and Jacobs scored on Hannah's infield out.

ANGEL ERRORS

Taking advantage of a couple of Angel mishaps the Seals put over four more runs in the eighth to lead, 12-7. Powles reached first on Haney's error to begin the inning and Pinelli bunted him to second. Crosetti then drove a home run over the center-field fence.

Baker beat out a hit to Haney and took second on Caveney's out. Oana was safe on Parker's low throw, Baker going to third. Coleman singled to right, scoring Baker and putting Oana on third. Oana and Coleman then worked a double steal, the former scoring. Coleman was hit by Gaston's batted ball to end the round.

COCHRANE LEADING

Welker Cochrane took a 100-86 lead over Layton last night in their 300-point match being staged at the Clifford Jones Billiard Parlor. Cochrane won the afternoon block, 50-49, in forty-nine innings, while Layton copped the evening struggle, 58-50. Layton made a high run of 14 last night.

MAIER SAOPS PANTALEO

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 3. (AP)—Davie Maier, local light-heavyweight, stopped Paul Pantaleo, Chicago, in the second round of a ten-round bout here tonight. Maier floored the Chicagoan six times before the referee halted the contest.

BALLOU AT TOP

Win Ballou has won his last six starts and now is listed among the Coast League's leading hurlers. He has won twelve games with six defeats up to date.

Tilden and Borotra

JEAN BOROTRA'S presence at Forest Hills, Long Island, lends an international turn to the coming tennis championship well beyond the ordinary. For Borotra is not only a slashing tennis player and a great competitor, but one of the most colorful of all entries, no matter what the game.

With Tilden in one bracket and Borotra in the other, the possibility of another Franco-American tennis war is imminent, but hardly certain. Both have a number of strong-playing youngsters to eliminate first, especially Borotra, who wades into trouble from the first day out.

There is always the possibility that Lott, Allison, Vines, Wood or several others will rise to a big day—a day big enough to carry even a Tilden or a Borotra to the limit. One of these two should win, with Tilden favored, but this next tennis party at Forest Hills should be one of the most interesting championships of many years. When you toss two such veterans as Tilden and Borotra into a flock of younger stars, the action is sure to be fast from the first volley.

The Many-Ring Circus

The situation is beginning to pop entirely too briskly in sport at this time. Both the tennis championship and the polo matches open on Saturday and carry over into next week. On Monday the P.G.A. championship gets under way at Fresh Meadow with Leo Diegel defending his title and on Saturday Shamrock V and Enterprise put on their deep-sea duel.

While all this is taking place the Giants and Cardinals will be chasing the Cubs, the Senators will be in hot pursuit of the Athletics and the now-thoroughly aroused Babe Ruth will be bounding along after Hack Wilson's scalp. To say nothing of landscapes cluttered up with football talent all over the map.

Only a double-deckered Argus can follow all these episodes and even then he would need the legs of a centipede as well. The next three or four weeks will crowd in more sporting action of national and international interest than any equal period of time has ever known before in the history of the world. There has been no similar period before that even approaches the quantity and quality of the coming program.

Football Talent

Talking to a number of football coaches now warming up for the fall season just ahead the feeling seemed to be that Yale, Harvard, Army, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania, Brown, Fordham and the Navy, among others, had cheerful outlooks to face so far as the East is concerned.

Knute Rockne reported that he had no great worry about his Notre Dame collection, and this sounds natural enough with such backs as Joe Savoldi, Carrideo, Brill, Schwartz and a few more on hand.

I asked Pop Warner how things looked on the Coast.

"Stanford, Southern California and California all have good material," he said, "although we have all lost many good men. But there will still be enough football players to hold about the same average. The presence of Dee Spears and Phelan from the Western Conference at Oregon and Washington has added new interest, since both have had fine records in the Middle West and both have good material to start with. The battle on the Pacific Coast this fall should be one of the most interesting seasons we have had with so many strong teams apparently so well matched."

Bill Alexander of Georgia Tech, who happened to be in the party on his way south, rated Vanderbilt, Georgia, North Carolina and Tennessee among the best in the Dixie division while expecting a big improvement from his own team over 1929.

As a rule football coaches are rarely cheerful or optimistic before the season opens, but the supply of good football material is larger than usual for 1930 and most of them are willing to admit it.

Lou Little at Columbia always carries around a philosophical angle. "We'll do the best we can and have a lot of fun anyhow," he said in discussing Columbia's outlook. "The way I look at football, the more fun your team has the better it will be."

And it might be mentioned that the affable Mr. Little knows about as much football as anyone you can think of, taking all the time you need for the thinking act.

I asked one of the best known of the eastern coaches what he thought the difference was between far western and eastern football. "Figuring in U.S.C. Stanford and California against any eastern team," he said, "the main difference is about this—they have two good football players to our one—matching university against university. It's a matter of more man power—and that means a lot."

"You might keep an eye on Harry Cooper in this next P.G.A. championship," Harold Sampson of San Francisco said. "He happens to be playing fine golf. He likes match play and the length of the Fresh Meadow course suits his game to the last word."

Light Horse Harry can gallop when he starts to cover ground.

It might be mentioned that Dr. Rockne isn't looking forward with any deep cheer to his early meeting with Southern Methodist, a football team that will bother more than a few this fall. Notre Dame teams are masters of the pass, but this one may see some new stuff in the air before the afternoon of October 4 is over.

Dove Hunters Boast Limit

Dove hunters back from opening day shoots in Southern California declare they found the game more plentiful than ever before, especially in Imperial and San Diego counties.

A great many of the gun bearers reported at the B. H. Dyas Company stores yesterday and stated that in the open countries, a limit (fifteen birds) should be taken by the average shooter in an hour's time.

Around Paso Robles, excellent hunting has been had since the season opened four days ago. Other locations where the game was found plentiful were in the vicinity of Hemet, San Jacinto, Antelope Valley, Ontario, Hesperia, Victorville, Cuyama Valley, Bakersfield and throughout the San Joaquin Valley.

According to the hunting experts at the Dyas Company, the first week-end will be preparing for the opening of the deer season in Southern California counties, which will open on September 15. The districts to open embrace some of the most wonderful deer hunting country in the State. This is especially true in the high Sierras country.

The deer season is now open in district 2, 3½ and 3, districts that take in central coast counties, coming as far south as Santa Barbara and Ventura. The season will close on September 14. To date quite a number of deer have been killed in Ventura and Santa Barbara counties, the heaviest being registered on the Dyas Company's scales, one of the season's trophy weighing 124 pounds. This trophy, a Savage rifle, will go to the hunter who personally registers the bearing deer, killed this season in California, at Dyas's downtown store.

LEMON, SAMPSON BOX DRAW AT WILMINGTON

Romeo Lemon and Bert Sampson battled to an eight-round draw last night in the main event at Wilmington. Ringsiders, however, figured that Lemon should have had the decision. Bud Baker knocked out Herb Coogan in the second round. Harry Alvarado beat Jack Stephens. Johnny Gonsales outpointed Jimmy Alvares. Frankie Brunell defeated Juan Farrell, while George Lopez knocked out Al Silva in the curtain raiser.

BENNETT GETS COACH JOB

EVANSTON (Ill.) Sept. 3. (AP)—Paul Bennett, star of the 1921 Canadian Davis Cup team, has been named tennis coach at Northwestern University. He succeeds Prof. Arthur Netherot, who will devote all his attention to his English department.

DIX STOPS ROBERTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3. (AP)—Madison Dix, hard-socking welterweight from Bellingham, Wash., scored a technical knockout over Joey Roberts of Oakland in the third round of a ten rounder here tonight.

BRYAN WINS SIXTH WIN

Ed Bryan chalked up his sixth straight victory on Monday. He has won eight out of his last nine starts. Bryan is now listed among the leading winners of the Coast League circuit with sixteen victories and eight defeats.

SHELLENBACK SUCCESSFUL

Frank Shellenback has been meeting with splendid success of late. He has scored five straight wins and now has a season record of twelve wins and seven defeats.

Acorns Rally to Trim Ducks

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 3. (AP)—The Oaks put on a vicious rally off Ray Keating in the ninth inning tonight, batted in four runs and nosed out a 5-to-4 victory over Portland.

Brubaker's double with two on, his second double of the game, was the decisive hit.

Lateral Pass Used in Pinch

BY SOL METZGER

The spirit of the ancient Greeks at Marathon or of the more modern French at Marengo is well matched by Missouri in modern college football, if the opposition happens to be Nebraska. That is the big day in a Missouri Valley Conference season, a day when fighting spirit rules supreme. So close was the battle of last year that the result was a 7-7 tie.

Missouri took command at the start with the thrilling forward-lateral pass. It worked both ways, first to the right and then to the left for a total of forty yards and a score. It's a modern play in every respect and one that we'll all see a great deal of this fall.

Ball comes back to Dilla, No. 3 back, on a punt formation. He breaks a few steps to the right while the right end, No. 5, charges around the defensive left tackle. It's the fast work at the crossroads, for no one protects Dilla. Dilla gets rid of the ball—a forward pass to end No. 5 on the tie line, a pass that brings up the defensive left half, who is bowled over by back No. 2 as he rushes forward. No. 1 back cuts through after the defensive quarter.

Just as the right end is about to be laid low he uncorks a lateral pass to the No. 4 back, who has come around wide as per the diagram. Note how Missouri's linemen get through to lead No. 4 down the field for a score.

ROBBERS HOLD HIGH CARNIVAL

September Hold-ups Average Seven Daily, So Far

Burglars Score Ten Hauls During Same Period

Reorganized Police Squad to Take Field Soon

While Captain of Detectives McCaleb still is getting his reorganized central robbery squad into shape to combat this summer's unprecedented crime increase, banditry, unabated since August's record-breaking total of 170 robberies, continued Tuesday night and early yesterday morning. Eight robberies reported during this time brought the total of the first two days of this month to fourteen.

The Bryson Apartments at Wilshire and Rampart boulevards was the scene of the latest hold-up. At 5 a.m. yesterday two youths carrying automatic pistols walked swiftly into the lobby and covered Kenneth Martin, night clerk. While one threatened the clerk the other plundered a cash drawer of $140. Both backed out of the fashionable dwelling and drove away in an automobile.

AUTOIST ROBBED

M. L. Allen reported he was held up and robbed of $30 by two automobile bandits when he stopped his car to fix headlights at Menlo and Slauson avenues.

E. P. Bogess, orange rancher of Pomona, was held up at Eighth and Francisco streets and robbed by another pair of bandits of $60, according to another report.

Forced into the curb as he was driving near his home at 3836 West Vernon Place, H. B. Norris was robbed of $28 and his watch by a trio of Mexican bandits. The latter disabled his car before they left.

MOTORIST HALTED

Charles Leslie of 3879 Third avenue was the victim of a similar robbery at Willow and Mateo streets by a third pair of automobile bandits. He lost $75, he said.

A Negro bandit stopped Mrs. S. J. Thomas of 3613 South Grammercy Place at Adams and Hoover streets as she was driving home after taking her husband to work. Threatening her with a revolver, he took $25.

A. H. Kindig, taxicab driver, was robbed of his cab and $10 by an erstwhile passenger at Seventh and Westlake avenue and a lone bandit robbed M. S. Burton of $12 in his gasoline service station at 1632 West Eighty-fifth street.

TWENTY BURGLARIES

Twenty burglaries were reported during the same period, maintaining, according to police records, the increase in this class of crime, which began with July 1, last. Since the beginning of the fiscal year on this date the records show a total of 239 robberies and 1045 burglaries reported.

Chief of Police Steckel declared yesterday that Capt. McCaleb's announcement that if necessary he is going to order the members of his robbery squad to visit bootlegging and gambling establishments to obtain information against burglars and bandits met with his approval.

"Any measures that Capt. McCaleb or Chief of Detectives Taylor see fit to take along that line to apprehend the bandits and burglars responsible for this crime increase will meet with full support from my office," he stated.

Exeter School Principal Hurt

EXETER, Sept. 3.—H. C. Stadtmiller, principal of the Lincoln Grammar School here, received serious injury to his knee in Oakland recently when he was struck down by an automobile.

According to reports reaching here, Stadtmiller may have a stiff knee-cap for several months, and probably will have to start his school work with it still in a cast.

Stadtmiller had been attending summer school at the California School of Arts and Crafts in Berkeley, and was expected to return here in time for opening of school on September 8.

PEDESTRIAN INJURED SERIOUSLY BY AUTO

Sam McClure, 22 years of age, of 813 McKinley avenue, suffered a fracture of the skull and possible internal injuries last night when he attempted to cross Avalon Boulevard at Florence avenue and was struck by an automobile driven by Robert Nash of 2033 West Seventy-first street. At Georgia-street Hospital McClure's condition is regarded as critical. Nash was not held by the police.

ERNEST TORRENCE, JR., PLANS TO TAKE BRIDE

Ernest Torrence, Jr., son of the motion-picture actor, yesterday filed a notice of intention to marry Lillore Green of 1601 Lexington Road, Beverly Hills. Torrence is a sound technician and lives at 7942 Hollywood Boulevard. His age was given as 23 years and Miss Green's as 21. Neither has been married before.

COUPLE WED SIXTY-FIVE YEARS

"Helping Each Other" Has Been Motto

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome B. Desnoyers

THERE are no formulas for successful marriages, in the opinion of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome B. Desnoyers of 337 South Almont Drive, Beverly Hills. And, since they speak from a wealth of sixty-five years of experience, the anniversary of which will be celebrated today, it should be safe to assume that they know whereof they speak.

In their case it was as simple as this: They decided when they were first married, said Mr. Desnoyers, always to help each other, and they have been doing it ever since.

Mr. Desnoyers is 88 years of age and his wife is 84. They will celebrate the occasion by holding open house from 3 to 10 p.m. today.

And, illustrating that their system for helping each other still is in good working order, Mrs. Desnoyers told how her husband had just finished squeezing the juice from fifteen dozen oranges for the punch they will make, while she baked nine cakes and cut the bread for enough sandwiches for the anticipated 200 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Desnoyers have been residents of Los Angeles for the last eighteen years.

Mrs. Desnoyers still enjoys doing her own housework, she says, and Mr. Desnoyers works in his garden and drives his own car. He has been a Mason for fifty-nine years.

Huge Throngs Visit Canyons Over Holiday

GLENDORA, Sept. 3.—An official record of figures compiled by Harold C. Ames, assistant to N. E. Petersen, district ranger, disclosed the fact that 11,192 people and 3278 cars entered San Gabriel, San Antonio and San Dimas canyons over the week-end.

San Antonio Canyon led the list with a total of 5621 people who spent the holidays in the canyon, and cars numbered 1766.

San Gabriel Canyon was next in line with a total of 4389 persons and 1221 cars, while San Dimas Canyon brought up the rear of the list with a total of 1002 persons registered for the week-end and 293 cars.

Petersen stressed the fact that it was unusual that there were no fires resulting from so large a number of campers being in the mountains at the same time.

"Extra patrolmen were placed on duty over Sunday and Labor Day in anticipation of the rush to the mountains, and a complete register of all persons entering the canyons was made by rangers," Petersen said.

WIFE GONE, HE SAYS

Other men attracted his wife, Frank Zens asserted yesterday in seeking a divorce. They were married in September, 1904, and separated July 22, last. Zenz complained that his wife has been away from him more than a year. Superior Judge Allen granted a decree.

GET TOGETHER ANNOUNCED

A get-together for former Panama Canal Zone residents will be conducted Sunday at Sycamore Grove Park. The Panama Canal Club of Southern California is sponsoring the affair. Those attending will take lunch baskets. Coffee will be served.

Jealous Wife Runs Amuck in Shooting Orgy

Jealous frenzy, according to police, last night caused Mrs. Viggo Steffensen, 55 years of age, to indulge in an orgy of wild revolver shooting at San Pedro.

Two of her shots were directed at Mrs. May Berger, 40, of 1190 Twenty-fourth street, San Pedro, whom Mrs. Steffensen accuses of having won her husband's affections.

Neither shot finding its mark, Mrs. Steffensen is accused of having fired four other shots without effect at persons she believed were trying to disarm her. Two of these bullets sped toward Joyce Hibbard, 15, of 2230 Walker street, San Pedro, who happened to be passing the Berger home. She then turned her weapon against L. D. Power, of 812 Twenty-third street.

Police finally succeeded in disarming Mrs. Steffensen. She insisted at the police station, where she was booked on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, that her husband, a fisherman, was in Mrs. Berger's home.

ARIZONA JUDGE TAKES FEDERAL BENCH HERE

United States District Judge Jacobs of Arizona yesterday began holding sessions in Los Angeles. He will hold court here for about a month. He has held court here on many occasions.

HOTEL SETS UP OFFICE

Establishment of a branch office at 53 Fifth street, San Francisco, was announced yesterday by Fay R. Smalley, director of public relations of the Alexandria. Walter Kempton has been appointed assistant manager of the local hostelry and placed in charge of the northern office.

FIESTA WILL OPEN TONIGHT

Celebration of City's Birthday Includes Two Days of Music, Dancing and Colorful Cayely

Details of the opening program for the two-day fiesta in celebration of the one hundred and forty-ninth anniversary of the founding of the city of Los Angeles have been announced by the committee in charge of arrangements, and will include a long list of feature numbers which are scheduled to keep the Plaza area the center of gayety and color from 6 p.m. until midnight tonight.

Officially, the program will begin promptly at 6:22 p.m. when the re-enactment of the founding ceremonies will take place before an altar at the entrance to the Paseo de Los Angeles. Don Eugene Plummer, impersonating Gov. Felipe de Neve, and Father Felipe La Vies will play the principal roles in the dedication service, and sixty-three persons representing the original settlers, soldiers and padres who were present will complete the authenticity of the reproduction.

OPENING OF FIESTA

Immediately after this service the band will play a short overture, after which Mayor Porter, from his box in the Plaza, will proclaim the opening of the fiesta. In rapid succession the numbers on the program will follow on a huge stage which has been erected on Los Angeles street facing the Plaza.

There will be the Lugo dancers, in a series of old-time California dances, sponsored by Mr. Plummer; the crowning of Miss Mildred Costello as Queen of the Fiesta by Mayor Porter; street dancing; numbers by the Edith Jane School of Dancing; street dancing; Bronson Rouse and his Spanish ballet; Trinidad Goni with Alicia and Miguel Morrow in a series of dances; Miss Costello leading a ballet of six persons; numbers by the Elisa Ryan dancers; dancers from the Norma Gould School; songs by Miss Ruth Golden; Miles Marchon singing a series of Spanish lyrics, accompanied by Jose Arias and his Troubadors.

UNION PACIFIC BAND

Next will come dances by Antoinette to the accompaniment of the Jose Arias troupe, after which they will play for the final round of street dancing. The final numbers on the program will be dances by the Ruiz dancers, Nellie Fernandez, Buddy and Rose Marie Mercer, Miss Lonzo, Amador Fernandez and Jesus Sebastian and his partners.

With the exception of the final street dance, the music for all of this form of entertainment for both nights will be furnished by the Union Pacific Band, which is said to be one of the finest organizations of its kind in the West, having won the Union Pacific System championships for the past three years. Merle Sullins is the director and members of the band will be dressed in forty-niner costumes.

At the regular meeting of the Breakfast Club yesterday morning members joined in a program celebrating the 149th anniversary of this city's birthday. Among the speakers were Gov. Christensen of Minnesota, Orra E. Monnette and Alejandro Torres, Spanish consul.

GRAND JURORS END VACATION

County Inquisitorial Body Meets Again Today

Report on San Gabriel Dam Dirt Costs Delayed

Paving-Contract Charges to be Looked Into

Concluding its six weeks' vacation, the county grand jury today will resume its sessions to consider at least six important pending cases.

It is understood, however, that no definite action will be taken on any of the cases today, but that the meeting will be devoted entirely to organization of the inquisitorial body for the remaining months of the year. After a brief session the grand jury is expected to adjourn until Tuesday, next.

In the first place, it was disclosed yesterday by Percy V. Hammon, Deputy District Attorney in charge of grand-jury matters, that the committee of specially appointed engineers assigned to investigate the San Gabriel Dam will not be able to complete their report for two or three weeks because of incomplete field work.

It is charged that Los Angeles county overpaid contractors $750,000 for excavations on the abandoned San Gabriel Dam site, and the grand jury consequently ordered a survey by experts to determine the truth or falsity of the charges.

The grand jury also is scheduled to investigate charges of a conspiracy to alter specifications for pavement of Los Angeles city streets and accusations against numerous Los Angeles brokerage firms charging that they have been conducting bucket shops.

FOUR-STORY FALL HURTS YOUNG WIFE

Woman Believed to be in Dying Condition After Plunge from Window

Mrs. Garnet Belt, 22 years of age, 1401 South Hill street, is in a dying condition at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, according to surgeons, as the result of a fall from the window of a fourth-story flat last night.

W. S. Haynes, 1276 Exposition Boulevard, and H. Johnston, 1150 East Sixtieth street, passing the Hill-street address heard a woman screaming and saw her hanging from a window ledge on the fourth floor. They ran up the stairs and found the woman's husband, Fred Belt, trying to break in a locked door. Before they could get the lock broken the woman had loosened her hold and had crashed to the pavement. She sustained a basal skull fracture besides internal injuries.

Eighty Boys in Hi-Y Camp on Way to Homes

REDLANDS, Sept. 3. — Eighty boys from more than thirty cities in Southern California broke camp this morning at the Orange county Y.M.C.A. camp in Santa Ana Canyon and left for their homes after ten days spent at the Southern California Hi-Y training camp there. It was in charge of A. R. Schultz, Jr., of the boys' work department of the Redlands Y.M.C.A.

The outstanding feature of the camp was the visit of two Hawaiian Hi-Y boys, Edmond Kaa and Howard Keakal. These boys were selected for the camp by the All-Hawaiian Y.M.C.A. and a show was given to get funds to send them to the camp. They were leaders in all the work at the camp.

Prof. E. B. Van Osdel of the University of Redlands took charge of the religious training work at the camp this year, and while there was plenty of recreation the boys spent most of each day in study.

Rev. Fye Burial will be Today

ONTARIO, Sept. 3.—Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. at Westminster Presbyterian Church for Rev. Benjamin A. Fye, pastor of the church, whose death occurred at Loma Linda Sanatorium Sunday.

Rev. Fye had suffered an illness for several months, but only recently went to the sanatorium for attention. He had been pastor of the local church for five years.

Rev. Fye and has family came here from Broken Bow, Neb. He was prominently identified with church work in the community, and was a leader in the Ontario-Upland Ministerial Union. During his illness Rev. Thomas Stewart filled the pulpit.

Rev. Fye leaves his widow, Alice E. Fye; three daughters, Mrs. Ruth Eckert, at Guadalajara, Mex.; Mrs. Martha Whitlock of Montebello, Miss Harriet Fye, at home; one son, Robert, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Cora Fye of Nebraska, Miss Emma Fye of York, Neb., and one brother, Arthur Fye of Aurora, Neb.

Rev. Fye was a member of Emmett Crawford Masonic Lodge, No. 148, of Broken Bow. He also held membership in the Odd Fellows' Lodge and the Sons of Veterans.

Ontario Masonic Lodge is to have charge of the funeral services at the grave. Interment will be in Bellevue Cemetery, with Dr. R. C. Stone, pastor of Upland Presbyterian Church, officiating minister. Stone Funeral Home of Upland is in charge of the funeral arrangements.

DRILL LEADER NAMED

HANFORD, Sept. 3.—Mrs. Zelma Jewell of Hanford has received notice of her appointment by the State president of the American Legion Auxiliary as chairman of drill teams of the State.

STUDENT BODY HEAD HERALDS ELECTION

Miss Bettye Reeder

The opening ceremony of the Immaculate Heart College in the auditorium is scheduled for 9 a.m. the 19th inst. The scholastic year opens with faculty-advised consultation the 13th inst., to be followed by the examination in Subject A. Instruction begins at 8 a.m. the 16th inst.

For the special benefit of religious or lay students working for the elementary or secondary teachers' credentials or for the master's degree a series of late afternoon and Saturday classes have been made a part of the 1930-1931 program.

Miss Bettye Reeder, president of the student body, announces that the annual election of the prefect and committee chairmen of the Students' Spiritual Council will be at 11 a.m. the 20th inst.

Warrants Out for Gangsters from Chicago

Bench warrants for the arrest of Bertie Williams and Frankie Fisher, Chicago racketeers, were issued yesterday by Municipal Judge Curtis when they failed to appear for trial on vagrancy charges. The pair were arrested here with Frankie Foster, recently returned to Chicago to face murder charges in connection with the shooting of Jake Lingle, newspaper reporter. Judge Curtis ordered $2000 bail posted by each man forfeited.

Herman Hart, fourth member of the quartet arrested, appeared for trial, but was granted a delay pending the arrest of Williams and Fisher.

Chief Dry Agent Goes to Bay City

George Sweet, chief agent in charge of investigation for dry enforcement for the Federal government in Southern California, left yesterday for San Francisco to organize the investigation division there. He will report today to William G. Walker, dry administrator for California.

Mr. Sweet will spend two weeks in San Francisco.

HEARING OF WARNER SONG SUIT CONTINUED

An order to show cause why Warner Brothers, Inc., should not be restrained from using certain songs and situations was scheduled yesterday to be heard by Superior Judge Hanby, who continued the hearing. Marguerite Drennen, the plaintiff, an artist and writer, asserts she is the originator of certain ideas and songs used in the talking picture, "Bright Lights." She has instituted suit for $25,000 against the picture producing company and Larry Ceballos, revue producer, asserting they took ideas which she copyrighted.

CLIMATE INDORSED

If you want health, Los Angeles is the place to find it, says Dr. St. Louis Estes, who will give a series of free health lectures at Trinity Auditorium from the 8th to 12th inst. Dr. Estes travels the country over advocating a "back to nature" living regime, raw food diet and "dynamic breath control." It is his belief that the climate of Southern California with its perpetual sunshine is beyond compare for its action on the body and for its effect on foods.

SEPTUAGENARANS TO PICNIC

Plans have been completed for the annual picnic of persons more than 70 years of age to be held in Sycamore Grove Park next Saturday. Galusha Cole, 104 years of age, of Pasadena, and Mrs. Eliza Judson Adams, 100, also of Pasadena, are among those expected to attend.

ILLNESS OF EVANGELIST CALLS SON

Rolf McPherson Returns from Midwest to be with Mother in Emergency

Rolf McPherson, 17-year-old son of Aimee Semple McPherson, Angelus Temple pastor, reported ill for the past three weeks from a nervous breakdown, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and visited his mother for the first time during her illness.

The meeting between the youth and his mother was reported as being an affectionate one. He was with her the greater part of the day, according to report.

With two companions he was making an automobile trip to Four Square Gospel lighthouses in the Middle West, when his mother's illness was reported. He was advised by wire to keep on with his work. Roberta Semple, Mrs. McPherson's daughter, still is in Ireland visiting with her father's parents, according to temple report.

Uniformed policemen continued to guard Mrs. McPherson at her Santa Monica retreat yesterday. Dr. Edward Huntington Williams, her physician, said that she was "some better." Nothing further developed from the asserted kidnaping plans of "Ma" Kennedy, as reported to the police by Emma Schaffer, Mrs. McPherson's secretary, when she asked for uniformed guards at the house where the evangelist is staying.

FOREST FIRE THREATENS BEACH CITY

Nearly 100 Men Fighting Blaze at Laguna Which Perils Valuable Timber

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 3. (Exclusive)—A forest fire a quarter of a mile wide, starting in Oil Well Canyon, seemed for a time today to threaten the destruction of many cottages here and a wide stretch of valuable timber on Temple Hill.

Between seventy-five and 100 men, including forest rangers from El Toro, San Diego and Saddle Mountain districts, were summoned to fight the flames, and tonight appeared to be getting control.

Oil Well Canyon is a mile southeast of this city. The wind, which at first drove the flames toward Temple Hill, shifted late in the evening toward El Toro. Chief of Police Johnson of Laguna Beach, after putting in a wide call for forest rangers, recruited every available man from the Moulton ranch.

Briegleb Back in Los Angeles After Illness

Rev. Gustav A. Briegleb, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, returned to Los Angeles yesterday, following recovery from two operations performed in Chicago. The clergyman, who had started from Los Angeles July 21, last, on his vacation, was compelled to interrupt the tour he had planned to New York City, New Orleans and other cities by illness resulting from an appendix operation in Los Angeles a year and a half ago.

This necessitated a second operation in a Chicago hospital, and still later he underwent a tonsillectomy. He announced last night he will rest two weeks before returning to his pulpit.

Mrs. Crothers's Funeral Rites to be Saturday

The funeral of Mrs. Janet Eastman Crothers, wife of Charles A. Kaichen, 1961 North Crescent Heights Boulevard, Hollywood, who died of peritonitis at the Osteopathic Hospital on Labor Day, will be conducted at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale, Saturday at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Kaichen, prior to her marriage two years ago to a prominent Detroit glass manufacturer, was well known in motion-picture circles as a scenarist. At various times she was connected with Universal, Columbia and other studios.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of the LeRoy Bagley Mortuary, 5440 Hollywood Boulevard.

WHAT DOES CONSUL DO? PANAMAN REVEALS ALL

"I have known Los Angeles since 1901, when I came from Ohio to accept a position in a school of Southern California, and I am happy to be here again, to congratulate this city upon its remarkable growth," said Herbert O. Williams, United States Consul to Panama City, in an address given yesterday at the City Club.

"I rejoice with the people of Los Angeles in their success, in regard to increase of population and industries, and I suggest that manufacturers feel more free to address American consuls abroad and request their assistance in the furtherance of trade between Southern California and foreign countries," said Mr. Williams.

Discussing the subject "What an American Consul Does," Mr. Williams explained that the American Consul is ex-officio a notary public and that his acts are recognized in all States of the Union.

"We are often called upon to take oaths and acknowledgements, in connection with legal processes but, contrary to a widespread opinion, an American consul is not competent to perform marriages," said Mr. Williams. "American consular agents maintain a record of births and deaths of American citizens in respective districts and, if the law of the land permits, the Consul takes charge of the estate of an American citizen, dying intestate."
